BYRD TO BE IDOL TODAY

New York Set to Greet Hero

Boisterous Reception Will be Accorded Explorer and His Party

Wife Meets Conqueror of Two Poles Outside Port; Arrival 7 a.m. (P.S.T.)

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd, explorer of the air and of the earth, was steaming in to port tonight after his latest exploit—a flight that made him victor of the South Pole just as he was already conqueror of the North Pole.

Just twenty years ago today former President Roosevelt was given one of the city's most tumultuous welcomes on his return from sixteen months in darkest Africa.

A similarly boisterous reception is planned for the man who has just completed sixteen months in the icy wastes of Antarctica.

Mrs. Byrd, who has not seen her famous husband for almost two years, stole a march on the other thousands preparing to greet him and steamed down the bay in a tug to join him outside the harbor.

She was accompanied by all the members of the expedition who returned ahead of its commander. It was learned Mrs. Byrd expected to board the admiral's flagship and spend the night there, returning with him tomorrow.

SHIP SIGHTED

Just as her departure became known the Antarctic ships were sighted off Highlands, N. J., about two hours' steaming distance from quarantine. It is understood, however, the craft from the frozen south will lie outside the bay during the night and hold to their scheduled time of arrival.

The admiral and his men are due to arrive at quarantine at 10 o'clock eastern standard time (7 o'clock Pacific time,) tomorrow morning. There they will be met by relatives, friends and officials in three tugs and will be taken aboard for a triumphal marine parade up the bay.

Governor's Island will fire a salute of thirteen guns to the admiral before the tugs tie up at the Battery and New Yorkers get their first chance to shout a mass greeting to the explorer they have twice welcomed before, once after he flew across the Atlantic and again following his flight across the North Pole.

TROOPS TO MARCH

Three thousand troops will precede the admiral up Broadway through one of the paper snowstorms with which the financial district

FOX BRITISH DEAL RUMOR HELD FALSE

Lord Lee Denies Reports of Americans Buying English Film Concern

LONDON, June 18. (AP)—Lord Lee of Fareham gave flat denial tonight to the report that the Gaumont British Picture Corporation had passed into the hands of the Fox Film Corporation of America.

"The statement is sufficiently disproved by the fact that the Metropolis and Bradford Trust Company, Ltd., of which I am the permanent chairman, owns in its own right over 3,000,000 of the 5,000,000 ordinary shares of the Gaumont British Picture Corporation, and thus holds control by the substantial voting majority. Moreover, the constitution of the Metropolis and Bradford Trust and my appointment as its chairman were specifically designed to insure and preserve British control. There is no intention of surrendering this control to any foreign interests."

Year Output of Fox Films Sold

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—An announcement today said the largest single contract ever made for the sale and distribution of motion pictures has just been signed through which the entire output of Fox Film Corporation for the coming year will be used by the complete Publix chain of 1301 theaters.

"The transaction, involving millions of dollars in rentals and coming at the outset of the selling season, virtually guarantees record gross revenues for the Fox Film Corporation," the announcement said.

Boat Tragedy Will be Sifted

TOLEDO (O.) June 18. (AP)—Official steps to ascertain the cause of the accident which is believed to have tossed eight Toledoans from a speed boat in which they left here Saturday for Pelee Island, to their death in Lake Erie, will be started tomorrow, Coroner Frank G. Kreft announced today.

The Coroner, following the discovery yesterday of the body of John Liptak, 25 years of age, mechanic on the boat, is convinced that all the other occupants of the speed boat are dead. Search for the seven missing bodies was continued throughout today without success.

Nurse Identifies Amnesia Victim

SAN MATEO, June 18. (AP)—Miss Nora Kunau, Denver nurse, today identified an amnesia victim taken to a hospital here May 30 as Rex King Morgan, 30 years of age, her long-missing fiance and a former narcotic agent in Wyoming. Miss Kunau's picture was found on Morgan.

Authorities were informed Morgan lost his memory as a result of being slugged in a Denver hold-up.

TAX CUT MAY BE DROPPED

Pension Measure and Farm Board Expenses Threaten Treasury With 1931 Deficit

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—With government expenditures climbing beyond budget estimates for the fiscal year 1931, continuation of the 1 per cent reduction in taxes on incomes made for the calendar year 1929 seemed improbable today, although the Treasury will complete the 1930 fiscal year with a surplus.

The 1 per cent reduction on all normal and corporation incomes was granted by Congress at the recommendation of Secretary Mellon. He said the government in the 1930 fiscal year ending June 30 would have enough surplus to permit the cut.

The decrease falls in two fiscal years, $80,000,000 in each, and reduced estimated receipts by that amount.

Growing income-tax receipts for the present fiscal year were expected to overcome the loss sustained through lowered rates but this situation was not expected to continue in the next fiscal year.

President Hoover in his budget estimate last December included figures in which the Treasury set the surplus in revenue for the 1929 fiscal year at $122,788,966.

Since that time the Spanish War pension bill passed over the President's veto has added about $75,000,000 to government expenditures for the coming twelve months and the Farm Board expenses are expected to be $100,000,000 more than the Treasury estimated.

In his budget message President Hoover estimated the government's income for 1931 at $4,225,000,000 and while Congressional appropriations have not been totaled it was said they already exceeded that amount.

From present indications the government is faced with a deficit on July 1, 1931, but this same situation has occurred in previous years and the Treasury has finished those years with a surplus.

President Hoover has advised Congress unless all unnecessary expenditures are curbed in 1931 the government will have a deficit at its conclusion.

On Monday the government had collected $3,527,626,535 for the fiscal year since last July 1 but had expended $3,730,182,600, leaving a deficit of $202,556,065 on that day. The receipts were $117,000,000 more than for the same period last year and the expenditures $186,000,000 greater.

RECORD CREDITED TO NAVAL AVIATOR

GEN. SANDINO RETURNS TO NICARAGUA

Aide in Mexico Reports Resumption of Warfare With American Marines

MEXICO CITY, June 18. (AP)—Gen. Augustino Sandino's representative here issued a statement today saying the insurgent leader has returned to Nicaragua and has defeated the United States Marines in two encounters.

The representative, Pedro Jose Zepeda, declares Sandino's men captured a marine sergeant and an aviator and, in addition, took 10,000 rounds of ammunition and many guns.

Reports have been current all of this year that Gen. Sandino was on his way back to Nicaragua.

The insurgent chieftain gave the marines much trouble in Nicaragua in 1928 and the early part of 1929, but eventually luck went against him and he sought an asylum in Mexico.

Last July he took up residence in Merida, Yucatan, in the southern part of Mexico and there lived more or less quietly until rumors started in January that he intended to return to Nicaragua. In February he left Mexico with his staff and until now his whereabouts had been a matter for speculation.

After Sandino had left Nicaragua the troubles of the marines and the Nicaraguan National Guard were not ended. They continued to clash with small groups of bandits and have had numerous engagements in the last few months.

Liner Roosevelt Goes on Reef in New York Port

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—The liner President Roosevelt of the United States Lines went aground in the mud and silt of Robbin's Reef in New York Harbor this morning, but tugs pulled her loose in less than two hours and she continued to her pier.

In the haze of an overcast morning, the vessel thrust her nose into the reef, which lies about three miles south of the lower tip of Manhattan, at 7:08 a.m. (eastern standard time.) She was floated at 8:55 a.m.

On board the liner, inbound from Southampton and Cherbourg, were 252 Gold Star Mothers, mostly from the Pacific Coast, returning from a pilgrimage to the battlefields of France. Capt. Theodore Van Beek was in command.

PITTSBURGH, June 18. (AP)—John B. Stauff, 32 years of age, a bank messenger who was held up and robbed Monday, died last night from the shock. He collapsed shortly after the robbery and was unconscious until a few hours before his death.

PRICE TIDE EBBS LOW

Figures Smallest in Many Years

Reserve Board Lays Decline to Slowing Down of Industry

Reduction of Living Costs Forecast by Drop in Food Quotations

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—The decline in wholesale commodity prices which began last August was found today by the Federal Reserve Board to have carried the general average of prices to the lowest level in thirteen years.

In its monthly review of business and financial conditions the board described the downward movement of prices as an important factor in the recent course of business. It said the downward movement has been in progress in all commercial countries in the world.

The price level in April was placed at about 7 per cent that of last July.

TRADE SLOWS DOWN

"Gradual price recessions which were reported for all countries beginning last summer or earlier," the board said, "appeared to have accompanied a general slowing down of trade and industry to which the high level of money rates throughout the world, caused largely by the strong demand for credit from the American securities market, was a contributing factor.

"The more abrupt declines that occurred last autumn were in response to the break in security prices, which at first reflected chiefly commodities with organized exchanges but later spread to all classes of goods; and the continuation of price declines in 1930 appears to reflect the inactive condition of business and a loss of purchasing power by the ultimate consumers through the decrease of employment and the reduction in wage payments. Prices to consumers have also tended downward in recent months but the reductions have been considerably smaller than that of wholesale prices."

The board reviewed the price changes in farm products, in mineral and forest products and in manufactures since 1922 and said the recent decline in live-stock prices seemed to reflect decreased demand.

METAL USE DROPS

In discussing the drop in silver prices to the present level of below 40 cents an ounce, the board said it had been due to decreased use of metal for monetary purposes and that the present price was 30 per cent below the prewar level.

"There appears to be no evidence in the available information that price declines in recent years have at any time reflected a general shortage of banking reserves or of gold," the board said, "but there are indications the diversion of funds to this country during the period of high money rates contributed to the difficulties of economic reconstruction in Europe.

"Reduced industrial activity abroad, in turn, diminished the demands for raw materials and was a factor in the price decline. Furthermore, unfavorable conditions in our bond market in 1929 made it difficult for foreign countries to arrange for long-time financing in this country and were a further factor tending to delay industrial recovery abroad and to depress the world level of commodity prices."

CONSUMERS CHEERED BY FOOD PRICE DROPS

CHICAGO, June 18. (Exclusive) Consumers of foodstuffs, noting further declines in the stock market to new levels for the season, were cheered at the prospect of cheaper edibles today, as grains, meat animals, butter and raw sugar sank to the lowest price ranges in many years.

July wheat quotations were the lowest since the war at 94 1-4 cents, while corn was down to 73 3-8, oats to 35 5-8 and rye, the lowest in over thirty years, at 48½ cents during a market day of little buying influence and heavy selling by so-called "short" interests.

Hogs, selling for the most part under $10 per hundredweight, reached the lowest mark since 1924, while sheep and cattle showed corresponding declines. Butter prices, because of abnormally large storage stocks and heavy country production from dairy cows, continued their downward pace of recent weeks. Best butter, scoring 92 by the government, sold here at 32 cents a pound, while eggs were unchanged at 23 1-4 cents a dozen for extra fine firsts. Raw sugar sold in New York at the lowest price for the season.

Cotton prices in Chicago broke along with grain quotations, although New York cotton figures were slightly higher.

Will Rogers Remarks:

BOSTON, June 18.—[To the Editor of The Times:] This sweeping victory of Dwight Morrow is going to give many a wet candidate false encouragement. He was running on something besides a platform. He could have run as a Bolshevik and won. The only thing that will keep other States from following New Jersey's example will be there just ain't any more Morrows.

I said yesterday Daniel Webster wrote the dictionary. Well, these Harvardites have been calling me up before daylight telling me it was Noah Webster, and not Daniel. How was I to know, I never read the book. I never could get interested in the thing. Well, anyhow the mistake will only be noticed in Boston.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

ROYAL PAIR'S LOVE LOST

Helen Will Not Swallow Pride

Carol and Divorced Wife to be Crowned as Monarchs, But Privately All's Off

Settlement Made on King's Red-Headed Girl Friend; Marie Happy Now

BY WILLIAM SHIRER
[Copyright, 1930, Chicago Tribune]

VIENNA, June 18. (Exclusive)—Having crossed the frontier of Rumania I am safely out of reach of the censor and can reveal the true state of the personal affairs of the royal family.

It was the only subject on which correspondents actually present in Bucharest were unable to cable. On all other matters Premier Maniu kept his promise, allowing foreign correspondents immunity from censorship.

The reports sent out from Budapest, Vienna and Paris that Queen Helen has flatly refused to take King Carol back, that the King had kidnaped his son Michael from his mother's palace, and that Zizi Lambrino, once the morganatic wife of Carol, and Mme. Magda Lupescu were returning to Bucharest, were all false.

HELEN TO BE QUEEN

The general situation as outlined to this correspondent by one of the King's closest friends is this:

Carol and Helen have reached an understanding which will lead to a gradual reconciliation, climaxing in their coronation as King and Queen as soon as the world has had time to forget Carol's escapades.

By the royal decree naming Helen "Her Majesty the Queen," Carol annulled her divorce so far as the dynasty is concerned. He is now willing to obtain both a civil and religious annulment through the regular channels, and this will take time.

That the royal couple will never become completely personally reconciled is admitted by all who know them. The quiet, dignified Helen will not swallow her pride in a minute, nor can she forget the humiliation of her princely husband running away to Paris with a red-headed girl, the daughter of a garage proprietor.

NO REAL LOVE

There is no love between them, nor can there be any. But in what royal family is there real love, ask the Rumanians?

Regarding Mme. Lupescu, whose charms outdazzled those of the throne for Carol until a week ago, I have it on the word of one of the closest friends of the King that a liberal settlement has been made on her and she has signed a document not to return to Rumania or seek to see the King anywhere else for five years.

That Carol still retains a strong affection for her is admitted in

Storms Battled on Round Trip

Brock and Schlee Return to Jacksonville After Rough Flight from San Diego

Ship, Forced Down for Fuel in Louisiana, Damaged in Florida Landing

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.) June 18. (AP)—Battling storms and fuel shortages on their eastward trip, William S. Brock and Edward F. Schlee today completed the fastest recorded round-trip ocean-to-ocean flight across the United States.

They reached San Diego in the record time of 13h. 55m. and 30s. Despite adversity which struck them soon after they started the return voyage and followed them to the end, the flyers managed to make it back in sixteen hours and fifty minutes. Their elapsed time for the round trip was 31h. and 58m.

After fighting severe electrical storms and head winds over the Rockies last night and being forced to land for fuel at Tallulah, La., this morning, they ran out of gasoline at the municipal airport here, and crashed into a fence, escaping injury, but damaging the plane. They had crossed the finish line at Jacksonville Beach, twelve miles away, a few minutes before.

JUMPS CONTEMPLATED

Leaving San Diego at 5:11 p.m. (P.S.T.) the airmen encountered their first difficulties over the mountains. Several times, they said, they thought they would be forced to jump in their parachutes.

Riding from one storm to another, they barely managed to get through. The landing at Tallulah was made at 9 a.m. When they reached here they flew into dense clouds. Brock estimated he spent nearly forty minutes seeking his bearings.

The landing at Tallulah prevented the west-to-east flight from being nonstop and threw a question on any claim for a record. Flight officials said the time for the flight will be compared with the marks set by Capt. Frank Hawks on an ocean-to-ocean basis, despite the fact that Hawks's route was about 400 miles longer than that taken by Brock and Schlee.

HAWKS'S TIME

Hawks made the westward trip in nineteen hours and ten minutes, flying from New York to Los Angeles. His eastward time was 17h. and 43m. His elapsed time was 43h. and 99m.

The pair easily beat the previous records held for transcontinental flights between Jacksonville and San Diego and San Diego and Jacksonville. The first westward flight from Jacksonville was made by Lieut. James H. Doolittle in 1922. Brock and Schlee cut more than seven hours from this record.

Maj. T. McCauley of San Diego made the initial west-to-east flight in 1919.

Brock and Schlee left here on their westward flight at 5:04 a.m. (E.S.T.) Tuesday, arriving at San Diego at 3:56 p.m. (P.S.T.) They had planned to make the round-trip in twenty-four to thirty hours.

Somewhere in the vicinity of Tucson, Ariz., last night the flyers encountered a terrific storm, they said.

Brock was at the controls and Schlee at the radio. Schlee passed up a note to the pilot.

"I think we are going to have to bail out," it read.

Brock said he already had fastened a flashlight to his parachute straps, having had the same fear of their predicament. They were being bounced about the craft terribly, he said, and as they tried to run from one storm, they ran into another.

"I have never been through such a night," said Schlee, who appeared tired and somewhat dazed. "It was one of the most severe storms we ever ran into."

Chicago Plane Up One Week

CHICAGO, June 18. (AP)—At 6:40 p.m. today the City of Chicago passed the one-week mark in its attempt to set a new world's endurance record. It had been up 168 hours, having taken off last Wednesday afternoon.

Kenneth and John Hunter are piloting the plane, while their brothers Walter and Albert operate the refueling plane.

The present record is 420 hours.

ROYALTY SEES TRAGEDY

Bookmaker Killed by Lightning Near King and Queen as Storm Sets Ascot Race Throng in Panic

ASCOT (Eng.) June 18. (AP)—Panic swept through the throngs of fashionable persons at the royal Ascot race meeting today when a terrific electrical storm broke and lighting killed Walter Holbein, well-known North of England bookmaker, in Tattersall's betting ring, only a few yards away from the King and Queen and their royal guests.

Society women caught in a rush for shelter were thrown to the muddy ground and trampled.

Hats were knocked off, parasols were lost and some of the women arrived at the stands without their slippers which had been left behind, stuck in the mud or torn from their feet.

Extraordinary scenes were enacted when the storm, warning of which had been given by a great lowering cloud at the end of the Royal Hunt Cup event, broke suddenly with great intensity.

King George and Queen Mary, accompanied by the Prince of Wales and escorted by many of their guests at Windsor Castle, were in the royal box.

They were chatting animatedly when the air was rent by a blinding lightning flash which killed the bookmaker.

The King and Queen sought shelter in the royal lounge during the storm, remaining there until it had subsided. They left for Windsor Castle as soon as they learned there would be no more racing today.

YOUNG ACCUSED OF TAX MUDDLE

Fitts Makes Campaign Talk at San Jose

Teacher Pension Blocking Laid to Governor

SAN JOSE, June 18. (Exclusive) A charge of muddling on the taxation question, failure to act on other vital problems and of blocking amendment of the teachers' retirement salary law was made against the administration of Gov. Young by Buron Fitts, Los Angeles District Attorney and former Lieutenant-Governor, in an address here tonight.

Fitts spoke at the Hotel Sainte Claire at a dinner given by Santa Clara county supporters of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor.

"There has been an orgy of spending at Sacramento in the last four years and the cost of government is increasing out of all proportion to our growth in population or assessed valuations," he declared. "During the present biennium the State is spending a total of $244,000,000 and the total for the two bienniums during which Gov. Young has been at the helm comes to more than $460,000,000, an increase over the total expenditures by the State during the four years of Gov. Young's predecessor of more than $138,000,000.

"This is a staggering increase and it is no wonder that, with the single exception of Nevada, where a large State and its agencies must be supported by a comparatively small population, California leads the nation in the amount of tax collections per capita. Here in California we are paying $78.16 per capita, according to a recent survey, and the tax burden has reached the point where the average family of five is today contributing $72 a month toward government in taxes."

Posse Finds Negro's Body

BRYAN (Tex.) June 18. (AP)—The body of Bill Roan, Negro who had been sought by a posse after an attempted attack on Mrs. Henry Bowman, was found today. The Negro had been killed by buckshot.

The posse had been seeking Roan since Monday afternoon. Mrs. Bowman lives on a farm near Benchley.

The body was found about five miles from here.

Mrs. Bowman told officers the Negro, who worked on the farm, attempted to attack her and she beat him off. When his attempt was repulsed the Negro became frightened and fled.

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Giulio Gatti-Casazza, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera Company, was married today to Miss Rosina Galli, premiere danseuse at the Metropolitan.

The ceremony was performed at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Jersey City, N. J., by Mgr. John A. Duffy, an announcement here said. They sailed this afternoon for Cannes on the S.S. Vulcania.

Sr. Gatti-Casazza ahas been general director of the Metropolitan Opera Company since 1908. He is widely known in operatic circles for his support and introduction of new composers and singers, and the business-like methods which he adopted in the management of opera.

His first wife was Mme. Frances Alda, a soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, whom he married in 1910. In 1928 Mme. Alda announced she had filed suit for divorce in Notals, Mex. Shortly afterward the marriage was dissolved.

Miss Galli, who has headed the Metropolitan Opera's dancing chorus for a number of years, is known for the brilliance of her Spanish and Italian dancing. Her dance in Carmen was one of her most famous numbers.

Nebraska Professor Has Way to Remove Chemical Simply and Cheaply

OMAHA, June 18. (AP)—The World-Herald today said a revolutionary process, much cheaper and more simple than any now in use, for the removal of sulphur from crude oil has been discovered by Prof. C. J. Frankforter, chemistry instructor at the University of Nebraska.

By a cheap, simple method, the paper states, Prof. Frankforter's process removes from crude oil the high percentage of sulphur which is so destructive to refining equipment.

As explained by the discoverer the process rids the crude oil of the sulphur after hydrogen gas has been injected into the crude oil, in which electric wires are immersed.

A successful test of the plan has been completed at an Omaha refinery.

PAYMENT TO WIDOW URGED IN DRY SLAYING

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—Recommending the payment of $5000 to the widow of Henry Wirkkula, who was shot and killed by a customs patrol inspector in Minnesota, the House Claims Committee today reported to the House the man lost his life "through the negligence of a government agent." Wirkkula was shot by Emmett J. White, who said he thought the man was a bootlegger. White was tried in a Federal Court at Duluth and acquitted on a charge of manslaughter.

JOHNSON FORECASTS VOTE ON HARBOR BILL

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—Hope for a vote tomorrow or Friday on the only remaining controversial section of the House rivers and harbors bill was expressed tonight by Senator Johnson, Republican, California, who is in charge of the measure.

BYRD WILL BE LIONIZED TODAY

trict hails its heroes. At City Hall, the formal city welcome will take place.

And then will begin for Admiral Byrd a round of receptions, dinners, and welcoming ceremonies that will last, almost without pause, until July 11, next, when he will be received by the people of Chicago.

A luncheon by the Advertising Club will follow the welcome at the City Hall. The press will be met by the admiral in his hotel suite in midafternoon. There will be a dinner by the Merchants' Association in the evening. A special train will leave with the Antarctic party for Washington at midnight.

EVERYONE ON SHIPS GLAD TO GET HOME

BY RUSSELL OWEN

(Copyright, 1930, by The Los Angeles Times, New York Times Company and St. Louis Post Dispatch. All rights for publication reserved throughout the world.)

ABOARD CITY OF NEW YORK, June 18. (Exclusive) — Admiral Byrd's ships, the City of New York and the Eleanor Bolling, will drop anchor some time tonight off Quarantine, the end of their 14,000-mile trip from the Antarctic to New York. And everyone aboard from the admiral to the mess boy is glad to get home. Not that we have not had a good time, but twenty-one months is a long time to be away.

Yesterday we saw the first American lightship and last night the lights of Atlantic City showed on the horizon. This morning the tow line was dropped and after drifting for a time while the heavy line was hauled in over the Bolling's stern the two ships started on a course for Scotland Lightship, which was hidden somewhere in the fog ahead.

About 1 o'clock, however, the fog lifted and the ships rolled on over long swells. Alongside the ships is a big tug sent out by the broadcasting company, so that quite a flotilla is headed landward.

Tonight we will see the lights of Manhattan and tomorrow step ashore again at the end of an adventure which everyone will remember with pleasure as long as he lives.

BYRD'S NEXT NAVY SERVICE NOW UNDECIDED

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—Although Rear-Admiral Richard Byrd has been a retired naval officer since March 15, 1916, there have been only two months when he was not on active naval duty.

When he has completed his work on the Antarctic expedition he will be subject to Navy Department orders unless he is returned to the inactive list.

Byrd graduated from the Naval Academy in 1912, and four years later was retired from active duty because of an injured ankle. Within two months, war made it necessary he be recalled to duty. And he became instructor-inspector of Rhode Island's militia.

When he made his Arctic polar flight he was a retired lieutenant-commander, recalled to active duty but on leave. He still holds that status, his present leave expiring when his work on the Antarctic expedition has been completed.

Rear-Admiral William Moffett, chief of aeronautics bureau to which Byrd is attached, said orders for Byrd's future assignment will not be issued until he has completed his Antarctic work.

"His orders will not be issued until we consult him and see what he wishes to do," Admiral Moffett said.

EX-CHINESE CONSUL APPEALS DRUG CASE

SHANGHAI, June 18. (AP)—Ying Kao, former Chinese vice-consul in San Francisco, and his wife, who were returned to China and convicted of attempting to smuggle a huge shipment of opium into the United States last summer, took appeals to the Chinese Supreme Court at Nanking today.

Ying Kao's sentence was fixed by the Soochow Court of Appeals at six years' imprisonment and a fine of $8000 Mexican. Mrs. Ying Kao's punishment was set at four years' imprisonment and a $4000 fine. The Supreme Court, whose decision will be final, will pass upon the judgment of the appellate tribunal.

SACKETT GIVES ADDRESS 'AS IS'

Unexpurgated Version of Power Speech Delivered

Samuel Insull Said to Have Withdrawn Objections

Storm Centers Around Line About High Sale Prices

BERLIN, June 18. (AP)—Frederick M. Sackett, American Ambassador, this afternoon delivered before the world power conference an unexpurgated version of his speech on power costs which had been reported eliminated at the behest of Samuel Insull, Chicago corporation magnate.

Ambassador Sackett caused his address to be published in the morning newspapers of Berlin. When Mr. Insull objected last night Mr. Sackett announced the address would be given in full without alteration and this afternoon he carried out his intention.

COSTS DISCUSSED

The address called attention to asserted discrepancies between production costs and the prices at which power is sold. He made a plea to the world power conferees for adjustment of these differences. He also dwelt upon agitation in the United States for government-owned utilities enterprises.

When the text reached Mr. Insull he approached the Ambassador and suggested considerable changes. Mr. Sackett, without retracting his views, agreed his words might be interpreted as presumptuous for a nondelegate speaker, no matter how well he might be informed on his topic.

OBJECTIONS WITHDRAWN

The Embassy passed word to the press to hold up the address, but later advanced its time of publication. Mr. Sackett informed Mr. Insull of his intention to proceed as originally planned and Mr. Insull, it was understood later, visited the Ambassador at his residence and withdrew his objections. This apparently closed the incident.

The delegates apparently appreciated Mr. Sackett's viewpoint, as they applauded when the Ambassador spoke the line around which the storm had been reported to have centered, "I know of no other manufacturing industry where the sale price of the product to the great mass of consumers is fifteen times the actual cost of production."

NORRIS ATTACKS INSULL IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—Senator Norris of Nebraska attacked Samuel Insull in the Senate today after reading newspaper reports that the Illinois public utilities magnate had sought to have Ambassador Sackett withdraw his speech prepared for delivery at the world conference on power in Berlin.

Sackett, formerly Senator from Kentucky, went on record against excessive charges by the power industry as compared with production costs.

Author of the Senate resolution for government operation of Muscle Shoals, Norris is an avowed foe of power interests.

"Thus we learn that Samuel Insull, the great public utility magnate who at one time thought he had bought a seat in the United States Senate, the same Insull who bought up all of the papers in Maine to control the elections there, the same Insull now is in Berlin approaching the American Ambassador and telling him what he cannot say."

SACKETT'S STATEMENT CHALLENGED BY OFFICIALS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18. (Exclusive)—Matthew S. Sloan, president of the National Electric Light Association, and J. F. Owens, a vice-president, took issue here today with the statement attributed to Frederick M. Sackett, United Stafes Ambassador to Germany, at the World Power Conference in Berlin that the price of electricity is fifteen times the cost of production.

Sloan, in challenging the accuracy of Sackett's statement, said:

"On the average the country over the sales price to domestic consumers is not more than four times the cost of energy at the power house.

"Business men know that cost of goods at the factory is a small part of the price paid by customers. Cost of transporting, distributing, selling, marketing and servicing taken together are the largest element of sales price in most cases. Electric service is no exception. The cost of electric power at the power house is the smallest item."

Owens said:

"The average cost at the power house is eight-tenths of a cent and the average selling 2½ cents per kilowatt hour.

"So far as I know electricity is the onl, commodity which is selling today for less than the prewar price."

Two Mexicans Admit Slaying American Driver

EL PASO, June 18. (AP)—Two of three Mexicans said to have confessed to the murder, May 28, of J. W. McIntyre, American stage driver between Columbus, N. M., and Casas Grandes, Chih., have been brought to Asuncion, Chih., by Mexican rurales under command of Maj. A. Orosco, according to information received today by American Consul Blocker, Juarez. McIntyre's body was found the 2nd inst.

Summary justice was administered to Federico Terrazas, 26 years of age, when he attempted to escape from a car in which he was being transported. Before he could gain safety of brush his body was riddled by bullets. Samuel Terrazas, 30, and Uribio Tarango, 28, made no attempt to escape.

PROF. W. H. BRISTOL, INVENTOR, SUCCUMBS

NEW HAVEN (Ca.) June 18. (AP)—Prof. William Henry Bristol, inventor of the Bristol phone and numerous recording instruments, and president of the Bristol Company of Waterbury, died today. He was 70 years of age.

CHICAGO'S FAME LURES CHINESE

Six Arrested in New York on Way to Windy City to Get Tips on Murder Art

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Six Chinese, bursting with ambition and thirsting for education in the art of murder, sat disconsolately today in cells on Ellis Island, with their dream shattered of matriculating in what they believed to be the finishing school of crime, Chicago.

The six Chinese told Customs Inspector McAlarney, who captured them aboard the Panama Mail liner Colombia, that they came from China to get experience in Chicago gang warfare so they could go back and try their knowledge on the home folk.

announcer, who acted as "master of ceremonies." He spoke from the auditorium, first outlining the nature of the broadcast and emphasizing its revolutionary and unique features. Then Carlin "called the roll."

"Hello, London. Hello, hello," said Carlin. A pause and then through the loud speakers in the auditorium come the unmistakable accents of England.

"Hello, San Francisco. London speaking. Hello, hello, San Francisco."

BERLIN CALLED

Then Carlin spoke again:

"Hello, Berlin," he said. Back came the answer from the loud speakers, in a voice with a distinct German accent. Then West Orange was called, and answered far more promptly than a telephone subscriber could call a number in the next building.

Then Sloan was introduced and stepped to the microphone.

"It is indeed a pleasure," he said, "to send greetings to the world power conference. We are happy that you have accepted the invitation to hold the third world power conference in the United States in 1936, and we wish for that conference the same measure of success and usefulness which we are certain marks your conference this year."

Sloan's words were translated into German by Edwin Gruhl, a vice-president of the N.E.L.A.

Hardly had the applause subsided when the voice of Germany was heard. First an announcer described the scene at the banquet in the Sports Palace in Berlin. Then came the voice of Dr. Koettgen extending greetings to America, England and the world.

"We engineers know no difference of race and no boundaries of countries," he said. "The progress made in one country belongs to the whole world. That is the sense in which we greet you, our colleagues on the other side of the globe. Here it is evening; on your side it is noon. The waves which travel around the globe to bring you this message may be taken as a symbol of the universal community of us all for the good of mankind."

EDISON'S VOICE THRILLS BERLIN AUDIENCE

BERLIN, June 18. (AP)—An audience of 3000 in the Berlin "Sports Palace" tonight was thrilled at the sound of Thomas A. Edison's voice from over the seas.

Mr. Edison spoke to the delegates of the world power conference, in session here, from Orange, N. J.

Wireless transmission with the United States was excellent both for Mr. Edison's greetings and for a hook-up with the National Electric Light Association meeting in San Francisco.

court circles. But the government has laid down the law that he cannot have the throne and her, too, and this time he has decided in favor of the throne.

"If, after all we have done for him, Carol brought Mme. Lupescu back he would be chased ignominiously from the country, never to return under pain of imprisonment," a Cabinet member said.

Dowager Queen Marie is happy now. She opposed Carol's return, but now that he is back she sees a chance to wield through him the power which was previously denied her through her failure to be appointed a member of the regency.

Prince Nicholas is happy, too, Freed from the responsibilities of the regency he can devote his time to his great love—breaking speed records.

PRINCESS ILEANA RETURNS FROM EGYPT

CONSTANZA (Rumania) June 18. (AP)—Princess Ileana, sister of King Carol, arrived home today from Egypt, accompanied by Miss Ida Marr.

King Carol sent his secretary to receive her. She was bronzed by the African sun, full of spirit and told many stories of her experiences in the land of the Pharaohs.

BILL REVISES CIVIL LIST OF ROYALTY

BUCHAREST (Rumania) June 18. (AP)—A bill introduced in Parliament today revises the civil list of Rumanian royalty so that King Carol will obtain yearly 40,000,000 lei, or about $236,000; Queen Marie, 20,000,000 lei or $118,000; Queen Helen 7,000,000 lei or about $41,000; and Crown Prince Michael 7,000,000 lei.

Heretofore Michael and the Regency Council have shared 20,000,000 lei.

LIGHT INDUSTRY ILLS ILLUMINED

Hurley Tells Association it Must Strip for Action

Electrical Group Warned of Socialistic Experiments

Official Declares Critics Should be Answered

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18. (AP)—The fifty-third convention of the National Electric Light Association was told today by Edward N. Hurley it must "strip for action" to meet foreign competition, and by W. A. Jones the industry "has not excelled in commercial development and has been outstripped by many other newer and less essential industries."

Speaking on "Government and Business," Hurley, former chairman of the United States Shipping Board, cautioned against "flattering ourselves that we are in a position to indulge in all kinds of experiments."

WARNED OF EXPERIMENTS

He added the position of American industry "would be much worse than it is were it not for the fact that some of our foreign competitors for international trade have previously handicapped themselves by socialistic experiments, which we are now urged to adopt."

Hurley compared business under government and private administration by citing the shipbuilding industry, which, he said, was "25 per cent less efficient after the government became responsible for the wages." The output of tonnage, he said, decreased "from the day the managers and men knew that the pay roll was to be guaranteed."

Hurley said private management in the electrical industry is so firmly established a referendum would show an "overwhelming majority" for the present system.

CRITICISM UNFOUNDED

W. A. Jones, vice-president of the association, speaking upon "The Future of the Electrical Industry," reviewed the progress of recent years, saying it had been commendable "but that viewed as a whole, the industry has not excelled in commercial development."

Criticisms of the industry, he said, "are unfounded and based on misinformation and misstatements. It is the obligation of the industry to answer these criticisms completely and specifically."

A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, speaking on "The Commercial Day," drew a sharp line between the rights and duties of the electrical manufacturers and those of public utilities.

MEASURE LEGALIZES DIVORCES

Morelos Legislature in Mexico Approves Bill to Remove Decree Taints

CUERNAVACA (Mex.) June 18. (AP)—All divorces including those of several hundred Americans granted here under the widely discussed Puente divorce law will be freed from any taint of illegality under a bill approved today by the Morelos State Legislature.

The bill ratifies all laws enacted by provisional Governors of the State during the period 1917-1930, and provides for keeping them in force. Its signature by the Governor is considered certain.

The Puente law issued in 1927 by Acting Governor Puente was declared unconstitutional by the Mexican Supreme Court a fortnight ago.

Idahoan Elected as Head of Soil Science Society

CORVALLIS (Or.) June 18. (AP)—Dr. H. P. Magnuson of Moscow, Idaho, was elected president of the Western Society of Soil Science at the conclusion of the annual conference at Oregon State College today.

Dr. L. D. Batchellor of Riverside, Cal., was elected vice-president, and Dr. E. E. Thomas, Riverside, secretary. Riverside was selected as the 1931 meeting place.

Next year's conference will be held just in advance of the general meeting of the Pacific division at Pasadena.

A resolution was adopted disapproving the patenting for private gain of any agricultural discovery made by tax-supported research.

Two Surrender in Bribery Case

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) June 18. (AP)—Lieut.-Gov. Cazort and Ernest Dew of this city, charged with violating the Arkansas Corrupt Practices Act in an asserted attempt to bribe Judge Sheffield, a gubernatorial candidate, to withdraw from the Democratic primary race, surrendered to authorities here today and were released on bond of $800 each.

WIFE WINS DIVORCE FROM STORE OFFICIAL

CHICAGO, June 18. (AP)—Mrs. Constance Reed Netcher obtained a divorce today from Irving Netcher, vice-president of the Boston Store, on the ground of cruelty.

Netcher's brother, Townsend Netcher, recently was married to Constance Talmadge, motion-picture actress.

CENSUS KEEPS CAPITAL BUSY

Scene of Action Shifts from Field to Washington

More Than 5000 Soon Will be at Work Tabulating

Careful Check for Accuracy to be Carried On

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—The scene of the 1930 census has definitely shifted to Washington. Whereas supervisors "in the field" are closing up shop, each day sees added activity at the Census Bureau.

Long queues of clerks and tabulators wait at opening hour each morning to be set to work on the mountains of schedules which have come in from the supervisors. Those "taken on" yesterday totaled 183.

By the close of this month more than 5000 persons will be at work at headquarters here, as compared with but 3400 at the parallel period of the 1920 census. Already the force has grown from 1261 on January 1 to 4317 on the 15th inst.

TASK DESCRIBED

Census Director William M. Steuart described their tasks.

The first job on the more than 73,000 schedules now at headquarters is a careful check for accuracy to verify the vouchers for the supervisors' bonuses. This is quite a chore, since each supervisor gets paid a flat $1800 plus $1 for each 1000 persons enumerated, plus $1 for each 100 farm schedules, plus 10 cents each for the more involved schedules—manufacturing, drainage, distribution, construction, etc.

The voucher verification is part of the "hand count" on which the first 1930 census bulletin, to be issued in Congressional reapportionment, will be based. Two hundred persons are at work on the "hand count."

Next comes "coding," the process by which "personal information" is transformed into "abstract statistics" for tabulation purposes.

CALLS FOR ALERTNESS

"Clerks, acting under detailed instructions, must examine the data for each man, woman and child and see that it is consistent before coding," said Director Steuart. "Coding clerks must have a high degree of mental accuracy and memory. Those coding occupations, for instance, must remember the principal code numbers for some 560 occupations."

The Census Bureau now has 435 persons at work coding general population facts; 345 coding occupations and ninety-six transcribing and coding the unemployment schedules. The coding is accomplished through a system of perforated cards. A force of 330 is now coding population and 174 more are practicing perforating so that they will be ready to swing into the agricultural schedules very soon. The work of the complicated tabulating machines is still in the future.

WINNER OF SECOND PLACE IN CONTEST

ELIGIBILITY DEFENDED BY BEAUTY

Miss California in Miami Contest Denies That Her Home's in Oklahoma

SAN DIEGO, June 18. (AP)—Word of an attempt to challenge the second place won recently by Miss Alberta McKellop of this city in the Miami beauty contest on the ground that she is a resident of Oklahoma and not of California, from which State she was entered, reached here today. Miss McKellop, who at present is doing promotional work for a local theater, lives with her father, A. A. McKellop, at 2536 B street.

"I had heard nothing of any challenge to my eligibility to represent California," she said tonight. "It looks to me as if Florida, whose representative won third place, wants to disqualify me so that second place can go to them."

Explaining the Oklahoma angle of the case, Miss McKellop said she went to school in Muskogee last year while visiting her paternal grandmother.

"I was in Florida before the contest and I was asked to represent California. I entered under the name of Theda Delrey. I am legally a Californian. My mother lived in San Diego before moving to Long Beach, where she and my grandmother own considerable property. I am not of age, and I was placed in custody of my mother by the courts a few years ago."

The Miami beauty contest was held March 7 to 10.

DETAILS OF BOND OFFER TO BE ASKED

House Group Sends Bids to Stimson, Mellon and Lamont on Teuton Issue

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—Invitations were extended today to Secretaries Stimson and Mellon and to Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co., to go before the House Banking Committee and explain the plan to dispose of $100,000,000 in German reparations bonds in this country.

Chairman McFadden said in forwarding the invitation it is proposed to hear Lamont next Tuesday and Stimson and Mellon on the two following days.

They are asked to appear as witnesses on the McFadden resolution to prohibit Federal Reserve and national banks and members of the Federal Reserve system from buying the bonds.

Recently the State Department announced it has no objection to sale of the bonds by J. P. Morgan & Co. Yesterday, the Senate adopted a resolution asking the State Department by what authority it can disapprove or approve sale of the securities.

McFadden has maintained the sale of the bonds in this country will involve it in reparations settlements under the Young plan.

Trio Killed as Lightning Hits Church Bells

BUCHAREST (Rumania) June 18. (AP)—A dispatch from Schoarsch, near Fagarasch, Transylvania, today said that three persons were killed and six fatally injured when lightning struck the tolling church bells of a church sheltering a crowd in a terrific storm there.

Three peasants, frightened by the storm, climbed the church belfry and swung the bells with their hands in signal to the remainder of the crowd to kneel and pray. Just as they knelt lightning struck the belfry. The three were killed.

The church caught fire and six persons died later of burns. A larger number of others were burned badly, the peasants remaining rooted to the spot.

DEFECTIVE HEARING IN CHILDREN CITED

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Of a quarter-million American and Canadian children examined this year 6.2 per cent have hearing defects, Mrs. Anne C. Morris of Boston today told the American Federation of Organizations for the Hard of Hearing. She said 242,694 children in eighty-one cities have been examined.

MORROW ROLLS UP MORE VOTES

New Jerseyan's Plurality in Primary 300,000

Personal Popularity Given as Large Factor

Ambassador Sweeps Every County in State

NEWARK (N. J.) June 18. (AP)—Dwight W. Morrow's plurality in yesterday's Republican State primary for nomination as United States Senator tonight had reached the total of 299,619 with twenty-four scattered districts missing out of the 3304 in the State. Morrow's margin was unprecedented in the history of Senatorial primaries in New Jersey.

The vote tonight stood: Morrow, 417,058; Fort, 117,439; Prelinghuysen, 47,780. Mr. Morrow swept every county in the State, including Somerset and Essex, the respective homes of Prelinghuysen and Fort. Fort swept every county in the State, including Somerset and Essex, the respective homes of Prelinghuysen and Fort.

PERSONALITY WINS

While Mr. Morrow's supporters attributed his overwhelming victory as much to his personal appeal as to his stand on prohibition, Rev. James K. Shields, State superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, said the primary returns have done much to encourage the wets.

Dr. Shields issued a statement saying "whether he willed it or not, Mr. Morrow's statements had made him the natural outstanding leader of the wets in New Jersey.

"Long months of newspaper publicity had been steadily building up his reputation as the greatest man in America, the President not excepted," said Dr. Shields.

PUBLICITY, SAYS FOE

"This had its undoubted effect in the results at the poll. His nomination is recognized and will continue to be emphasized by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment and all the wets of the nation as their most outstanding victory since the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment."

Dr. Shields added Mr. Morrow already has been selected as the wets' "standard-bearer in 1936. If elected in November they will immediately raise the standard for 1932."

Politicians understood Dr. Shields to refer to rumors that Mr. Morrow is regarded as possible Presidential timber.

HOOVER'S SUPPORT

Mr. Morrow received congratulatory telegrams from all sections of the United States and Mexico. A statement from the White House said he "would have every possible support" from the President and administration. Both his Republican opponents promised to support him in the campaign next fall.

In the Senatorial election Mr. Morrow will be opposed for the six-year term by Alexander Simpson, Democrat, Miss Esther H. Elfreth of Haddonfield, prohibition candidate, and Henry Jager, Socialist.

For the unexpired term created by appointment of Senator Walter E. Edge as Ambassador to France, Mr. Morrow will run against Miss Thelma Parkinson of Vineland, who was unopposed in the Democratic primary. Mr. Edge's term has four months to run after next November.

VICTORY REGARDED AS PERSONAL TRIUMPH

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 18. (Exclusive)—The success of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow in the New Jersey Republican Senatorial primary caused no surprise here but the size of his majority amazed political seers in the national capital.

It will be hailed popularly as a "wet" victory because Mr. Morrow at the start of his campaign came out for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, but analysis of the vote seems to show that the prohibition controversy really was a minor factor in the race. Many thousands of sincere drys supported Morrow; they must have or he could not possibly have run up the total of votes that came to him and piled up such a margin over his rival candidates. This fact must be recognized, notwithstanding New Jersey is conceded to be one of the wettest States in the country.

What the vote is, above all else, is a tremendous personal triumph—one such as comes to comparatively few men aspiring to public office and one of the greatest in recent political history in the United States. It appears to prove that when genuinely able men can be induced to enter the political maelstrom the people will give them the office they seek. The trouble is that few men of Morrow's type will become candidates.

Notwithstanding the conflict between Morrow and President Hoover in their views on prohibition the White House was quick to issue a statement today pledging the administration's support to the Ambassador in the November election.

"The White House," declared the statement, "will give every possible support to the Republican nominee for the Senate from New Jersey. The President and the administration have every confidence that Dwight Morrow will be the next Senator from New Jersey."

MORROW CAMPAIGN EXPENSES LOW

NEWARK (N. J.) June 18. (AP)—Dwight W. Morrow spent approximately $44,000 in his successful campaign for the long-term Republican Senatorial nomination, Douglas Thompson, his campaign manager, announced tonight.

Total contributions of $63,608, including one of $15,000 by the candidate, were received.

BILL FOR ALAMEDA LAND SWAP APPROVED

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—The Carter bill to authorize cancellation of the government's lease on Government Island from the city of Alameda, in exchange for title to fifteen acres of the island, was approved today by the House Public Buildings Committee. Alameda wishes to regain control in connection with harbor improvements.

SMOOT ASSAILS VETERANS' BILL

Final Action Expected on Measure Today

Utah Senator Opposed to Liberalizing Plan

Shortridge Asks Quick Vote, and Thus Starts Row

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—The House bill to liberalize disability allowances for World War veterans was taken up by the Senate today with prospects for final action tomorrow despite the failure of leaders to get an agreement for a vote.

Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, chairman of the Finance Committee which redrafted the House measure, assailed the legislation after Senator Shortridge, Republican, California, had called it up and asked for prompt disposition.

The Utah Senator was beset by Democratic proponents as he undertook in an hour's address to analyze its provisions which he said amounted to giving an award to veterans who had acquired disease "as a result of their own vicious habits."

The legislation carries many liberalizing provisions, including authorization for veterans to claim service origin for diseases developed before January 1, 1930.

Smoot argued that under the bill a soldier who never saw war service could collect $100 a month from the government on account of disease "acquired through his own vicious habits, while a soldier who lost an arm or leg in the Spanish American War can get $60 a month at the most."

General Strike in Cordoba Begun

BUENOS AIRES, June 18. (AP)—A forty-eight-hour general strike, decreed by union labor elements in Cordoba City in sympathy with strike of tramwaymen which has been in progress for some time, commenced at 1 a.m. today.

Police yesterday clashed with tramwaymen strikers, one of whom was wounded and taken to a hospital.

DOLLY SISTER PLANS DIVORCE

Former Roszika to File Suit Against Mortimer Davis

Latter Brother of Husband of Constance Talmadge

PARIS, June 17. (Exclusive)—Rosie Dolly, the dancer, who used to be known as Roszika, announced today that she soon will seek a New York divorce from Mortimer Davis, her Canadian husband, who recently complained that he was too broke to pay $725,000 for a pair of pearl necklaces that she had sent home C.O.D.

At the same time the racing crowd at Longchamps heard that the stage beauty will marry Irving Netcher, wealthy Chicago merchant, when she is freed from Davis.

Netcher, who is Miss Dolly's constant companion here, was divorced in Chicago a month ago by his wife, Mrs. Constance Reid Netcher. His brother, Townsend Netcher, is the husband of Constance Talmadge, the film star.

Miss Dolly, who married Davis in 1927, was not mentioned in the $30,000,000 will of Sir Mortimer Davis, her father-in-law. The elder Davis left her husband only a $63,000 annuity. Lady Mortimer, who was a New York manicurist before she married the Canadian tobacco magnate, also received a modest income from his estate. The rest of his fortune went to charity.

Asking $100,000 yearly alimony, Miss Dolly sued Davis for a divorce here in September, 1928. Later she withdrew the action. He went to Canada to settle his father's estate, and they have not lived together since that time.

Recently Davis and his wife have had several conferences. They decided amicably upon a New York divorce, and he promised to give the dancer $18,000 a year, a friend of the couple said today.

STOCK DROP TRADE TRICK, SAYS WOOD

Indianan Asserts Moneyed Men Manipulate Market to Discredit Tariff

INDIANAPOLIS, June 18. (Exclusive)—Representative Wood of the Tenth Indiana District and chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, today is quoted as charging that the drop in the stock market last week coincident with the passage of the tariff bill represented a case of market manipulation arranged by moneyed interests and importers.

"The stock market was made to drop—forced to drop—by international financiers who wished to make a political play and, if possible, prejudice President Hoover against the tariff," Wood said.

"I have reason to believe that John J. Raskob, representative of big business and chairman of the Democratic National Committee, had a part in this drop to give an impression that the new tariff is one not good for business."

Box Takes Fling at Farm Labor Study Proposal

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 18. (Exclusive)—Representative Box, Democrat, Texas, one of the principal advocates of Mexican exclusion in Congress, issued a statement today denouncing the McNary resolution for a survey of unskilled farm labor as a "scheme of creating a commission to report an excuse for importing more pauper and peon labor."

The resolution, sponsored by the Federal Farm Board and passed yesterday by the Senate, was transmitted today to the House, where it probably will be referred to the Rules Committee for consideration of a special rule taking it on the floor for a vote. It is expected to pass before adjournment as an administration measure.

INDIANS IN TAX BOYCOTT JAILED

Rain Halts Salt Raids of Gandhi Followers

Nationalists' Processions Continue in Bombay

Leaders Urge Students to Join in Movement

BOMBAY (India) June 18. (AP)—With the coming of the rainy season halting attacks of Indian Nationalists against the government salt works, authorities today strengthened their fight against the nonpayment of taxes, which has succeeded the salt raids, in two widely separated areas.

In the Gujerat, where civil disobedience has been widespread since Mahatma Gandhi opened his campaign there March 12, the government has begun attaching movable property of those who refuse to pay land taxes.

EVADERS ARRESTED

In the Punjab, police arrested seventeen tax evaders in a village twenty miles from Delhi.

Nationalists in Bombay continued processions and demonstrations. Pandit Motilal Nehru, acting president of the All-India National Congress, led a parade of Nationalists from the Indian quarter to the Congress house.

When the procession ended the Pandit addressed a mass meeting and emphasized the need for intensifying the boycott program.

Referring to suggestions that the campaign be called off as a preliminary to peace negotiations, he declared any negotiations must precede suspension of the movement.

APPEALS TO STUDENTS

V. J. Patel, former speaker of the Legislative Assembly, appealed to students to give up their studies for twelve months and devote themselves to Congress work.

A report from Peshwar said troops this morning occupied the town of Tangi and advanced to within five miles of a hostile Utman Khel force.

The Utman Khels are among the many aggressive tribesmen who have hidden in caves in the Peshwar area. The government asserts it has bombed some of them out from the air.

SONG MAY LEAD TO RAINBOW END

Lilting Tune Gives Clew to Heir of $2,000,000

Family Tune Gives Attorney Needed Evidence

Irish Woman Seeks Share of Whalen Fortune

NEW YORK, June 18. (Exclusive) The lilt of an old song, echoing across two generations from an emigrant ship in 1830 to the dooryard of an Irish cottage where Minnie Holton went about her housework may win for the heirs of John H. Whalen a share of the $4,000,000 estate he left when he died in 1926.

John Whalen, friend of Richard Croker and Corporation Counsel of New York, left half of that estate to Cardinal Hayes, then archbishop, as trustee of the New York diocese of the Roman Catholic Church. But the residue he did not dispose of in his will and there appeared a score of claimants advancing evidence of their relationship to the testator.

And now Minnie Holton, 84 years of age, with scribbled notes on the flyleaf of an old prayer book to substantiate her claim to be John Whalen's grand niece, is a contestant of the will. Surrogate O'Brien will hear her lawyers' arguments within the next few weeks.

Daniel J. McGrath, a partner of James H. Hickey, counsel for the Whalen heirs, went to Ireland on business connected with the estate. In the village of Malanide, outside of Dublin, he found Minnie Holton through his chancing upon Minnie, her daughter, and hearing her humming the old ballad, "Bally Poreen," which was a song he had heard the descendants of John Whalen singing in America. It is a song that the Bally Poreen people have carried with them wherever they went, and McGrath followed the will o' the wisp to Minnie's mother and, after a long hunt, they found on the yellowed flyleaf of a prayer book the entry which may win a fortune for the grandchild.

There, under Patrick Whalen's name, was written the record of his wedding and the birth of his children, one of whom was Minnie Holton's mother. And there, too, was written what Hickey believes will finally establish Minnie Holton's claim.

"Denis, my brother," the entry read, "died in America in 1864."

Denis Whalen, John Whalen's father, did die in America in that year, and that is the keynote of the claim on which Surrogate O'Brien will rule.

SOVIET-GERMAN SPLIT PATCHED

Improved Relations Between Nations Indicated

Present Conference Opens in Spirit of Rapallo

Countries Both Trying to End Old Differences

(Copyright, 1930, by the New York Times)

MOSCOW, June 18. (Exclusive)—The Russo-German conference has begun in an "atmosphere of Rapallo." From the soviet viewpoint this is a notable diplomatic achievement, considering that relations of the two countries in the last two years have been somewhat remote—and getting more remote—from the Rapallo spirit.

To an influential section of German opinion it is said the spirit seemed to have become little more than a ghost from the past, and it is only a few months since the best-informed German newspaper writer on Russian affairs put the brutal question whether the Rapallo treaty, negotiated in the first flush of "Nep" (new economic policy,) had any serious meaning nowadays when "Nep" has been whittled down almost to the vanishing point by the Stalin policy.

FRICTION MULTIPLIED

Friction between the two countries may be said to have begun with the Shakhta sabotage trial, when German engineers sat in the dock with their Russian colleagues. Since then the breach seems to have widened as the Dawes and Young plans gradually brought Germany nearer to her former enemies in the west. The recent German-Polish agreement came as an unpleasant surprise to Moscow and it was followed by an increased tariff against Russian grain two months ago, which aroused the chief soviet organ, Izvestia, to indignant protest.

On the German side there is resentment over asserted activities of the Communist International in industrial disputes arising from the current world economic depression. It is felt, also, that the soviet has shown little practical gratitude for state-supported credits which Germany granted at a time when others were reluctant and the Russian need was greatest. In addition, last year's affair of the German Mennonite colonists made bad blood between the two countries for a sentimental but, for the German side, quite natural reason.

RELATIONS STRAINED

So that one might say that during the height of the soviet "leftward swing" at the beginning of this year Russo-German relations were decidedly strained and Rapallo seemed a pallid specter, indeed.

At any rate, whatever the motives on either side, the fact remains that from March onward the two countries set themselves pretty seriously to the task of improving their relations and reducing the causes of mutual friction by diplomatic conversations. These conversations culminated a few days ago in a joint announcement about the opening of a so-called "conciliation conference" in Moscow.

The soviet has issued a communique of the opening speeches of its representative, Commissar Stomanyakov, and Herr Von Raumer. Stomanykov stresses the fact that Van Raumer played an important role in the Rapallo negotiations, and the German delegate replies:

"I wish to assure you my viewpoint is unchanged since the moment the Rapallo treaty was concluded," which prospects indicate the Germans, instead of withholding a trump and playing a "hard-boiled" game, prefer to put their cards on the table and really wish to attain a new and friendly understanding with the soviet on the Rapallo basis.

FRENCH HIGHLY HONOR WOMAN

Mother Appointed "Doctor of Paris Hospitals" After Long Series of Tests

PARIS, June 18. (AP)—A woman for the first time has been given one of the most coveted titles in French medicine, "Doctor of Paris Hospitals."

The woman is Mme. Therese Bertrand Fontaine, 33 years of age, mother of two children, who was appointed to that title yesterday by a jury of eminent doctors after a long series of competitive examinations.

CONDITIONS OF DAY LAID TO WOMEN

Unemployment Traced to Fair Sex by Secretary of Eagles' Order

QUINCY (Ill.) June 18. (Exclusive)—I. S. Parry, Worthy Grand Secretary of the Eagles, who resides in Kansas City, addressed the Eagles' State convention here today. Mr. Parry said:

"The unemployment situation is not a political one. Three million women have taken the place of men in the industrial world. Women bobbed their hair overnight and 65,000 people were thrown out of work. Women stopped wearing corsets and nother 40,000 were unemployed. College men stopped wearing hats and 40,000 hatters were jobless.

"Women are wearing silk and its imitations for hosiery. When they stopped wearing cotton the textile mills cut down. Millions of dollars' worth of cotton products are in storage warehouses with no market for them. The Eagles are endeavoring to solve that problem."

COLD WATER SUBMERGES BASE HOPES

Georgian Says West Coast Loses Chance for Dirigible Site Because of Row

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—Representative Vinson of Georgia, ranking Democrat on the House Naval Committee, said today postponement of action on selection of a West Coast naval dirigible base site "killed all possibility of putting the base in that section of the country."

The committee deferred action until December on the Swing and Fee bills to authorize the Navy to accept sites at Camp Kearny and Sunnyvale respectively, for the proposed $5,000,000 base for airships.

Representative Vinson said "postponement, in my opinion, is tantamount to killing all possibility of establishing the base on the West Coast. The people of California have shown so much selfishness in the fight over this base that I feel they have lost it.

"It is a repetition of the fight several years ago over the selection of a site for a naval base at Alameda. I am going to do everything possible to prevent it going to the West Coast as a result."

New Settlers Stranded by Alberta Rains

EDMONTON (Alta.) June 18. (AP) Isolated by torrential rains which have played havoc with highways and railway lines in Northern Alberta, a motorcade of 120 persons seeking new homes in the Peace River country is facing starvation.

The settlers, stranded at the town of Smith, reported their plight by telegraph yesterday and an airplane loaded with bread and meat was immediately started on its way northward.

When between Athabaska and Smith, on the northern rim of Alberta, the settlers were overtaken by a succession of storms which transformed roads into quagmires, disrupted communications and washed out the two principal bridges of the district. They struggled through to Smith, where washed-out bridges blocked further progress. It may be at least ten days before they can proceed.

FAKE DIPLOMA USE BY ALIENS REPORTED

SACRAMENTO, June 18. (Exclusive)—Inspectors of the State Board of Medical Examiners today were requested by Dr. Charles B. Pinkham, secretary, to investigate complaints that aliens are obtaining entrance into California by using fake medical diplomas to support claims that they are engaged in professional studies. The practice is reported to be particularly prevalent among the Chinese, who, with other ineligible aliens, are barred from admittance to the United States except as students.

EX-KAISER'S FRIENDS HURT IN EXPLOSION

AMSTERDAM, June 18. (AP)—A boat on which part of an excursion party organized by former Kaiser Wilhelm was crossing Lake Kaag near Leyden blew up this afternoon. Five of the party were seriously injured. The ex-Kaiser was sailing on another boat.

RICHES AWAIT MISSING MAN

Former Memphis Broker to Share in $1,000,000

Disappearance Overseas Dates Back to 1913

Reported Living on Ranch in Mexican Jungle Area

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) June 18. (AP)—A man who disappeared seventeen years ago in London may share in a $1,000,000 estate if, as his former legal adviser believes, he is alive and will return from the jungle lands of Quintana Roo, Mex.

Joseph W. Martin, once a wealthy cotton broker here, vanished in London in 1913. Detectives reported finding his opera coat and hat on the banks of the Thames. Search for him was futile, but later a cablegram from Switzerland signed "Joe Martin" promised that a letter would follow. The letter never arrived.

S. M. Neely, former attorney for Martin, brought forth the contention that he still is alive in testimony given in Chancery Court here yesterday preparatory to distribution of the $1,000,000 estate of the late William M. Wood, grandfather of Martin. His information that Martin is in Mexico, he said, came from a man whose name was given as Clarence S. Eldridge. Eldridge, Neely testified, told him that while on a visit to Memphis in 1927 or 1928 that he was a passenger with Martin on a boat bound for Yucatan and later spent a night with him at a chicken ranch he owned near Santa Cruz de Bravoe, Mex.

Neely produced a number of letters from Eldridge and said he has learned that Martin was haunted by the fear of debts which at one time are said to have totaled nearly $180,000, but all of which since have been paid by relatives.

Eldridge now is said to be in Los Angeles. It was stated that his deposition probably will be obtained within the next two weeks.

MYSTERY FIGURE KNOWN TO ANGELENO

Clarence S. Eldridge, identified in the Memphis (Tenn.) Chancery Court as an acquaintance of Joseph W. Martin, missing for seventeen years and heir to a large estate, was reported last night by his family here to be on his way to Texas.

Eldridge was said to have confirmed Memphis reports that he is well acquainted with Martin. "I have known him all of my life," Eldridge said yesterday, "and saw him on a ranch in Mexico only last November."

BOY'S ICY SWIM SAVES SAILORS

Mile of Water Conquered in Dash for Rescue

Lake Michigan Boat Drifts Toward Its Doom

Young Hero, After Ordeal, Bans Encomiums

MILWAUKEE, June 17 (NANA)—"Aw, they make me sick—calling a fellow a hero," said 17-year-old Donald Aiken, who swam a mile in the chilly waters of Lake Michigan Tuesday morning to get help for the crew of the Mary Margaret, fruit boat of St. Joseph, Mich., which was drifting slowly on the rocks.

"They ask you such questions as 'Was it cold?' Sure, it was—darn cold. Taking a fellow's picture, making such a fuss over things!"

If there's one thing more than any other Donald can do without it's having a fuss made, so Tuesday afternoon he hung his wet clothes over the rail of the neat little boat, put on dry ones and went down to see a show.

BOAT CRIPPLED

It was very early in the morning and fog and haze were creeping over the lake when the sixty-ton fruit boat, her propeller stripped by a rock, began to drift slowly on the rocks off Grant Park. The ship had left St. Joseph, Mich., Monday night to have Michigan strawberries in Milwaukee markets for the early trade.

There was nothing spectacular about what was happening to the Mary Margaret; the easterly swell was gentle, but it was slowly almost indifferently carrying the boat to destruction and, Capt. Philip R. Eaglesfield of St. Joseph, struggling with the wheel, couldn't make steerage way. There wasn't a raft, and there wasn't a lifeboat, and there wasn't a wireless, and unless something was done soon all four men on board knew they were going to find the boat pounding to pieces under them.

ONE MAN FAILS

The captain said somebody would have to try to swim ashore and Donald was going to speak up then, but Ambrose Stump, 23 years of age, was ahead of him and all on board thought Donald was pretty much of a kid anyhow. Well, Stump started and didn't make it. He felt himself weakening; the cold got into his bones, and he had just strength enough to get back to the boat. The ship kept on drifting, that easy swell driving it on, and the rocks were getting nearer.

"Guess I can make it," Donald said when Stump climbed back, and in he went. They saw his head bobbing up and down in the swells for the first ten minutes or so. Then the fog shut down and they didn't see him any more. They waited and waited and waited. They thought they might last for half an hour more; might last for twenty minutes more; might keep off the rocks for another fifteen minutes—and then a Coast Guard cutter came out of the fog with a line for them.

NOT MUCH TO SAY

Donald himself doesn't say very much about what happened in the interval of his leaving the boat and of his greeting the crew again at the foot of Milwaukee street where the Coast Guard towed them.

"Aw, the water was darn cold. I'd get numb every once in a while, but then I'd just try to swim faster. After I got into the breakers near shore I knew I was safe.

"My feet were dragging when I reached shallow water, and I just hung there on my life preserver a couple of minutes, I guess. I knew shore was right there, but it seemed it was the hardest part to walk the rest of the way to the beach.

"Well, that's all. I crawled up the bank to the highway and I went to a farm house and called the Coast Guard. That's all there is to tell, honest."

And to a fellow-member of the crew he growled, "Those newspaper guys make me sick—hero!" Donald snorted. "I'm going downtown to see a show."

FOUR HURT WHEN REDS ATTACK BUS

BERLIN, June 18. (AP)—Three persons were wounded seriously by bullets and a fourth, a girl, injured by a rock, when Communists ambushed an auto bus traveling through the northern outskirts of Berlin today. A volley of shots was fired and rocks hurled at the bus and its fifteen occupants, most of whom were Fascists. A panic developed inside. When police arrived and helped the victims to hospitals they found the assailants had disappeared.

BILL FOR RESERVOIR IN TEXAS INTRODUCED

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—Authority to appropriate $7,200,000 to build a reservoir at the Angeles dam site on the Pecos River, Tex., near the boundary line between Texas and New Mexico, would be provided under a bill introduced today by Representative Hudspeth, Texas.

COW BARN YIELDS CRADLE IN WHICH HOOVER ROCKED

WEST BRANCH (Iowa) June 18. (Exclusive)—The cradle in which President Hoover was rocked as a baby has been resurrected from its hiding-place in a manger in a cow barn on the Wilbur Watters farm near where it has sheltered the nests of fussy sitting hens and accumulated the chaff from hay and straw for many years.

Brought to light, it proved to be a well-built crib of walnut, with gracefully turned rockers and artistic hand holes in the sides. The cradle was purchased by Mr. Watters at the public sale following the death of the President's father, Jesse. It was discarded after the last of the Watters children grew too large to be rocked.

MISSIONARY PROGRAMS DISRUPTED

Lack of Funds Compelling Abandonment of Work by Numerous Agencies

CHICAGO, June 18. (AP)—Serious retrenchments of their missionary programs are being forced on Christian churches by diminishing financial support, Dr. John C. Acheson of St. Paul, president of McAlester College, disclosed today in his annual report to the executive committee of the laymen's missionary movement. Dr. Acheson is chairman of the committee.

Curtailment of funds, he declared, has deprived mission fields of preachers, compelled suspension of many forms of charitable work and forced the closing of hospitals, dispensaries, schools and asylums.

"We must pause and ask what is wrong," said Dr. Acheson, "when in a decade of unprecedented prosperity and material growth there should have been a forced and continuous retrenchment in so many missionary fields.

"Christian idealism has embarrassed many commercial, industrial and political agencies in their exploitation of native labor on the mission field," Dr. Acheson reported. "This has resulted in active opposition, and a flood of propaganda, too great for our missionary workers to stem, has been let loose among tourists and through newspapers and magazines."

Threats Made to Kidnap Boy Violin Virtuoso

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Miss Beth Lackey, guardian of Ruggiero Ricci, 9-year-old violin virtuoso, testified today that kidnaping threats have been received by her during the last few days.

She made the statement in answering a question by counsel for the boy's father as to why she had excluded him from her apartment. The father is seeking the custody of the boy through habeas corpus proceedings.

Miss Lackey said the times he had been refused admission strange men had been with him and alarmed by the kidnaping threats, she refused to let them in.

CHAIN STORES 'HERE TO STAY'

Institute of Banking Hears System Defended

Branch Financial Houses Also Called Sound

Small Units Held Unable to Get Best Results

DENVER, June 18. (AP)—Two developments of modern business—branch banking and chain stores—were described today at the convention of the American Institute of Banking as sound economic enterprises, "here to stay," and not passing fads.

E. V. Krick, vice-president of the American Trust Company of San Francisco, said 5000 bank failures in the last ten years have demonstrated the unit bank system is not giving the fullest possible service to the public.

Clark G. Mitchell, vice-president of the Denver National Bank, said "The chain store is here to stay and its competition will be fair."

Mr. Krick said the chief disadvantage of the small unit bank is it is not in a position to pay high salaries and buy the best banking brains.

SLIDING TARIFF TEST PROPOSED

Senate Votes Borah's Trial of Flexible Provision

Light on Farm Implements' Cost Abroad Sought

House for Entry of Cuban Cigars by Parcel Post

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—As the Customs Service grappled with initial problems under the new Tariff Act the Senate today adopted without debate or record vote the Borah resolution to provide an immediate test of the new flexible provisions.

The resolution directs the Tariff Commission to investigate and report to the Senate at the earliest possible date the differences in cost of production here and abroad of shoes, furniture, bells, wire fencing, wire netting, cement, hoes, shovels, spades, scoops, forks, rakes, scythes, sickles, grass hooks, corn knives and drainage tools.

BORAH PLANS TEST

"If the flexible provision is going to do the wonderful things they say it will, let's get it to working," said Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, author of the resolution. He voted against the tariff bill.

While most of the articles named for the inquiry are farm implements, Senator Borah said he was particularly anxious to determine whether the 6 cents a 100 pounds levy on cement, on the free list prior to today, was founded on the exact difference in production costs.

In a recent speech in the Senate he estimated the farmers would have to pay an annual additional $16,000,000 for their cement under the 6-cent rate.

OTHERS INQUISITIVE

Bells, wire fencing and wire netting were added to the inquiry list in an amendment by Senator Bingham, Republican, Connecticut.

While the Senate was disposing of the Idahoan's proposal the House Ways and Means Committee obtained assurances from Postmaster-General Brown that if no minimum limit were placed on the importation of Cuban cigars the United States could negotiate a parcel post convention with Cuba guaranteeing collection of full duties on all shipments.

Mr. Brown testified before the committee on the Hawley resolution to restrict cigar importations to not less than 300 to a package. In view of the Postmaster-General's assurances, Representative Hawley, Republican, Oregon, said he would not press his proposal.

TO ESCAPE DUTY

Under the old law cigar imports were limited to 3000 or more per package. The new Tariff Act eliminates this restriction. Hawley said his proposal was designed to prevent importation of small packages that might escape duty.

The previous limitation, Brown said, caused the termination of a temporary parcel post agreement with Cuba. The 300 minimum proposal, he added, would be "an insurmountable obstacle to the negotiation of a new parcel post convention."

In negotiating a new convention with Cuba Brown promised a stipulation would be made that all cigar importations, regardless of the size of the lot, pay the regular duty.

SOLVES PROBLEM

"In view of your statement I believe this solves the problem," said Mr. Hawley.

The Senate today concurred in a House resolution to provide for printing 5000 copies of the new tariff bill, after Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, inquired "what use" was to be made of them.

Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, suggested that "the minority members might send them out as horrible examples."

EDGE SOOTHES FRENCH WITH TARIFF FIGURES

PARIS, June 18. (AP)—Ambassador Edge introduced today what was intended as a calming note into the discussion of the new American tariff schedule.

A communique issued at the Embassy said the new rates, if applied to the French exports to the United States in 1928, would have added only about 3.35 per cent to the duty and added, "The revised American tariff signed yesterday by President Hoover can have no serious effect upon French exports to the United States."

The statement said the percentage of 3.35 applied to more than 96 per cent of the value of French sales for 1928, and continued:

"On the other 2 per cent of sales figures are not comparable because of changes in classification or for other technical reasons.

"As is well known, by far the greater part of American purchases of French products is of quality commodities. It would be, indeed, a very small percentage of American buyers who would desist from purchasing exclusive French designs because of a small possible increase of cost.

"In fact, the negligible increase could be readily absorbed in the profits of the distributor."

CANADIAN DUTIES RISE AUTOMATICALLY

OTTAWA, June 18. (AP)—Higher tariffs on a dozen commodities imported from the United States went into effect automatically today under countervailing duties adopted with the budget, May 1, last.

The principle is that the Canadian tariff shall be as high on an article coming from another country as the rate that country levies against the same commodity entering from Canada.

Potatoes, particularly, will be affected by the Hawley-Smoot tariff and the consequent application of the countervailing tariff by Canada. Canada shipped to the United States for the fiscal year ended March 31, last, potatoes to the value of $1,173,179, under a tariff of 50 per cent hundredweight.

Last year United States potatoes came into Canada free. Under the new tariffs the barrier both ways will be 75 cents per 100 pounds. Flour, grain, cattle, meats, eggs and butter are among other commodities affected by the new tariff wall.

AMERICA DENOUNCED AS CUBA'S ENEMY

HAVANA, June 18. (AP)—The newspaper El Mundo says editorially today that signing of the Hawley-Smoot tariff measure brings to an end the long-established and beneficial influence of Pan-Americanism upon the relations of Cuba with the United States.

The paper declares that the new tariff will destroy the traditional ties of friendship heretofore existing between Cuba and the United States, which henceforth will be regarded by Cubans as an avowed enemy in their commercial intercourse.

The editorial, which will appear under the caption, "Consummatum Est," begins by saying that "never up to this time could this Latin sentence be applied with more accuracy to any unjust episode. The new tariff law is now enforced in the United States; thus Cuban sugar receives the most painful blow it has been dealt during the crucial process which took place these last months."

The paper concludes: "Henceforth Cuba, the rest of the American nations and ourselves shall regard the United States as a formidable foe who will not resort to the bombardment of our maritime cities by its battleships because of an elementary feeling of dignity, but, nevertheless, will besiege our country, using famine as a weapon under the pretense of economic expansion. It is a war that must be fought and won."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS]

International reaction to the new tariff law put into effect by the United States manifested itself in protests from several governments, consideration of retaliatory measures by others and attacks by the foreign press.

Spain was studying requests that it break the existing modus vivendi with this country, although officials promised no hasty action will be taken. Foreign trade interests in that country denounced the new tariff as prohibitive against most of Spain's exports to the United States.

The Belgian Cabinet after discussing the new tariff announced it believes retaliatory measures should await conferences with other European countries.

Etoile Belge, Liberal Conservative newspaper, expressed the hope the "American challenge" might create a movement toward European solidarity resulting in a defensive agreement against American competition.

In Rome the Italian press insisted Italy must make all possible efforts to conserve her American markets by reducing manufacturing costs, revising production methods and intensifying technical organisations. Il Tevere condemned the tariff as the "ultimate manifestation of the economic imperialism of the United States."

Czecho-Slovakian and German industrialist associations protested to the United States Minister at Prague against the tariff, which they asserted will strangle the export trade of Czecho-Slovakia to America.

In Havana the newspaper El Mundo attacked the tariff as unjust, and asserted the law means the end of Pan-Americanism.

"Henceforward," El Mundo declared, "Cuba and the rest of the American nations shall regard the United States as a formidable foe, who will besiege our country by using famine as a weapon under the pretense of economic expansion."

In Switzerland all newspapers unanimously deplored the new tariff. Some viewed it as a challenge to Europe and others foresaw an economic war between the United States and the old world. A meeting of the committee of Swiss exports and industries was called for the 27th inst. to study the situation.

German Finance Chief May Quit

BERLIN, June 18. (AP)—The resignation of Dr. Paul Moldenhauer, Minister of Finance, today was regarded in official circles as certain because of opposition to his policy to help export trade by reducing prices and wages.

The resignation is expected to be announced at tomorrow's cabinet meeting.

The meeting has been called by Premier Bruening at Dr. Moldenhauer's request so that a final plea for his policies may be made.

EMPLOYMENT SKY CLEARING

House Committee Approves Public Works Bill

Federation of Labor Head Talks to Hoover

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—While President Hoover was receiving an encouraging version of the unemployment situation, the House Judiciary Committee today approved an amended Wagner bill for advance planning of public works to combat unemployment.

William A. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, carried word to the White House of evidence "that we are reaching a point of improvement." He expects the census to show conditions are not as bad as pictured in some quarters.

The House committee referred to a subcommittee the Wagner bill to establish a national system of employment bureaus. Sponsored by Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, both measures have been passed by the Senate.

The New Yorker's third measure approved by the Senate, providing for collection of unemployment statistics, has been sanctioned by the House Labor Committee. An attempt is to be made to obtain House action on the three companion bills.

Leaving the White House, Green recalled his testimony before a House Committee that estimates in May placed the unemployed at 3,600,000. This included, however, he said, those who were sick and out of work, those laid off through seasonal shutdowns and other causes, while the Census Bureau is interested primarily in counting those who are out of work and seeking jobs.

Lloyd George Accepts But Baldwin's Silent

LONDON, June 18. (AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald today moved to take England's serious unemployment problem out of politics by inviting David Lloyd George and Stanley Baldwin, leaders of the Liberals and Conservatives, respectively, to a nonpartisan conference on measures for its relief.

Lloyd George announced he has accepted the invitation for the Liberals and hopes a solution will be found for the nearly 2,000,000 jobless.

Mr. Baldwin has not indicated what the attitude of the Conservatives will be.

Premier MacDonald in his House of Commons speech said if the leaders can agree on relief legislation, measures can be pushed through Parliament which will bring immediate results.

Otherwise, he said, the Labor government necessarily will suffer delays by having to fight through all of its own legislation.

The Prime Minister emphasized his invitation is not an attempt to form either a two-party or a three-party coalition, but is to consider seriously without regard to politics what best may be done.

Commons previously had sat for nearly twenty-two hours, one of its longest continuous sessions in history, debating the finance bill. The government succeeded in passing the first clause of the bill, that dealing with the powers of special commissioners of income tax to inquire into shareholdings, before recess was taken this noon. The vote was 222 to 90 supporting the Chancellor. The unemployment debate began this afternoon.

CAREFUL BUYERS OF GINGER ALE get 4 EXTRA OUNCES

They ask for Clicquot Club Pale Dry
It comes in full 16-ounce pints

TODAY, more and more women are learning about the most economical way to buy ginger ale. They are buying it in full size pints.

"When Clicquot Club Pale Dry gives you a full pint in every bottle, why accept ⅓ less?" they say. The little 12-ounce bottle is never quite enough to go around. Full-size pints are so much more economical.

And of all the nationally known dry ginger ales only one comes in this convenient size. It is Clicquot Club Pale Dry. You buy a pint. You get a pint!

Finer flavor too—In addition to this handy size bottle, Clicquot Club Pale Dry gives you a flavor unequalled in any other dry ginger ale.

Clicquot Club
PALE DRY

Two vital factors make the rare and mellow flavor of Clicquot Club possible.

First, Clicquot Club is aged 6 months in the making. We long ago discovered that such ageing imparts a rich, delightful flavor to ginger ale.

Second, we take pure table sugar, fine Jamaica ginger, real fruit flavors, and blend them with pure spring water to a formula known to no other maker of ginger ale.

Make this comparison—Just go to your dealer today and ask him to show you a bottle of Clicquot Club Pale Dry. Compare it with a so-called "pint" of any other dry ginger ale. You'll note that the Clicquot bottle contains 4 ounces more. The label tells the story.

Compare them for flavor, too, and we're sure you'll always ask for Clicquot Club Pale Dry. In clean new bottles. No bottle ever used a second time.

Notice to the public!—Food products which are not afraid to point to facts and statements on their packages deserve the confidence of the public! Packages give you scientific marketing information. Learn to examine them and get better results.

Other quality products besides Clicquot Club which frankly advise women to examine their packages are: Chase & Sanborn's Dated Coffee... Dole Pineapple... Heinz Oven-Baked Beans... Royal Baking Powder... Swift's Premium Hams and Bacon.

FISHER ASSERTS MAJORITY WOULD RETAIN DRY ACT

Economist Points to the Billions Diverted to Industries Which Increase Family Welfare

This is the third of a series of articles discussing current phases of the prohibition question written for The Times by nationally prominent leaders of organizations favoring prohibition and law enforcement. Other articles will appear in The Times from time to time.

BY IRVING FISHER
Honorary president, Scientific Temperance Society, and Professor of Economics, Yale University

Prohibition is still, in the phrase adapted from President Hoover, "a noble experiment." It is not yet fully successful. It is far from a failure. Many of its abuses are intolerable. Yet the majority of the American people wish the Eighteenth Amendment to be retained; and I believe they are right. The electorate wants prohibition to be fully tried under the amendment. For its complete repeal there is no sign of a majority sentiment, to say nothing of the three-quarters majority of the States required for its repeal.

These are the plain conclusions to be drawn from the weeks of wet and dry testimony before the House Judiciary Committee, from the recent Literary Digest poll of public sentiment, and, above all, from the record of continued, and thus far, increasingly dry, majorities in Congress and in the State Legislatures.

MORAL SUPPORT NEEDED

To these conclusions may be added another, drawn by Mr. Hoover in his inaugural address, and in later speeches during his administration. That is, that the measure of success which the government may attain depends on the moral support which the citizenry extends in the way of law observance. Chairman Wickersham of the President's Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement, in his recent address to editors in Washington, declared his belief that too much stress had been laid on enforcement and not enough on observance, saying: "It is not too late now to begin such a campaign of education concerning the evils of intoxicating liquor."

Such a campaign, organized with government co-operation extended to representative groups of men and women in the States and local communities under a strong national committee, should, in my opinion, emphasize the following points:

SWEEPS HALF-CLEAN

Imperfectly enforced as it has been, prohibition today, while no longer the new broom which sweeps clean as it did in 1920, sweeps half-clean; that is, it maintains a position in general about midway between its starting point before war-time restrictions in 1917 and the best record reached under the amendment in 1929. As demonstrated in my new book, "The Noble Experiment," this is true, for the most part, as regards liquor consumption, drunkenness, deaths from alcoholism, cirrhosis of the liver, tuberculosis, the general death rate, Monday morning absences from industry, accidents and crime. It is true in most wet States as well as in dry States, except in a very few places, like Maryland, which never had an enforcement set.

Even authorities like Dr. Louis I. Dublin, to whom the wet advocates point for confirmation, statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, supply such facts as these:

That the death rate of the United States in the prohibition years was clearly lower since prohibition came than in the preprohibition years 1911-1917.

"The army of social workers, insurance agents and business men," Dr. Dublin says, "from one end of the country to the other are virtually in accord that the years of prohibition have been an improvement in the economic condition of the homes of the great mass of the American people. It has even been suggested," he continued, "that the 10 per cent of the wages which under the old regime went into the liquor traffic is now largely diverted into channels which mean increased protection and welfare of the family."

STATES SHOW BENEFIT

These improvements under prohibition have been experienced in typically wet States, like Connecticut. For example, a chart of the general death rate in Connecticut shows a nearly horizontal line before prohibition, then a sudden fall with the coming of prohibition, and then another horizontal line at a level about 25 per cent below the original level.

Such betterments as regards the death rate in Connecticut, commitments for alcoholic insanity, crome rates, high school attendance and other features of the State's social life are found in the official vital statistics of Connecticut and its reports of jails, State hospitals for the insane and the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles. I have presented actual figures collected with care by several authoritative workers covering about twenty years in these departments, with trends and contrasts before and after the coming of prohibition.

PASS CREST OF BACKWASH

During the last two or three years the tendency of conditions to grow worse seems to have slackened or stopped. We seem to be passing through what I have called, in the title of one of my books, "Prohibition at Its Worst." In this we are running true to form, according to experience with State prohibition. Usually State prohibition was very effective during the first two or three years, then gradually circumvented by bootlegging until it was "at its worst" after about nine years, when the crest of this backwash was reached and improvement began again.

INDUSTRIES SUPPLANT LIQUOR

Economists, even wet economists, are unanimous in their convictions that American prohibition has contributed toward American prosperity. Every estimate has appraised our added productivity due to prohibition at many billions of dollars per year. The usual estimates have been between three and ten billions a year. These are large figures, but not unreasonable when we consider that America's total income in 1929 was $30,000,000,000 more than it was a decade previous. Dr. Paul H. Nystrom, professor of marketing of the school of business of Columbia University, has estimated $5,000,000,000 gained annually simply by other industries supplanting the liquor traffic.

PRICE PROHIBITIVE

The expenditure on alcoholic liquors by the poor is now almost negligible, even including the expense of home brewing, whereas before prohibition and war-time restructions it was a crushing burden. Today only the richer 1 or 2 per cent of the people patronize the bootlegger to any great extent.

OPEN SALOON GONE

The main purpose of prohibition was its antisaloon purpose. This has been achieved in the virtual disappearance of the open saloon. At the recent Congressional hearings the wet witnesses were careful to state that in any event they did not wish the return of the saloon.

In recent years efficient substitutes for the saloon have been provided in the motor car, the radio, the motion picture, and in the applied principle of specialization in industry and modern life.

As products are simplified and standardized, as the professions and the arts are specialized, and as single-operation machines are installed, the intent is to deliver workers, their employers, and men of the professions of harassing cares by centering their attention upon relatively simple operations and problems. The wretchedness of toil is departing. Thus in this age "misery drinking" has been supplanted, for the majority, by leisure, higher education, interest in developing new industries such as aviation, the electrical and motor-car industries, and the pleasurable focussing of attention upon the radio, the motion picture, sports and travel.

OTHER METHODS FAIL

But no one has shown how to repeal prohibition and yet prevent the return of the saloon except by putting our government into the liquor business. Such government sale has usually proved more of a failure than prohibition. This was true in South Carolina, and it seems now to be true in Canada.

It was bootleggery that broke down the operation of the South Carolina dispensary law, and this was succeeded by State-wide prohibition in 1916 until the present time.

The truth is, the liquor problem is, like the race problem, at present an insoluble problem, and will remain so for at least a generation. We have before us only a choice of evils. Despite the fact that prohibition has recorded great gains in the respects enumerated above, present conditions of law enforcement are intolerable and must be corrected. I say this notwithstanding my opinion, after careful assessment of available data, that prohibition is less of a failure than any other measure for the control of the liquor traffic that has ever been applied in this or in foreign lands.

Great urban centers are still centers of wet sentiment. This is largely because of lax enforcement among populations with alien traditions of an immigrant past, coupled with lack of education as to the harmful effects of alcohol even in "moderate" amounts, and with the cult of "personal liberty." But it seems better to go on with the "noble experiment," bearing the ills we have rather than flying to those we know not of and "fighting it out on these lines if it takes all summer."

Probably the worst evils of prohibition in addition to the failure of supporting sentiment for observance in certain centers, are the corruption of officials and the breaking down of our courts under the strain of enforcing the liquor laws.

MUST KEEP PACE

But corruption and the liquor traffic have always been inseparable The saloon was always the great hotbed of corruption even in the days of the Tweed ring. Nor should we forget that every other law which is difficult to enforce and the evasion of which offers huge prizes, likewise occasions corruption. Take our land laws, for instance, particularly of late those as to oil reserves; the corruption seemed to reach up to the President's Cabinet. Yet we are not planning, on that account, to repeal our land laws; rather, we are planning a better enforcement.

The only way to meet this situation is not to repeal laws, but to compel our enforcement system to keep pace with the growing efficiency of crime.

BREW IN HOME

As to home brew, we can never expect to eliminate it altogether. The question should be clarified as to whether it is legal, as Congressman Fort maintains, or illegal. If it is legal, then no one has a right to complain of any interference with his personal liberty. If a person wants liquor enough to make it himself he has no excuse to patronize a bootlegger. If home brewing is illegal, we must ask each householder to be his own policeman. The only hope of substantially reducing home brew in the immediate future is through voluntary co-operation.

Finally, with respect to the more proper field of enforcement, in cutting off the supply of illicit liquor at the source and checking the organized conspiracies to violate the liquor laws, the strong arm of the law will be helped by voluntary conferences of men and women of social standing, meeting in all communities in a concerted appeal to correct abuses and to observe the Eighteenth Amendment until it shall have had thorough trial.

FRUIT LEADERS PLAN CURB ON PEACH CROP

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18. (AP)—Leaders of the California fruit industry were perfecting plans here today for curtailing the 1930 peach crop. The canners' league recommended only 13,000,000 cases of peaches be canned, although enough fruit is available for 20,000,000 cases. To curtail this crop the canners expect to pay $5.50 per ton below the finally determined price, using the money saved to reimburse growers who suffered losses because of inability to dispose of their crop.

NEW ROBBER RACKET

Bandit Poses as Main Office Representative to Hold Up Alhambra Chain Store Manager

ALHAMBRA, June 18.—After gaining entrance to a chain grocery store at 986 Huntington drive on the ruse that he was a representative of the main offices in Los Angeles, a bandit held up the manager, George Pratt, and took about $150 in cash.

According to Pratt's story to the police, he received a telephone call shortly after closing time last night from a man giving the name of the general manager of the chain stores and advising Pratt that a man named "Davis" would call later to take charge of the store. Pratt was also instructed to report at the general offices the next morning.

The mysterious Mr. Davis arrived and introduced himself to Pratt. Pratt showed him the store, but became suspicious of the "new manager" and finally decided to call the general manager at his home to verify the instructions. The general manager denied knowing anything about Mr. Davis.

As Pratt was finishing his telephone conversation he felt something prodding his back. It was the "new manager" taking charge. He started giving orders. These included orders to open the safe in a back room and hand over the money. Pratt was forced to comply.

The bandit made Pratt walk ahead out of the front door and get into his own automobile. Pratt was told to drive to Alhambra Road and Granada street, where he was ordered out of the car and told that his auto would be left "a mile down the road." Pratt walked back to his store and found his coupe in front of the building.

Peach Growers' Meeting Set for Tonight

ONTARIO, June 18. — Peach growers of Ontario-Chino district today were asked to meet at Chino tomorrow night at 8 o'clock for the purpose of estimating the tonnage anticipated this season. The Ontario-Chino peach pool constitutes most of the peaches grown in this district and recommendations made by the pool officers have considerable to do in establishing the price the growers will take for their crops from the canneries.

The pool will be reorganized and disposition of the crop will be discussed. Seasonal run of peaches in the California Co-operative Cannery, Inc., of Ontario will start about July 25, next, according to officials of the company. Canneries do not anticipate any short runs this season even though the crop in this district is light. The heavy crops in the north will provide sufficient fruit to keep the canneries running to capacity. The crop this season is estimated at 50 per cent of last year.

Although the canners of the State meeting in the north recently set a price of $30 to be paid for fruit this year, that figure may not be what the growers will receive. It may be somewhat higher, is the belief of the growers.

Councils Stage Peace Pow-wow

MONROVIA, June 18.—To settle differences arising over the proposed widening of the bridge which spans Santa Anita wash on Huntington Drive, city councils of Monrovia and Arcadia will hold a "peace pow-wow" tomorrow at 10 a.m. on the bridge, it was announced today by Mayor George Williams.

Mayor Williams further stated that the meeting between the two councils has been called in an effort to eradicate differences of opinion that have arisen between the two communities over widening of the bridge. The existing situation as pointed out by officials is that the county has allocated funds to cover the widening project. However, before this can be done, certain property in Arcadia must be condemned to relocate properly Fifth avenue, which lies at the east end of the bridge.

The Arcadia Council took the stand not long ago that Monrovia should bear half of the expense for condemnation proceedings, setting forth that both cities would equally share benefits of the improvement. However, under the regime of Mayor A. J. Little and his Council this proposition met with disfavor, officials declaring that the property was in the city limits of Arcadia that the widened bridge was more beneficial to Arcadia and that Monrovia had already taken care of its end of the bridge in the Huntington Drive improvement. With heated arguments waging on both sides, city councilmen of both cities will make an attempt to reach some decision while in joint session at the bridge tomorrow morning.

ENGINEER SEARCHES FOR RARE OLD WINE

NEWPORT BEACH, June 18.—Rare wine, buried fifty-five years ago, is being searched for by C. F. Kent, Pasadena engineer.

Back in 1875 Kent made the first survey of the California coast line and while on duty in the Corona Del Mar section, near the East Jetty of the Newport Harbor entrance, he buried three cases of wine. Yesterday he walked into the engineer's office in the City Hall and inquired about the surveyor's lines. After receiving the desired information he went in quest of the wine.

SEPULVEDA CLUB SEATS OFFICERS

SEPULVEDA, June 18.—In annual ceremonies held here Mrs. J. L. Powell was installed president of the Sepulveda Woman's Club. Other officers seated are: Mrs. H. V. Blackburn, Mrs. D. M. Dickey, Mrs. M. D. Andrews, Mrs. H. M. Fenton, Mrs. J. C. Gillogly, Mrs. Grover Will, Mrs. Berton Davis and Mrs. R. G. Larson. Mrs. Ernest Armor is the retiring president.

Accused Man Makes Effort for Freedom

SAN BERNARDINO, June 18.—W. C. Black, Riverside used-car dealer, who was held to answer to the Superior Court for trial on a charge of manslaughter, in connection with the death of Mrs. Florence Minear, who was killed instantly when struck by a hit-and-run driver, today based his hopes of freedom on a writ of habeas corpus to be filed in Superior Court as soon as the preliminary transcript is written. It is the contention of his attorneys that the State has not shown probable cause for Superior Court action in the case at the preliminary hearing held before Justice George W. Holbrook.

Black was held in jail in default of $20,000 bail, which the court refused to lower despite pleas of his attorneys.

The most damaging testimony introduced at the preliminary hearing was that of Fred Harris, 176 Eighth street, who talked with Black before the latter surrendered to police for arraignment on the charge of manslaughter. Harris told the court he had been a friend of Black for six years and said the defendant came to him Sunday following the accident for advice. He asserted that Black told him he was nervous but that Black did not directly admit driving the automobile which is alleged to have killed Mrs. Minear. Asked to repeat the conversation between himself and Black, Harris said: "I saw him about 11:30 on Sunday morning, after he called me on the telephone.

"'The police are looking for you,' I told him.

"'What for?' he asked.

"'An accident, they think you were in it.'

"'That's what I wanted to talk to you about.'

"'Did you have the accident?'

"'I had an accident; I would have stopped but I was too panicky. I had had a drink some time before and if they had smelled liquor on my breath, they would have sworn I was drunk.'"

Black has refused to comment on the charges against him. He is held in the County Jail in default of the $20,000 bail. He will deny that he was the driver who failed to stop after running down Mrs. Minear. His car, however, was found near Colton the day following the crash with one headlight smashed. He told the Riverside police that his car had been stolen on the day of the tragedy.

Young Artists to Show Work at Sierra Madre

SIERRA MADRE, June 18.—Distinguishing the Sierra Madre art colony for its juvenile talent, the summer art exhibit, which will be officially opened to the public on the 21st inst. in the auditorium of the City Hall, will feature the work of young artists.

Jean Key, 18-year-old artist, and grand-daughter of Frances Scott Key, who composed America's national anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner," is exhibiting a picture entitled "Creation," which has been acclaimed by art critics and instructors as unusually impressive for so young an artist.

Others exhibiting are Margaret Griebenow, U.C.L.A. student, who is majoring in art and who is doing some remarkably fine work in portraits and studies from life. She will display several pictures, and another coming young artist exhibiting is Jack Young, 18-year-old youth, whose originality and touch will carry him far in his work, according to Mrs. Fred Griebenow, art chairman of the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce and Woman's Club, and who is now arranging the new exhibit. Pictures of young artists from 12 to 20 years of age will make up the unusual display.

FAMILY ROW REACHES POMONA JUSTICE COURT

POMONA, June 18.—A neighborhood row, in which two Walnut families are involved, is due to be aired in Justice U. E. White's court on June 23, when Mrs. Minnie Acuna, charged with disturbing the peace on complaint of Mrs. Joe Aliso, Italian neighbor, will be given a hearing, while she has in turn filed felony complaints of arson against Joe Aliso and Santo Arocicacia, charging that they attempted to burn her house.

The litigants live close together on the Valley Boulevard near Walnut, and bad blood has been manifest between the two families for some time. According to statements of the Italians, they believe that Mrs. Acuna is a "witch," which assertion she strongly denies.

BURBANK REVIEW BUYS E. L. WHITE NEWSPAPER

MAGNOLIA PARK, June 18.—The newspaper here formerly owned by Earl L. White has been sold to the Burbank Daily Review, it is reported. The paper was published for several months as a daily and then changed to a weekly publication under the name San Fernando Valley Tribune. White is in a sanatorium following a severe sickness from nervous breakdown.

TRAGEDY AT ALHAMBRA

Husband Shoots Wife and Himself

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Peck

ALHAMBRA, June 18.—Leaving several notes, in one of which he said that he could not "bear to see his wife suffer," Arthur W. Peck, 68 years old, a retired building contractor, shot and killed his wife, Edna, 64, and then turned the gun on himself. Their bodies were found shortly after noon today in their home at 1505 Sierra Vista avenue. Both had been shot through the temple and apparently had died instantly.

Police Chief A. W. Thompson said that it was plaintly a case of murder and suicide.

The couple had been seen by neighbors about 10 o'clock this morning. Their bodies were found lying on twin beds in a room of their bungalow. That of the woman was in night clothing. Her husband was fully dressed with the exception of his coat. In one hand was clutched a .38 caliber revolver. They had evidently been dead for more than an hour when discovered by Mrs. Alvin Spoon, 1500 Sierra Vista avenue, and Mrs. Edna Ash, a nurse, who had been called to attend Mrs. Peck.

Mrs. Spoon had been asked by Peck early this morning to get a nurse for his wife, who had suffered a slight stroke of paralysis during the night. It was known that the husband had also been in poor health.

Notes found by police gave instructions for ordering the gas, water and light turned off, and for locking the house until the arrival of a daughter. A note addressed to Mrs. Zayda Blake, Sioux City, Iowa, believed to be the daughter, read as follows:

"Dear Zayda: Edna had another stroke which has changed our plans. So please do the best you can. I am leaving some money in this letter. I could not see her suffer. Put us away the cheapest you can. If it hadn't been for this stroke we wouldn't have bothered you, Father."

In the note was inclosed $106 in currency. The envelope had been addressed for mailing but the stamp had been defaced and on the envelope was scrawled: "Please turn this over to my daughter. She will be here in a few days."

The bodies of the slain couple were removed to the mortuary of Turner, Stevens & Turner, this city. No inquest will be held. Efforts are being made by police to locate relatives. Little was known of the Pecks here.

BUSINESS LEADERS PLAY BALL

Summer Season Opens in Blaze of Glory at Inglewood

INGLEWOOD, June 18.—Big league baseball, with many of the city's rotundest business men as the star players, opened here for the 1930 season last night in a blare of glory, and band music, and an attendance of 700 in the bleachers. Mayor Hugh B. Lawrence threw the first ball, which was caught by A. E. Chamberlain, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and E. S. Dixon of the high school board struck out.

And for the next six weeks the adults of Inglewood will have full sway three nights every week on the spacious diamond at the Queen street school there to lord it over the youngsters, who must relinquish the field to the older players after dark. Umpiring will be by the great Gay Van Berkaler of professional fame, and twenty-one teams will vie with one another for the season's honors. Three divisions of seven teams each will war it out within its own ranks and at the close the triumphant divisional teams will play off for the league championship.

The summer season promises to draw to the school grounds thousands of fans on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays when the merchants and lawyers and bankers and other leaders of Inglewood's business world break loose and disport themselves all over the field, perhaps reaching a base occasionally. That the onlookers last night were of an especially happy nature was evident by the nature of their response to the efforts of the players, for all over the city re-echoed their cheering, an odd sort of cheering at times that seemed to be strangely intermingled with a note of mirth and hilarity. However, the crowd was pretty polite, at that, considering everything.

MINISTER'S CHILDREN PROMPT AT SCHOOL

ONTARIO, June 18. — Miss Maude K. Harris, principal of San Antonio grammar school, today expressed a belief the record set by three children in the family of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sanchez, 712 East California Boulevard, cannot be equalled by three other children in the district for school attendance.

Even though Elizabeth, Leota and Jewel, the three little girls, live nearly three miles from school, each morning they got up in time to trudge to school on foot and for the past year were neither tardy nor absent.

HYDRANGEA PLANT PROLIFIC PRODUCER

UPLAND, June 18. — Southern California's boast that everything done in the Southland is done in a big way, is borne out strikingly at the William May home, Tenth street and First avenue. Several years ago, Mr. May planted a hydrangea in his yard. Today he announced he has finished counting the blossoms on the single plant and was surprised to find 711 blooms.

This hydrangea causes motorists to ring the May doorbell and ask about the history of the plant.

POMONANS INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

POMONA, June 18.—Mrs. A. M. Pratt, 73 years of age, of 1321 West White avenue, and Mrs. Gertrude Dodge, 51, of the same address, were brought to the Pomona Health Center today to receive treatment for injuries sustained in a crash on the Arrow Highway near Fontana, when their machine smashed into a tree at the side of the road.

Mrs. Pratt suffered painful and serious injuries to her left knee and left foot, while Mrs. Dodge suffered two broken ribs and an injured shoulder. Following first-aid treatment, they were removed to their homes.

Bobby Ogier, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Ogier, 732 East Eleventh street, received bruises on his face, arms and legs, when he was struck and knocked down by an automobile driven by Paul E. Holstrom, 30, 645 South Park avenue, today. According to Holstrom, the lad failed to observe the approach of his car due to a large truck approaching at the same time. Holstrom attempted to stop before striking the lad, but not soon enough to prevent superficial bruises.

WATER FOR SAN DIEGO

City Makes First Step to Secure Supply From Colorado River

SAN DIEGO, June 18.—With a field engineering party at work in Imperial Valley, San Diego's first step toward securing an augmented water supply from the Colorado River was taken this week, it was stated today by Hydraulic Engineer H. N. Savage, in charge of water development, upon his return from selecting a tentative route of the proposed pipe line.

The water is to be brought from the Imperial Valley canals in the vicinity of Kane Springs, where the engineers pitched their camp and have started running a line to the mountains east of Julian, where the water will be lifted over the summit and deposited in the San Diego River, the engineer stated.

The cost of this pipe line is estimated by Engineer Savage at $2,900,000. This will have a carrying capacity of 100,000,000 gallons of water daily, he said. This, to be added to development of the county's water supply would give San Diego a water supply sufficient for 2,000,000 people.

By hooking up with Imperial Valley, Engineer Savage said, there would be no need for this city to enter the Metropolitan Water District, formed by other municipalities of Southern California.

COMMANDER AT REDLANDS

Head of Disabled Veterans Stops on Way to National Meeting at New Orleans

REDLANDS, June 18.—John J. Hayes of San Francisco, State commander of the Disabled Veterans, left Redlands today for New Orleans, where he will attend the national convention. Last night there was a meeting here of all the veterans of this district and Mr. Hayes had conferences today with some of the leaders.

"There are more disabled World War veterans in California than in any other district of America," said Mr. Hayes, "while this fact presents the possibility of a greater organization than elsewhere, it also increases the problems that the organization must confront.

"Solidarity will be the secret of our success. The partial success of the Johnson-Rankin bill shows what can be done, if we increase our number, work unceasingly in the interests of the disabled men and co-operate with other veterans' organizations. The bill has passed through the Senate Finance Committee but probably will meet with a pocket veto. That need not be a permanent discouragement to us.

"We must enter the fight more determined than ever before to see that our comrades, who gave their life blood in their nation's service, shall get adequate recognition."

Mr. Hayes, accompanied by State Adjutant Charles Morrison, is leaving for New Orleans with the determination to bring the 1932 convention of the D.A.V. to Long Beach.

Frank M. Godshall, commander of Redlands post, the American Legion, advised the disabled veterans that a movement is afoot to protect the community more adequately against the operations of men and women who peddle articles and misrepresent themselves to be working in the interests of World War veterans organizations. Ordinances of other cities are being studied, he said. The proposed law also may make it easier for legitimate operators to conduct their affairs.

Tournament to be Bigger, Say Boosters

NEWPORT BEACH, June 18.—Preparations are going ahead to make the twelfth annual Tournament of Lights at Newport Bay on the evening of July 12 the biggest in the history of the Southern California water pageant. Boats and yachts ranging in size from canoes to sea-going schooners are being entered daily, according to the announcement made by W. L. Jordan, chairman of the entering committee.

With nearly all of the loving cups and prizes offered for the various classes of craft, H. L. Sherman, chairman of the committee in charge of the event, is assured of the success of the tournament. A list of the trophies will soon be completed and will be on display in the Chamber of Commerce offices.

This year, for the first time, there will be a commercial division which promises to be one of the most brilliant features of the event. Many entries have been made in this division.

The parade of illuminated boats will start at the Balboa pavilion, travel around Balboa Island, come in close to Lido Isle, and follow the shore down Newport Beach and disband at the starting point. The parade may be viewed from all points along the coast line near Costa Mesa and Corona Del Mar, as well as from the shores of the immediate city.

Special precaution is to be taken to avoid any accident in the tournament, according to Sherman, who sought the aid of Fire Chief F. W. Crocker, also the head of the life guards. Life guards in boats containing life preservers and fire-fighting apparatus will patrol the parade.

A fiesta held from July 4 to 12 will mark the Spirit of Progress denoting the completion of the work on the harbor entrance. Dredging in the harbor entrance has been finished and work is progressing rapidly on the completion of the two groins.

Engineers Work to Halt Floods in Canyon Area

TUJUNGA, June 18.—County Flood Control Engineer E. C. Eaton has submitted to the Tujunga City Council plans for a concrete conduit to carry storm waters from Haines Canyon. He states there is a balance of $82,837 remaining from the original fund of $100,000 voted in 1924 for the control of Haines Canyon waters.

Part of the money has been spent in building check dams in the canyon and a debris basin at its mouth. There are now 321 check dams in the canyon or one to each 2.63 acres of the watershed. Mr. Eaton in his report states these dams and debris basin have accomplished the purpose for which the bonds were voted and that the remainder of the money should be used to control the waters running out of the canyon's mouth.

As yet there is no defined channel running through the city. Unless further control of the waters is made, Mr. Eaton points out in his report, there is a danger of buildings being endangered, following excessive rainstorms.

Firemen Hold District Meet

ONTARIO, June 18. — Four Southern California firemen's associations will send delegates to Ontario, the evening of the 24th inst., for the purpose of making plans for two State-wide meetings of firemen scheduled during the summer months. The four groups will be from San Gabriel, Harbor, citrus belt and Orange districts.

In addition to making plans for the Southland organizations' participation in the State-wide meetings, the firemen will discuss problems of inter-relationship between the four associations of the district and formulate measures for handling advanced fire-fighting problems.

The Southland districts plan to be well represented at the convention of the State Firemen's Association in San Francisco, July 30, to August 3, next, and the Pacific Coast Fire Chiefs' Association meeting in Oakland, September 1 to 4.

Ventura Leads in Bean Crop

VENTURA, June 18.—With 52,561 acres planted in regular and baby limas, Ventura county has practically twice as much bean land this year as its closest rival in the State, Orange county.

The county acreage figure has just been released by the California Lima Bean Growers' Association, the headquarters of which are at Oxnard.

Of the total of 52,561 acres, 35,210 is irrigated regular land, 16,701 non-irrigated regular, and 650 in baby limas.

A slight decrease in the amount under cultivation from the 1929 figure is reported by the association.

ATTORNEY IS CANDIDATE

INGLEWOOD, June 18.—Attorney E. M. Mansur of this city has filed his nominating petition to run for the office of justice of the peace of Inglewood township.

New York Girls Charged With Petty Theft

HUNTINGTON PARK, June 18.—After hitch-hiking across the country from New York to California two young women, Ruth Johnson, alias Frances Sullivan, aged 20 years, and Elsie Siegfried, 22, are now in the County Jail awaiting preliminary hearing in Judge Edward H. Miller's court next Monday, on a charge of burglary, having been arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Burns and Fleming at a small cottage in an auto court here.

The officers state that they had received information that two girls were occupying the cottage and that the neighbors were somewhat suspicious of them. They went to the cottage, finding no one there at the time. Waiting a few minutes, the two women arrived. It is said that they had with them considerable packages containing glasses of jam and jelly, and bottles of near beer.

The officers accompanied them into the cottage and found a large amount of eatables, women's apparel, bedding and silverware. The officers state the two confessed to having taken the articles from residences and stores. They said they had come from New York to California and had been unable to find employment so, they turned to stealing, according to the information they gave the officers.

They had a small dog with them, which, they say, they picked up in North Carolina.

New Evidence Is Discovered

EAST HIGHLANDS, June 18.—New evidence favorable to Adam Coldwell, Negro of this city, found guilty of murdering Lorenzo Carrillo, has been discovered, it is said, and a motion for a new trial has been made by his attorney, Fred Duffy.

Coldwell was convicted for the death of Carrillo, Redlands youth, following an argument in an East Highlands pool hall several weeks ago, in which Carrillo was shot.

He was tried on a murder charge, but the jury found him guilty of manslaughter.

Attorney Duffy informed the court that he had been told by members of Coldwell's family that they could produce new evidence in favor of the defendant, which will be filed in affidavits within the next ten days. On the basis of the declarations the court continued the case until the 27th inst., at 10 a.m., when the arguments for the new trial will be heard. No objection to the continuance was offered by the State, represented by Dist.-Atty. George H. Johnson and Deputy Harold King.

Accident Causes Shower of Fruit

SANTA BARBARA, June 18.—What might appropriately be called a "fruit shower" was given in front of Hotel Miramar early this morning. Arthur C. Tetro was host for the occasion, which was impromptu, to say the least.

A truck loaded with fruit and vegetables and driven by Tetro crashed into a telephone pole in front of the hotel on the Coast Highway and scattered the fruit and vegetables for many feet.

Tetro told State Highway police that the crash occurred when he leaned forward to turn off the lights on the truck. He was not injured.

VISITS FATHERLAND

SOUTH GATE, June 18.—Henry Behrens, prominent real estate dealer, is leaving here for Bremen, Germany, Tuesday, where he was born, this to be his first trip back to his native land in thirty-eight years. With Mrs. Behrens he is leaving by railroad line for New York and from that city expects to sail on July 5 for France. He will spend several weeks sightseeing and then will go on to Germany. Mr. and Mrs. Behrens will be absent until the first of October.

HEALTH SCHOOL AT MONTEBELLO

Seven-Week Program Told at Rotary Luncheon

City and County Unite in Child Welfare Work

Mrs. Frank Gibson, Mother of Diplomat, Guest

MONTEBELLO, June 18.—Announcement of a summer health school to be held at the Eastmont school beginning July 7 and continuing in session for seven weeks was made by Walter F. Malone, who presided at the Montebello Rotary Club luncheon held at Masonic Hall today. The summer health school program is a joint project of the county health department and the Los Angeles County Tuberculosis and Health Association for the rehabilitation of physically below par children, without removing them from their home environment.

The summer health school is welcomed at Montebello as a demonstration school in child care and health habit training which will give both educators and parents an opportunity to observe practical methods of procedure, Mr. Malone stated.

PROGRESS RECOUNTED

Dr. John L. Pomeroy, County Health Officer, and Dr. Anna E. Rude, director of summer health schools and head of the bureau of maternal and child hygiene, were the speakers at the luncheon. Dr. Pomeroy pointed out that childhood is the time for the prevention of tuberculosis through the supervision of the physically below par child and that the disease is not hereditary, but develops through contact with active cases. Especially susceptive is the undernourished child, he stated.

Dr. Pomeroy cited the fact that science and education in public health have lifted the burden of infectious disease from the American people. In Los Angeles county typhoid fever, he said, had reached the vanishing point. Only one death of typhoid occurred last year in Los Angeles county and only two from diphtheria, Dr. Anna Rude spoke on the summer health school program which she said had been inaugurated by Dr. Pomeroy five years ago to meet the problem of the physically below par child. To date 2028 children have been given intensive health care in sixty-seven summer health schools conducted in twenty-seven towns in the county.

VALUE POINTED OUT

Follow-up examinations given every four months after the close of the schools revealed that 85 per cent of the children continued to make health gains. The chief importance of the summer health school, Dr. Rude pointed out, is the fact that parents, through frequent conferences at the schools with the nutrition, physiotherapy and health habit supervisors, are able to adopt the health program into the home.

Mr. Malone introduced as guests of the Montebello Rotary Club present at the luncheon, Mrs. Frank A. Gibson, mother of Hugh Gibson, Ambassador to Belgium, and herself noted as one of the five outstanding women of California, whose name is to be inscribed on a bronze tablet in the Hall of Fame at Washington, D. C., in recognition of her work in the promotion of adult education; Mayor William Cook of Montebello, Superintendent of Montebello Schools Mark Jacobs, Dr. Arthur Baker, local district health officer; Dr. P. K. Telford, head of the tuberculosis division of the county health department; Dr. L. M. Pindell, X-ray specialist; A. R. Clifton, superintendent of Monrovia schools.

Same Officers at Pomona 'Y'

POMONA, June 18.—Dr. E. E. Kelly was re-elected, as were all other officers of the Pomona Y.M.C.A. at last night's reorganization meeting of the board of directors. Others re-elected are A. L. Reeves, vice-president; W. A. Kennedy, treasurer, and Lewis L. Wright, recording secretary.

Secretaries were re-elected for the coming year as follows: R. D. Williams, general secretary; Gordon Silvey, director of physical education; Lawrence A. Handy, director of boys' work; Grant Smith, office secretary, and Miss Ethel Amis girls' and women's work secretary.

FLYER UNINJURED, PLANE IS WRECKED

POMONA, June 18.—Edward Allen, Santa Ana flyer, wrecked his plane but escaped personal injuries, when, in making a forced landing after dark last night, he overshot his mark and landed in a fence and lumber pile near the Carnation farms stables. The youth apparently was not familiar with the local Burnley and Kellogg airports, which are both lighted fields, and took his chances on landing in an open alfalfa field.

According to reports from Santa Ana, Allen was on his way from Victorville to Santa Ana and was flying alone.

RESEDA TO BE HOST TO SECRETARIES GROUP

RESEDA, June 18. — According to announcement today by William Courtney, secretary of the Reseda Chamber of Commerce, the Commercial Secretaries' Association of California will conduct its October meeting here, with the Reseda Chamber as host. More than 150 secretaries are expected to attend the gathering. Courtney has just returned from the last meeting of the association held at Catalina. While there he was able to land the October meeting for Reseda.

JOHNSON FLAYS LONDON TREATY

California Senator Speaks Over Radio Hook-up

President and Negotiators Target of Criticism

Pact Declared Surrender to Foreign Interests

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—The London naval treaty was assailed as "un-American" by Senator Johnson, Republican, of California, in a radio address tonight demanding rejection of the pact now before the Senate.

"It robs us of that which we thought by sacrifices we had obtained in 1922," asserted the Californian. "It may imperil our marvelously growing commerce, now equaling that of any nation on earth, and endanger even our national defense; and, after all the boastful utterances concerning parity, it yields us only inferiority."

COLUMBIA HOOK-UP

He spoke over a nation-wide hook-up of the Columbia Broadcasting System under the auspices of the Washington Star.

He referred pointedly to the speech in behalf of the treaty made over the same radio hook-up a week ago by Secretary Stimson. He remarked on the "angry intolerance displayed" by the "distinguished Secretary of State while indulging in platitudinous generalities and omitting detailed explanation of the treaty."

"Here is a document which its sponsors dare not permit our people to discuss; a treaty the papers and communications relating to which they refuse not only to the people, but to the Senate—a part of the treaty making power; a pact so difficult and complex that few have any adequate understanding of it and one which requires detailed and prolonged study; an international agreement which when first carefully scrutinized at home after execution abroad demanded an exchange of notes with Great Britain and Japan to clarify and explain one of its most important provisions.

"Whatever incense may be burned at the altar of internationalism; whatever hosannas of praise may be sung to peace and good will; whatever genuflections may be made to power that demands at all hazards a treaty as a demonstration of achievement and accomplishment, this document that is sought to be crammed down the throats of the American people has within it not only the germs of future misunderstanding and ill will, but, above and beyond all this, it is unjust and unfair to our country."

SEVEN OBJECTIONS

Calling attention to the objections voiced by the navy admiralty to the treaty, Senator Johnson outlined seven objections to the pact.

He said the treaty fails to reduce the burden of taxation; calls for a new building program; does not provide parity with Great Britain; increases the 5-3 ratio between America and Japan in favor of the latter country; makes no provision for adequate protection of American commerce; abandons the American naval policy for protection of commerce "in favor of designing our navy for fleet combat strength alone," and forces America to build her cruisers "according to British specifications."

Volunteer Force at Manteca Tenders Resignation to City Trustees

STOCKTON, June 18. (AP)—The Manteca volunteer fire department has mailed a letter to the City Trustees of that place stating it will not function as an organization after the 21st inst. Lack of interest among the firemen is given as the cause.

Mears Prepares for Globe Hop

ROOSEVELT FIELD (New York) June 18. (AP)—Arriving tonight from Detroit where he had his airplane overhauled, John Henry Mears, who aspires to regain the round-the-world speed record, announced he will take off Friday morning for Harbor Grace, N. F., on the first leg of his proposed globe-girdling flight.

The ship will be piloted by Fred Melchoir. They plan to fly from Harbor Grace across the North Atlantic to Valencia, Ireland.

CHURCH OF BRETHREN TAKES DRY STAND

HERSHEY (Pa.) June 18. (AP)—Resolutions urging support and enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment and the upholding of the institution of marriage in every possible manner were passed at the concluding session today of the one hundred and thirty-second annual meeting of the Church of the Brethren here. Another resolution urged press associations and newspapers to give more space to news of the temperance movement.

SILENCE VALUED HIGH IN CHICAGO

It's Issue of Life and Death in Gangster Circles

No Man Safe if He Knows Too Much About Crime

Unstable Political Situation Blamed by Official

(This is the fifth of a series of six articles in which Edwin Balmer, famous novelist, short-story writer, reporter and editor of a national periodical, is describing the crisis confronting Chicago and perhaps the nation in the gang warfare which has reached a climax in the killing of Alfred Lingle, newspaper reporter. Mr. Balmer is a native Chicagoan.)

BY EDWIN BALMER

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

CHICAGO, June 18. (Exclusive)—I have come from the company of a man whose exact situation I dare not closely describe; much less may I mention his name. He is in trouble enough and more recently he had the tragic misfortune to encounter a certain set of gangsters and to antagonize them. This became known to some people, and though this man is in perfect health and morally and physically an excellent life insurance "risk," life insurance is refused him by the company with which he deals in Chicago.

The company, you see, is aware of the incident which angered the gang, and the company also is well aware of the general situation in Chicago.

Being in business to make money, the company is unable to predict a favorable "expectancy" of continued existence for one with whom the "big rods" have been actively displeased.

CAUSE SOUGHT

As I write, investigators are scanning Alfred Lingle's bank deposits and withdrawals and other personal papers in the hope of learning in what way this reporter might have given offense to the powers that really enforce their will in Chicago.

The offense which brought his death might have been something that would seem to ordinary citizens a minor matter. Gangsters make their appraisal of injuries and fix their punishments for them according to a schedule all their own.

The "double-cross" and the "squawk" are two matters never forgiven by the gangsters. The doomed person may have no intention of squealing. If he has, perhaps by mere accident, "dropped wise" to something he should not know, there is simply no sense in taking chances, according to the gangsters' code. He is slipped "the bump."

SILENCE VITAL

Silence is not only golden to the gangster; it is put completely above price alike in life and at the moment of death.

"Who shot you?"

"Nobody."

It is the categorical answer with even the last breath. The St. Valentine's Day massacre was almost over. Of the seven men who had been faced to the wall and machine-gunned through the back while they stood in a row, the souls of six had gone to whatever reward awaited them. The seventh man lay riddled with bullets, but the machine gun—"the chopper"—had not instantly killed him.

Some one stopped beside the man yet breathing:

"Who did it?"

EXECUTIONERS KNOWN

The dying man could not have feared that he could be called to any worldly accounting, and there is small doubt that he must have seen and known some, at least, of the executioners before he was faced to the wall.

It was a moment when a victim, controlled by any normal feeling, must have named his murderers. There is some disagreement on what he did say with the last breath in him, but there is no doubt of this: He named no one.

"Who shot you?"

"Nobody."

In one phrase or another this is always the answer.

To be sure, Moran—whose "mob" it was that died thus together—has been quoted in reference to his slaughter of seven: "Only the Capone gang kills like that." But Moran, if he said it, must have been perfectly sure that the remark was innocuous and that it could not contribute to police action.

ONE MAN HOLDS SECRET

I am told upon good authority that the mystery of that especial massacre can be cleared up any time that a certain man who holds the fatal information decides it is his duty to die in the interest of public order; for he knows that there is no chance of his surviving the accusation he must make. Indeed, he probably would not live a day longer if certain gentlemen of the gun were aware of the identity of him who holds the information.

That is life in Chicago, and it explains why, so often and so violently, life changes to death. The fact that there is a new Commissioner of Police and also a new commissioner of detectives fails strangely to make that man feel safer; as it fails, also, to cause the life insurance company to revise its estimate of the days which may be left to my friend first mentioned.

The gang when dealing with matters not essential may postpone for a while the merely optional killings, but never will it tamper or temporize with its own safety.

So the police "shake-up" may immediately improve conditions, at least apparently; on the other hand, it may make them worse.

THEORY OFFERED

Henry Barrett Chamberlin, executive director of the Chicago crime commission, who has devoted the last eleven years to a thorough study of crime in Chicago, has a most interesting and illuminating explanation why criminal violence is so common in this city.

It is a reflection, really, he says, of the unstable political situation in Chicago, because there is too close a balance of power between the two political parties and also the factions in each party.

To see this as he does, compare the Chicago situation with New York City. Anyone who knows well the two cities will agree with me that, at least as regards liquor, New York is far more wide open than Chicago.

For the last year I have lived in New York; previously I lived and did magazine and newspaper work in Chicago, and for nearly three years, up to last fall, I was in the somewhat unusual situation of having an office in both cities and I divided my time between them.

DRYER THAN WASHINGTON

I am, therefore, familiar with ordinary conditions in both, and I have not in years seen liquor as freely and openly dispensed and served in Chicago as it is in New York. Indeed, I think that Chicago is dryer than Washington—though I am judging that only from two visits to our capital city.

The chief reason for this highly disproportionate amount of murder and massacre that accompanies the liquor traffic in Chicago is this:

In New York City the Democratic party is strongly intrenched and is practically always in power. More than that, the dominating element of the Democratic party is seldom seriously challenged. Therefore, the groups and the gangs that, under the prohibition amendment are doing business illegally in New York City, have to arrange for tolerance of them chiefly with one set of men, and when once arranged, this tolerance can be counted upon to continue for some time.

CHICAGO DIFFERENT

In Chicago it is entirely different. The Republican party is now in power, the previous administration was Democratic and the Democrats constantly threaten to throw the Republicans out and vice versa. More than this, the present party in power is split into factions which war for ascendancy with the ultra bitterness of factional feud. The gangsters have no stable situation with which to make their bargain.

Some believe in the future of one faction and adhere to that; others hire out or buy into another faction. Some of the "wisest guys," of course, make friends with all; but it is not the wise ones who do the most murders.

The consequence of all this is a fatal confusion, and fatal, in this case, is no figurative expression. For it turns out that one gang feels it has arranged for "rights" in a certain district only to encounter there another gang operating on the same streets under another "franchise."

FAIR WORDS MAY PREVAIL

"When wolf meets with wolf in the jungle," wrote Rudyard Kipling, recording the old wolves' admonitions for the preservation of the pack, "and neither will go from the trail, lie down till the leaders have spoken. It may be fair words will prevail."

Frequently they do. Recall the oft-advertised "peace pacts" between the Capone and Moran "mobs" and others. But frequently they don't, and then it is said with machine guns.

This observation, for which I am indebted to Mr. Chamberlin, at least partly explains the notorious predominance of sudden death in Chicago.

It contributes partly but in less degree to violent murders in the "rackets" other than liquor in which Chicago certainly seems to lead the world. There is no exaggeration about these; they have been underrepresented in the sensational stories about them.

DAWES STRONG FOR CHICAGO

Defense for City? No Sirree! What Do We Care About Knocks?

CHICAGO, June 18. (AP)—Ambassador Dawes came home today and with Hell'n Maria waves of his upside-down pipe commented tersely on various subjects.

About Chicago: "Chicago doesn't need any defense. What the hell is the difference what people say about it? Chicago will go right on being a great city for centuries."

About the Century of Progress Exposition, for which he returned from London: "Just watch it grow."

FRUIT FLY WAR SURVEY STARTS

Check-up on Infestation in Florida to be Made

Inspections Discontinued for Lack of Funds

Force of 410 Workers Now Will Examine Areas

ORLANDO (Fla.) June 18. (Exclusive)—The United States Department of Agriculture co-operating with the Florida State Plant Board has thrown a force of 410 inspectors into the field to determine whether Mediterranean fruit fly infestations exist at present and if so to what extent.

The situation cannot be determined for some days. The last recorded case of infestation was found on March 4, a small one in the vicinity of Orlando.

FUNDS EXHAUSTED

Inspection was discontinued March 26 when Federal funds were exhausted. Road and baggage inspection for the interim was maintained by the State of Florida from a $500,000 fund made available by the 1929 Legislature. Inspectors were replaced on the Federal payroll in June in accordance with an understanding with the Department of Agriculture to assume the burden of operations. A force of 350 inspectors are making an intensive check in the eradication area embracing approximately 15,000 square miles. Sixty inspectors are working outside the area in the peninsula, ranging from Jacksonville to Miami, and west to the gulf.

HOST FRUIT DESTROYED

A clean-up move initiated by the Mayor of Orlando and the Orlando Sentinel and made State-wide by Gov. Carlton on April 17 destroyed much host food in groves and gardens.

Lower average temperatures prevailing in March, April and May have proved a favorable factor, according to prominent State officials. No flies have been found by citrus growers, and some popular feeling exists that the pest has been reduced to a harmless minimum or eradicated. Some citizens insist that the Department of Agriculture give Florida a clean bill of health. A majority appear content to leave conclusions up to the department and the State Plant Board.

RESULTS GRATIFYING

Federal and State authorities on the ground express themselves as gratified at the results achieved in the past few months and declare that the greatest danger lies in overlooking small isolation infestations somewhere in the 35,000 square miles of territory. Such possible foci, they declare, propagating under favorable conditions next spring and early summer might gain such headway that a repetition of April and May, 1929, might possibly eventuate.

Developments since the abandonment of government inspection on March 26 will not be known here for some time; but the consensus of entomologists and scientists, generally, is that it would prove little short of miraculous if the eradication to date has proved 100 per cent efficient. The degree of success, they assert, can only be determined within reasonable limits when field reports are all in.

CHIVALROUS ANGELENO ENDS LIFE

War Veteran Refuses to Borrow Money From Two Women Companions

ABILENE (Tex.) June 18. (AP)—Without funds and too chivalrous to borrow from womeff traveling companions was the motive accepted by police today for the suicide yesterday near here of Walter P. Patmore, Los Angeles World War veteran.

Patmore and Mrs. Buryl Polley and her daughter, also of Los Angeles, traveled together from California to Oklahoma City, where Mrs. Polley met her husband. After a visit Polley left for the East on a business trip and Patmore departed with the women in a car for the return journey to California, police said. Patmore attempted to leave the party in Dallas, saying he desired to visit his mother in Quebec, Can.

Urged by the women to continue the trip, he came here with them Monday night. When they were unable to find Patmore Tuesday morning Mrs. Polley and her daughter believed he had gone to his mother and left by bus for their home. They were stopped at Pecos and returned after Patmore's body was found in a pasture near here. He had been shot through the temple with a .22-caliber pistol.

Attendants at a garage said Patmore paid his last 50 cents for storage on his automobile.

GANGSTER'S NAME LINKED TO LINGLE'S

CHICAGO, June 18. (Exclusive)—Anthony (Red) Kissane, known as a gangster, was convicted tonight in Judge Trude's court on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Policeman William Drury, who arrested Kissane November 11, 1929, brought the name of Alfred (Jake) Lingle, slain crime reporter of the Chicago Tribune, into the case in his testimony. He said that at the time of the arrest Kissane said he was working for Lingle. Kissane did not state, according to Drury, in what capacity he was employed by Lingle. Kissane faces one year in the County Jail, a fine up to $300 or both.

BOLIVIAN UPRISING BELITTLED

Insurgents, However, Have Made Some Advances and Seized Rail Equipment

LA PAZ (Bolivia) June 18. (AP)—The Bolivian Minister of the Interior, Col. Toro, declared today the insurgent movement in Southern Bolivia led by Roberto Hinojosa, Communist leader, is "without any importance whatsoever."

At the same time he admitted the Communists had advanced from their base at Villazon to the village of Mojo, several miles inland, but said they later had returned to Villazon. The Communists yesterday captured Villazon, a railway station close to the Argentine frontier.

The Minister of the Interior made light of Communist agitation within the country.

At Mojo, Hinojosa's followers seized a railway locomotive and several freight cars and wounded the station master. Col. Toro asserted eleven of Hinojosa's men had failed to return to Villazon. He does not know whether they have deserted the movement or gone on to spread it.

Hinojosa has been proclaimed provisional President by his followers, who issued a manifesto disavowing the Cabinet and Vice-President Abdon Saavedra, exiled in Buenos Aires.

Ex-School Head Freed on Bond

SACRAMENTO, June 18. (AP)—A. E. Armistead, 38 years of age, former principal of the Sutterville Heights school, today is at liberty on $5000 bond following his arrest last night on a charge of lewd conduct preferred by three girl pupils.

Dist.-Atty. McAllister, who investigated, issued the complaint against Armistead.

BLAST OF DYNAMITE TAKES THREE LIVES

HUNTSVILLE (Tex.) June 18. (AP) A blast of dynamite set off by employees of the Texas Company killed three persons near here today. The dead are Claudia Cadenski, 21 years of age; Ruby Cadenski, 18, and Jack Cadenski, 12. The three accompanied by their father, Jim Cadenski, were returning through a field to their farm home when the blast occurred.

AIR TEST NEARS FOR HELICOPTER

New Curtis-Bleecker Craft to be Given Trial

Years Spent by Inventor in Perfecting Device

Revolving Wings Feature of Latest Apparatus

VALLEY STREAM (L. I.) June 18. (Exclusive)—The first public exhibition of the Curtiss-Bleecker helicopter, which has been under development for four years, was made at the Curtiss-Wright Airport in Valley Stream today. A flying test will be made shortly.

Although helicopters have risen from the ground and flown they have proved nothing more than scientific toys up to the present time.

COSTLY EXPERIMENTS

Nevertheless, because of the importance of the helicopter the Curtiss-Wright organization did not hesitate to spend thousands of dollars when examination of the Bleecker principles seemed to assure success.

M. B. Bleecker, inventor of the helicopter, has been developing his machine for four years at the Garden City plant of the Curtiss Company. Prior to that period Bleecker experimented with his design during studies at the University of Michigan and while employed at Langley Field in the engineering department of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

The true helicopter is a flying machine which lifts itself vertically off the ground, hovers indefinitely over a given spot or flies in any direction at will, and descends to a safe landing without forward motion, whether the engine is running or not. No helicopter has ever satisfactorily combined all these performances to a degree that makes for a practical flying machine.

HOW IT IS BUILT

The Curtiss-Bleecker machine consists essentially of four large wings or blades mounted at right angles to one another and revolving in a horizontal plane. The wings are caused to revolve by propellers, one to each wing. The propellers are driven through a gear and shaft arrangement from one central motor. It is mounted horizontally in the center of the four wings. To each of the wings are attached outrigger booms, mounting small elevators or tail surfaces. Thus, each unit is really a small airplane, consisting of a power-driven wing with a tail which can control the angle of incidence of the wing at any point.

Beneath the four wings is suspended a small fuselage in which is located the crew and which is equipped with a fairly conventional type of landing gear.

D.A.R. Attorney Asserts Communists Could Seize Control During War

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—The belief that it would be possible for Communists to overthrow the American government during a war or a depression period was expressed today before the special House committee investigating Communists by H. Ralph Burton, general counsel of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The witness said, however, he believed the "people would wake up" and added the Communists would not be able to maintain control.

Burton and Walter S. Steel of Washington, general manager of the magazine National Republic, were witnesses during opening hearings. The committee heard a Commerce Department expert discuss importations of anthracite coal from Russia in a closed session.

Steel said there are more than 2,000,000 Communists in this country. He explained his organization had conducted a five-year investigation into the activities of Communists in America.

Rockefeller Donation Makes Up $1,000,000 Total

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) June 18. (Exclusive)—Yale has received gifts amounting to $23,405,743.35 during the last year, President James Rowland Angell told alumni gathered for the university's 229th commencement exercises here today.

Among the larger gifts was one of $7,500,000 from the estate of John W. Sterling of the class of 1864, a New York lawyer, who bequeathed his fortune to his university. This latest sum will be used for new buildings and for additional professorships. It brings the total received by Yale from the Sterling fund to a bit more than $22,000,000.

NEXT LARGEST

The next largest amount is a $5,000,000 gift by Edward S. Harkness, '97, which is his initial gift to enable the university to inaugurate its presidential quadrangle plan. Mr. Harkness has offered large sums to both Yale and Harvard for building under the "house plan," and with this present gift the former expects to start work on two new quadrangles during the coming summer.

Another member of the class of 1897, Francis P. Garvan of New York, has given his university his collection of early Americana. President Angell described it as a gift of "supreme importance, not only to Yale, but to the entire country," and he said that Mr. Garvan also expected to organize at Yale an Institute of American Arts and Crafts. To do this he will establish the Mabel Garvan Foundation in honor of his wife.

ROCKEFELLER GIFT

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was announced as having given $750,000 for the endowment of the divinity school. President Angell explained that sometime ago he anonymously offered $1,000,000 on a contingent pledge. He gave the first $250,000 at that time, and now that the contingency has been met, is giving the remainder.

President Angell also announced that Mrs. Payne Whitney, her daughter, Mrs. Charles Shipmen Bayson, and her son, John Hay Whitney, '26, has promised the university enough funds for a new gymnasium.

Liquor Law's Change Urged

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—Exclusive power for regulating intoxicating liquors would be vested in Congress under a resolution introduced by Representative Michaelson, Republican, Illinois, today to direct the Judiciary Committee to submit to the House a proposal to amend the Eighteenth Amendment.

Describing himself as neither wet nor dry, the Illinois member, who was indicted and later freed on a liquor charge in Florida more than a year ago, said he had concluded the people hold the Eighteenth Amendment and dry laws "responsible for much of the graft, corruption and crime which have become general."

Nebraska Loses Representative

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—Nebraska, reporting a 1930 population of 1,386,619, a gain of 6.9 per cent, apparently verified Congressional committee predictions that she will lose one of her six Representatives in Congress.

TWO BOX-CAR LOADS OF LIQUOR CONFISCATED

OCALA (Fla.) June 18. (AP)—Two railroad box-car loads of liquor, hidden behind bales of moss and valued by officers at $170,524 at wholesale bootleg prices, were seized and destroyed by Federal prohibition agents here today.

GIFFEN APPEALS FOR MEN

Intensive Grape Sign-up Campaign in Fresno Area Held Essential to Success of Loan Plan

FRESNO, June 18.—Appealing for more man power to expedite solicitation of growers for contracts in the movement to sign up 85 per cent of the State's grape and raisin production to the Federal Farm Board's industry-stabilization program, Wylie M. Giffen, chairman of the campaign committee, today addressed the Realty Board here.

Giffen's appeal came upon the heels of a meeting last night at which approximately seventy-five more contract solicitors for the Fresno county campaign were enlisted from among local business concerns.

With approximately one-third of the State's 600,000 acres of vineyards within its boundaries, Fresno county is considered the center of the campaign, and efforts to enroll the growers of this community are being concentrated and intensified.

Unless success attends the effort to enroll a large majority of this county's growers, there is little hope of making the campaign a success, with the result that the grape industry will be denied the assistance of the Farm Board in placing itself on a basis of stabilized prosperity, leaders of the movement assert.

While the drive leaders and the new volunteer workers were laying plans for reaching every possible grower with a contract, a committee of grower-shippers was in session promulgating the machinery for a new co-operative organization, designed to handle a minimum of 7500 cars of fresh grapes.

Preliminary steps toward organization of this group, to be known as the San Joaquin Valley Grower-Shipper Association, were taken late yesterday, when the following committee was appointed to complete organization plans and draft by-laws: M. J. Kelly, Turlock, and Laclus Powers, Aram Saroyan, Stuart K. Thomas, and Julius Altman, all of Fresno.

The committee was in session today with Roy M. Pike of Vernalis, vice-chairman of the California Grape Control Board, Ltd., to consummate organization plans. The co-operative will cover the area between Stockton and the Tehachapi, and will handle only fresh grapes, provided contracts can be obtained for the movement of 100,000 tons.

NEW GROUP AT WORK IN VISALIA DISTRICT

VISALIA, June 18.—The campaign for the sign-up under the Federal grape-control plan has been resumed in this district with renewed vigor, with a new committee taking the field under the leadership of Andrew J. Schroepfer. The new committeemen are Harry Keener, Ralph Wise, T. Wayne Switzer, S. C. VanLoan, A. C. Grim, H. C. Locey, Dr. W. L. Edwards, A. J. Denend, Jacob Mueller, Harry Spalding and B. I. Hesse.

The territory has been divided with each committeeman charged with covering a particular district.

AND ACTIVITIES AT LOS ANGELES HARBOR

FRENCH LINE TO DOUBLE SERVICE

Fortnightly Schedule Set to Start in September

Six New Combination Vessels Preparing for Run

Plans Announced by Skipper of Liner Oregon

BY WALDO DRAKE

French Line's monthly passenger and freight service from Le Havre to the Pacific Coast will be increased to fortnightly frequency next September as the six new sixteen-knot combination freight and passenger steamers enter the trade, it was announced yesterday by Capt. Jules Duchesne. Capt. Duchesne, bringing the French liner Oregon in yesterday on her second voyage worked out details of the augmented express service in Paris with Maurice Tillier, president of the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique, (French Line,) just prior to his departure for this port.

The new schedule will be inaugurated with the departure from Le Havre in late September of the new steamer San Antonio. She will be followed in service by her sister ships, the San Diego, San Francisco, San Jose, San Mateo and San Pedro, which will operate in the service on alternate sailings with the five French liners already in the trade, including the Oregon, Wyoming, Wisconsin, Washington and Winnipeg. First-cabin passenger accommodations on the Oregon, Wyoming, Washington and Wisconsin will be increased from thirty-eight to sixty persons, while the new San Antonio class ships will each carry twelve passengers in addition to 9000 tons of refrigerated and regular cargo. The Winnipeg, ex-Jacques Cartier, will continue to carry 103 first-cabin passengers.

Unexpected development of new passenger business since the service was inaugurated last December by the Oregon has necessitated increase of accommodations on all ships, said Capt. Duchesne. The French Line will also take off its present fleet of ten-knot freighters in European-Pacific trade that a uniformly fast schedule may be maintained.

PLANS FOR TUG TYPE PILOT BOAT APPROVED

The Board of Harbor Commissioners yesterday increased the appropriation for construction of a new pilot boat from $25,000 to $47,000, when Harbor Engineer George F. Nicholson appeared at the weekly meeting with construction plans for a fifty-nine-foot Diesel craft of tug type.

It was explained that the desired facilities and accommodations could not be contained in the small craft possible under the original authorization.

Christenson-Hammond Line will this week move its local terminal from Berth 188, in the Wilmington area, to Berth 158, at Pier A, it was announced yesterday by George T. Darragh, acting general agent. Steady increase in freight trade since the nine-ship coastwise service was established nine months ago necessitated the move, said Mr. Darragh.

On her voyage of delivery from the Mersey, Canadian National Steamships' new three-stacker Prince Henry arrived early yesterday and sailed at 10 o'clock last night for Victoria, where she will enter Inland Passage passenger trade, after loading bunkers and stores. Her master, Capt. J. W. Gilbert, was relieved here by Capt. Daniel Donald, that Capt. Gilbert might return to Liverpool to bring out her sister ship, the Prince David. B. C. Keeley, Pacific Coast manager of Canadian National Steamships, was here to meet her and sailed for home last night on board the Prince Henry.

Standard Dredging Company, with a tender of $71,640, was low among four bidders yesterday for the Fish Harbor dredging project. Of the four bids opened by the Harbor Commission the highest was $77,000.

The Norwegian motor ship Brand, second ship to sail in Swayne & Hoyt's new North Pacific-Australia Line, got away for the Antipodes last night with 2500 tons of California products aboard, including case oil, machinery and canned goods. Another important case oil shipment, 62,500 cases of kerosene, will go out to New Zealand today aboard the Union Line steamer Hauraki.

Increase of the harbor department's annual contribution to meet bond requirements from $1,400,000 to $1,891,000 was announced yesterday by Walter B. Allen, chairman of the Board of Harbor Commissioners, in a letter to Mayor Porter. On account of the heavy requirements for additional port facilities Mr. Allen said, material sacrifices were necessary to meet the year's bond requirements in full.

On her final voyage under the American flag the little motorship Camina yesterday brought in 43,000 stems of bananas from the United Fruit Company's plantations at Tomato Bay, Mexico. She will go to the Craig shipyards at Long Beach today for overhaul and inspection preparatory to having her registry changed to Panaman, and will sail Saturday again for Tomato Bay.

Panama-Mail Line's intercoastal steamer Guatemala is due from New York via Central American ports this afternoon with 130 cabin passengers and 3000 tons of freight. Among her passengers is Prof. C. C. Marden, professor of modern languages at Princeton University, here for a series of lectures at Pacific Coast universities this summer.

Bringing 356 passengers, one of her biggest lists of the season, the Lassco flagship City of Los Angeles is due from Honolulu tomorrow morning. In her freight holds she has for local discharge refined and liquid sugar, bagasse, coffee and canned pineapples.

GOLDEN STATE INCOME HIGHER

Dairy Company Earned $2.30 in Fiscal Year

Profits Up 40 Per Cent Over Previous Period

Mergers Along Coast Chief Feature of Progress

Consolidated net profits of the Golden State Milk Products Company and subsidiaries for the fiscal year closed February 28, last, amounted to $1,063,313, after all charges, including depreciation and Federal income tax reserve, equivalent to $2.30 a share on 461,025 shares of capital stock outstanding at the end of the period, according to a statement issued yesterday by the company.

This compares with net profits of $757,576 reported, after all charges for the preceding year, which were equivalent to $1.74 a share on 435,052 shares then outstanding, and represents an increase of $304,737, or more than 40 per cent.

SHARES INCREASED

Net earnings for the period just ended, based on the average number of shares outstanding during the year are equivalent to $2.43 cents a share. As of March 1, last, the company issued 11,037 additional shares, bringing the total amount outstanding to 472,062. Upon this basis the net profits are equivalent to $2.25 a share.

Net sales for the past fiscal year aggregated $34,249,414. This compares with $28,763,239 reported for the preceding period and represents a gain of $4,567,181, or more than 15 per cent.

Consolidated net profits for March and April amounted to $219,000, after all charges, against $173,000 in the same two months last year, an increase of $46,000, or 26.7 per cent.

At the annual meeting of stockholders held yesterday in San Francisco, O. B. Wyman was elected to the directorate.

MERGERS PLENTIFUL

During the past year Golden State Milk Products has figured in more than twenty mergers, many of which were in Southern California. Included in the list of subsidiaries are Jersey Farm Dairy, Los Angeles Creamery, Hughes Ice Cream, Gold Medal Creamery, Calla Lily Creamery, Riverside Dairy, West Coast Dairy, Liberty Dairy, Home Dairy and numerous others throughout California.

"Stock of the company, which is listed on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, has been distributed principally among its many customers, the latter in some cases receiving privileges of subscription through installment payment plans and at prices below the market.

COOPER TO LEAVE FOR EUROPEAN TRIP

John T. Cooper, vice-president Security-First National Bank, and his family left last night for a three months' European trip, which includes Russia in its itinerary. The party will spend a few days in New York before sailing on the S.S. Bremen for Bremerhaven, Germany. They will make a brief tour of the Scandinavian countries on their way to Russia.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—An opening advance in cotton today prompted by relatively steady Liverpool cables and reassuring sentiment based on the extent of recent declines was followed by renewed weakness under further liquidation and scattered selling.

This appeared to be prompted by the effect of some unfavorable features in the weekly weather report to bring in more buying and the action of the grain and stock markets. Prices made low records for the season on all positions with the active months selling about 15 to 20 points net lower. The market was quieter, but within 5 or 6 points of the lowest around 9 o'clock.

OUTPUT OF GASOLINE CUT URGED

"Lamp" Editor Points to Need of Curtailment in Refinery Runs

NEW YORK, June 18.—Refineries will have to reduce crude oil runs if further additions of gasoline to storage this year are to be prevented, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey states in its current issue of The Lamp.

The company commends the report of the committee on petroleum economics made to the Federal Oil Conservation Board, issued last April which laid out a program for the entire industry. This report set the daily average run of 2,634,000 barrels of crude oil by refineries over the entire year as sufficient to meet the demand for finished products, taking into consideration the advisability of making a draft of 5,000,000 barrels upon gasoline in storage.

"For the first five months," the company states, "refiners averaged 2,635,000 barrels a day. It follows that they will have to restrict runs to 2,617,000 barrels daily for the last seven months of the year or again pay penalty of a further addition to the already straining storage tanks."

On May 31, last, refineries were running at a rate of approximately 2,679,000 barrels a day. Refinery activity normally speeds up to a marked extent during the latter half of the year and unless a marked change takes place the last seven months will show an even greater excess run than the figures for the end of May.

Mexico Silver Output Cut Due

MEXICO CITY, June 18. (AP)—Several of the principal silver mining groups today were considering suspension of half a dozen mines because of sagging prices. About 2000 miners would be laid off.

The Real Del Monte mine proposes to reduce its force by 500 men, the San Rafael y Anexas seeks to drop 430, while the Minera de Panuchio and Nazareno y Catasillas propose total suspension.

UTILITIES ENLARGE KENTUCKY HOLDINGS

American Utilities and General Corporation, Moody-Seagraves Company and Hope Engineering Company have added more than 400,000 acres to their holdings in Eastern Kentucky gas fields, increasing their total holdings there to more than 934,000 acres, according to an announcement yesterday. This acreage with proved gas reserves of 425,000,000,000 cubic feet constitutes one of the largest blocks of gas reserves east of the Mississippi, it was stated.

RIO GRANDE NEWS AWAITED

Announcement of Sinclair Trade May Follow Visit of Jones to New York; Other Units Mentioned

BY EARLE E. CROWE

With Charles S. Jones, vice-president and treasurer of the Rio Grande Oil Company, now in New York City formal announcement of the combination with Sinclair Consolidated is expected any day. It is generally understood here that terms were fixed several weeks ago, but actual completion of the trade has awaited final checking of the Rio Grande financial and physical condition.

Acquisition of Rio Grande, moreover, may be only the first step in Sinclair's contemplated expansion to the Pacific Coast. Some credence is given to the revived rumor of a Sinclair-Richfield trade, which has been reported under tentative discussion at different times.

RUNNING START SOUGHT

Sinclair, it is believed, would like to enter the Pacific Coast field as a major factor in the marketing business, rather than wage an uphill battle to build gasoline gallonage. With only the Rio Grande marketing system, Sinclair would count as a minor influence in the Coast gasoline market, but with the Richfield business also in its possession the eastern company would not have to accept a handicap from anybody.

The Rio Grande-Sinclair combination was virtually dropped several months ago after Harry F. Sinclair, chairman, had visited the properties and submitted an offer. The Rio Grande management was understood to have declined this offer, and later entered into negotiations with a banking group for the underwriting of a debenture bond issue.

Nothing was ever concluded on the new financing, which would have committed Rio Grande to an independent career for the time being. Resumption of the Sinclair negotiations undoubtedly killed the financing plans, but if the deal is concluded there is the possibility that the Sinclair company itself may enter the bond market.

Bancamerica-Blair Corporation, the banking-house sponsoring the Sinclair picture, is understood to have figured actively in the Rio Grande negotiations and would probably handle any new financing arising out of a consolidation.

TIDE WATER FIGURES

Connection of Bancamerica-Blair with the Sinclair plans also raises the point of Tide Water Associated appearing in the set-up along with Rio Grande. If a satisfactory Richfield deal is impossible, the bankers who are also interested in Tide Water Associated might be expected to work out a trade to include this company in the Sinclair program.

Tide Water Associated, with the Pacific Coast operations of the Associated Oil Company, would fit in nicely with the Rio Grande nucleus. The Associated gasoline business is ranked among the leaders in volume, although the marketing policy is not as aggressive as other ranking marketers.

Sponsored by the Bancamerica-Blair and associated interests, the initial step in the Sinclair expansion contemplates merger with Prairie Oil and Gas and Prairie Pipe Line. Conclusion of this transaction has been delayed by negotiations for the right entry into the Pacific Coast field.

Copper Points Up After New Downward Dip

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Domestic copper touched 11½ cents a pound delivered today, but before the business of the day was closed the price rebounded to 11 3-4 cents, the level at which the metal sold yesterday.

Early in the day some custom smelters sold a fair tonnage of copper at 11½ cents delivered and by midafternoon all of the large domestic consumers were reported bidding for future copper at that level. They were unable to obtain the metal at that figure, however, and late in the afternoon one custom smelter sold 2,000,000 pounds at 11 3-4 cents delivered.

Export copper remained unchanged at 12.30 cents c.i.f. European base ports.

PACIFIC MUTUAL PRAISED

National Examination Brings Forth Favorable Comment on Condition and Executive Direction

Concluding the regular triennial examination of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California, which was made by a committee of States appointed by the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners and comprising California, Tennessee and Washington, the examiners submitted a complimentary report of which excerpts of general interest were made public yesterday by George I. Cochran, president of the company.

"As disclosed by this examination, the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California is in excellent financial condition," the seventy-page report states. "The interests of its policy-holders are adequately protected by the company's reserves, capital and surplus. The company has enjoyed a healthy growth, and by the high character of its investments, and its abstinence from investing in speculative securities, has clearly demonstrated its title to be ranked among the most conservatively managed financial institutions of its class."

REPORT EXHAUSTIVE

The examination dealt with the condition of the company at the close of business on December 31, last, and covered the three-year period since the previous examination. The examiners spent several months in the home office of the company, making exhaustive investigations in respect to the treatment of policyholders and examining and verifying all of the company's securities and checking the 1929 annual statement.

The report notes that the market value of the home office property exceeds the book value by $4,129,019.51, which the examiners disregarded in the preparation of the financial statement in accordance with the expressed wishes of the company which does not claim any such excess in its own statement. Mr. Cochran pointed out that this meant the company, if it were to claim as an asset the true value of this property, the unassigned surplus would be increased by $4,129,019.51.

DELINQUENCIES MINUS

Referring to the high quality of the company's mortgage loans which represent 49.7 per cent of its total assets, the examiners state that the most significant fact is the complete absence of delinquent interest as of December 31, last. "This is merely a striking illustration of the uniformly successful administration of the company's loans and the same considerations apply also to the loans secured collaterally by stocks and bonds," the report adds. Collateral loans represent 5.1 per cent of the assets.

The market value of the company's bonds which represent 18.7 per cent of the total assets exceeds the book value by $79,800.16, indicating that the company could properly increase its unassigned surplus by that amount, according to the report.

The present system of restaurants operated by this company consists of about 114 units, half of which are located in the city of New York, with the balance in the larger cities in other parts of the United States and Canada. In March, 1929, a change in management took place, said to be due to declining earnings.

Net income for the first quarter of 1930 amounted to $377,232, or 80 cents per share on the common stock, compared with $160,016, or 20 cents per share in 1929. Full year 1929 statement showed earnings of $1,277,138, compared with a deficit of $54,630 in 1928. Balance sheet dated December 31, 1929, showed current assets of $3,308,539, of which $2,486,539 was in cash, marketable securities and call loans. Current liabilities amounted to $1,717,204.

New Financing of Utility on Market Today

Public offering of a new issue of $7,500,000 Central Arizona Light and Power Company first mortgage 5 per cent bonds due 1960 will be made today by a syndicate composed of the Security-First National Company, Harris Trust and Savings Bank and E. H. Rollins & Sons. The bonds are priced at 96 1-4 to yield approximately 5.25 per cent.

The utility is controled through common stock ownership by American Power and Light Company. Net earnings of the Central Arizona Light and Power Company for the twelve months ended April 30, last, are reported at $1,298,917, equal to three and one-quarter times the annual interest requirements on the company's new first mortgage bonds, which will represent the only funded debt outstanding upon completion of the present financing.

S. W. Straus & Co. yesterday announced that an issue of $800,000 first mortgage leasehold 6½ per cent sinking fund gold bonds on the Bank of Hollywood Building was oversubscribed within twenty days, indicating the continued activity in the California bond market.

Safe Deposit Group to Meet

National Safe Deposit Association will hold its 1932 convention in Los Angeles, Robert A. Forsyth of the Security-First National Bank and president of the California State Safe Deposit Association, announced yesterday upon his return from the national association's convention in Boston. Mr. Forsyth went east bearing invitations from Mayor Porter, John C. Austin, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Henry M. Robinson, president of the Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association, to the association asking it to come to Los Angeles during the Olympic year. The invitation was unanimously accepted. The 1931 convention will be held in Chicago.

Granby Mining Cuts Dividend

NEW YORK, June 18.—Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Power Company today declared a quarterly capital distribution of 75 cents, placing the stock on a $3 annual basis as against $7 previously paid. The dividend is payable August 1 to stock of record July 18.

United Verde Extension Mining Company declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents, placing the stock on a $2 annual basis as against $4 previously. The dividend is payable August 1 to stock of record July 2.

GUARANTY ABSORBS LOAN UNIT

Western States Assets of $680,493 Taken Into State-wide Chain

Western States Building and Loan Association has been taken over by Gilbert H. Beesemyer and associates who control the Guaranty Building and Loan Association and other major institutions in the State-wide field, representing combined resources of approximately $25,000,000, according to an announcement yesterday by Mr. Beesemyer.

The main Los Angeles headquarters of Western States Building and Loan Association, now under construction at the southeast corner of Broadway and First street, will be opened formally on the 25th inst. Branch headquarters will be maintained in Huntington Park. Present downtown headquarters are located at 548 South Spring street. Resources of Western States are placed at $680,493.53.

Mr. Beesemyer, newly elected president of Western States, is secretary-manager of the Guaranty Building and Loan Association, executive vice-president of United States Building and Loan Association and president of United States Guaranty Corporation, holding company for a group of State-wide associations. Ross A. Urquhart was elected vice-president and Herbert M. Harwood, secretary of Western States.

The acquisition of Western States follows the merger of United States Building and Loan Association and Mutual Building and Loan Association of Hollywood, in which resources of $7,439,084 were involved.

July Dividend of Bolsa Chica Oil Deferred

Directors of the Bolsa Chica Oil Corporation have voted to defer the quarterly dividend due July 15, next, the company announced yesterday. It was stated that the board believed conservation of the company's cash is advisable at this time when the oil industry is passing through an unexpectedly long period of depression. While the dividend is at present postponed, it is the intention of the board to authorize its payment as soon as conditions are improved sufficiently to warrant such action, it was stated.

By deferring the July 15 dividend, the board feels it probably will be possible to distribute the next quarterly dividend about October 15, and if drilling and development operations now under way are as successful, as expected, will fulfill all dividend obligations soon thereafter, it was stated.

Officials pointed out that despite the effect of curtailment, the company thus far has been able to maintain dividends and, due principally to the discovery of oil on its 9400 acres in Kettleman Hills, it is in a better fortified position than ever before. The company has returned to original purchasers of stock in dividends alone 98 per cent of their investment and they now also hold eight times as much stock as they purchased and their holdings are now worth about six times the original cost even in the present depressed security markets, according to the statement.

Transamerica Winds Up Bank Deal in Oregon

Acquisition by Transamerica Corporation of the First National Bank of Portland, Or., and its affiliated, the Security Savings and Trust Company, representing aggregate resources of more than $50,000,000 was formally announced yesterday on completion of final details by L. M. Giannini, president of Transamerica.

Majority control of the Portland bank was acquired through an exchange of stock with First National Corporation, a holding corporation owning approximately 25 per cent of the Portland Bank, and through purchase of the holdings of the Corbett and Failing families in the bank.

The Class B stock of the First National Corporation was transferred for Transamerica stock on the basis of $47.50 a share for First National. Offers have been transmitted to remaining Class B shareholders, according them the privelege of selling their stock to Transamerica at the rate of $47.50 a share.

Transamerica, through its bank holdings and affiliated financial units, controls organizations with resources exceeding $2,750,000,000 and is the world's largest bank-holding company.

Wrigley Shares Now Listed Here

Application for the listing of 2,000,000 shares of William Wrigley, Jr., Company common stock was approved yesterday by the California Stock Exchange. The stock is also listed on the New York Stock Exchange and the Chicago Board of Trade.

Total assets of the corporation amounted to $58,775,528. Net profits in 1929 amounted to $11,608,708, and for the three months closed March 31, last, totaled $2,643,426.

DARBY FIXES RATE

NEW YORK, June 18.—Darby Petroleum Corporation today declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents on its new stock, payable July 15 to stock of record the 30th inst. The company recently reduced its stock to 750,000 shares of no par common from 1,250,000 and issued one share of new stock for two shares of old stock which paid $1 annually.

WALL STREET GLOOM THICK

Selling by Banks, Coupled With Public Apathy on Stocks, Dampens Traders' Enthusiasm

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, June 18.—While it is true that the market has as yet little, if any, banking support, and that three New York banks, including the National City, are reported to have been big sellers of stocks in the last ten days, the precipitous and disastrous market decline of the last two weeks has had to reckon with another factor just as important as stock selling by the banks, that is, the public apathy toward stock buying at this time.

"In the present decline, the blue chip stocks are being thrown overboard before the speculative ones—that is, the good ones are being sacrificed at any price, while the cheaper 'near-stik' ones are being held," said one large broker yesterday. "This is mad and disastrous psychology, but everybody is doing it and nobody buying. With very little banking support coming in, there can be only one result—a further decline in stock prices."

Needless to say, the air around Wall street is so thick with pessimism that it can be cut.

Senator Glass's bill to discourage in every possible way stock market speculation, as well as to amend the banking acts to give reserve member banks a greater part of the earnings of the Federal Reserve banks, is not looked upon with favor in Wall street.

While Senator Glass calls his bill the "Banking Act of 1930" and says that its purpose is "to provide for the safer operation and more effective use of the assets of national banking associations, to regulate interbank control, to prevent undue diversion of funds into speculative operations, and for other purposes," Wall street is suspicious of anything which tends to curb its own activities and develop something new.

The Glass bill authorizes State-wide branch banking by national banks in those States where State branch banking is allowed by law, but it would prevent member banks from borrowing on their direct notes at reserve banks or lending funds to brokers for speculative purposes.

Senator Glass contends that the provision in the Federal Reserve Act, permitting member banks to borrow on their straight commercial paper and relend to brokers, has been frightfully abused in the last two years. Hence his suggestion to eliminate straight note borrowing.

Another provision of the Glass bill would give savings deposits a prior lien on the part of the assets of national banks, requiring these banks to hold savings banks securities up to an amount equal to the amount of the savings.

Hearings on the Glass bill will doubtless be had. So no attempt to pass the bill will be made at this session of Congress.

"There is just as much chance for the National City Bank to merge with the Federal Reserve as there is that it will merge with the Guaranty Trust," is the way one New York banker put it yesterday in denying the persistent rumor that these two banks are to merge, with S. Parker Gilbert as president.

"Just another baseless rumor," continued my informant, who should know what's going on.

So it can be stated on the best authority that such a rumor is not founded on fact, nor have any large blocks of National City stock been transferred from the Rockefellers to the Morgan interests. As a matter of fact, the William Rockefeller estate and James Stillman are still two of the largest stockholders of the bank (the John D. Rockefellers sold their stock in 1924;) and there is no move at the present time for the Morgan interests to buy into the National City Bank.

So much for this rumor.

Financiers See Early Upturn

Indications of the elimination of artificial bolstering of security prices and an early return to normal conditions through natural channels of business stabilization were observed in eastern money markets by B. F. Nyswander, Jr., executive vice-president of the Pacific Finance Corporation, who returned recently from a three weeks' trip to New York.

"Eastern finance has always had its eyes turned in this direction, but never more so than at the present time," said Mr. Nyswander yesterday. "As a result, I believe California's development in the next ten years will, by comparison, dwarf that of any other decade in the State's history."

OFFICES OPENED

Sta-On Garment Hanger Company of Los Angeles, which recently opened a plant here having a capacity of 50,000 coat hangers per eight-hour day, has opened offices in the Lane Mortgage Building, Gordon T. Felts, president, announced yesterday.

Share Leaders Show Severity of Mart Break

Sierra Pacific Earnings Off

Sierra Pacific Electric Company and subsidiaries reported yesterday net profits for the twelve months ended April 30, of $540,786 after taxes, interest and amortization against $581,271 in the preceding year, a decrease of $40,485, or 7 per cent.

Gross earnings for the same period aggregated $1,419,113 against $1,426,783, a year ago. April net earnings after charges amounted to $56,196, representing an increase of $2756 over that for April, 1929, while the gross return of $113,973 was $3631 lower.

AN 11 YEAR PLAN -- to realize $15,000

Let us explain this plan—one of many—whereby in eleven years, you may establish a fund of $15,000 investing but $50 a month—or with an initial investment of $5,000 the goal should be reached in 9 years.

MASSACHUSETTS INVESTORS TRUST

This estimate of growth is based on reinvestment of dividends—plus capital appreciation. Since 1924 the actual record of the Trust has substantially exceeded this estimate, with an average yearly appreciation of 15% compounded and average yearly income of 6.1%. This and other plans providing a fund for foreign travel, children's education or other financial ambitions, are described in our folder "Reaching Your Financial Goal Through Planned Investment." # NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, June 18. (F)—Bond prices dropped sharply today as selling pressure on the stock market extended to fixed income bearing securities. The reactionary trend set in markedly during the afternoon to raise sales above $13,571,000 and to carry more than twenty-five issues to the lowest point of the year.

The averages showed the drop was the sharpest in several months and was ascribed to nervous selling and forced liquidation by speculators in equity issues. Losses ranged from a small fraction to 8 points.

Some prime issues held steady or gained a fraction, but others lost ¼ to nearly a point. Convertibles and second string bonds which have suffered downward price adjustments daily sank further.

The trend among convertibles was uniformly downward and the turnover large. Those which ended low ground for the year included St. Paul 5s, Rock Island 4½s, Atchison 4½s, Baltimore and Ohio 4½s, Dodge Bros. 6s, General Theater 6s, Warner Brothers 6s, and American International 5½s.

In the domestic list, a noticeable feature was the appearance of issues generally inactive, and they sold mostly at lower prices for the year.

Liquidation in foreign bonds left a decidedly easier tone to the group. Losses in United States governments were the most extensive in several weeks, and averaged about ⅛ of a point.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices are given. To expedite transmission, the figures are omitted when the same as the day, and both bid and asked when there is no sale.

Grain Futures Follow Stocks to Record Low

CHICAGO, June 18. (AP)—Record low prices for grain went hand-in-hand today with fresh severe flattening out of stock market values. Much notice by wheat traders also was taken of statements ascribed to Chairman Alexander Legge of the Federal Farm Board that no govern-ment-sponsored purchasing of surplus do-mestic wheat would be done until an emergency be declared.

Evidence of sharp curtailment of for-eign buying of United States wheat had a further bearish influence, and so, too, did measures taken abroad, apparently as a counter-balance against effects of the new tariff enacted at Washington.

Following a maximum smash of 4¼c a bushel, however, wheat partly recovered, owing more or less to reports the Cana-dian crop outlook is dubious. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 1¼@ 2¼c lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ¼@1¼c down, oats ⅛@⅜c off and provisions showing 10@25c drop.

The descent of wheat values was pre-ceded by an unexpected sudden reversal of the course at Liverpool. Instead of prov-ing responsive to yesterday's advance in quotations here, the Liverpool market took a decided downward swing, and dispatches were received saying a big import house in England was selling wheat future de-liveries at Liverpool owing to lack of con-fidence in stability of values.

Then came disclosure of yesterday's immense export business in North Ameri-can wheat had consisted nearly altogether of wheat grown in Canada and that no bread wheat whatever had been purchased from the United States.

Corn, oats and rye fluctuated with wheat. Corn and rye as well as wheat outdid the season's low price record, but oats refrained.

Provisions weakened with grain and with hog values as well.

Sudden New Drive Sends Stocks Crashing to Hit Twenty Record Bottom Marks

Distress liquidation closely following a vigorous renewal of bearish operations plunged prices in a downward direction yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. In the first hour, after an earlier break in New York, a score of stocks tumbled through resistance levels following last fall's collapse to establish new bottoms for all time.

A rallying tendency was dis-played late in the day which as-suaged in some measure the sever-ity of the earlier crash, but dozens of stocks recorded net losses of more than a point and many of great dimensions. Among those to hit new lows were Union at 36 1-4, Union Associates, 35 1-2; Richfield, 15; Rio Grande, 16; Macmillan, 14; Bolsa Chica, 6; Edison, 54; Pa-cific Public Service, 23; Transamer-ica, 28 1-4; Security-First National Bank; 103; Citizens, 102 1-2; Pa-cific Finance, 28; Pacific Mutual, 78; Claude Neon, 28 1-2, and oth-ers.

Petroleums as a group featured the activity, with sales in Union and Union Associates amounting to 18,500 shares. Standard of Californ-nia had a turnover of 13,000 and Richfield and Rio Grande more than 7000 each. In the late rally Union recovered to 38 1-4 and Union Associates to 37 1-2, each down 3-4 net. Standard, after hit-ting 57 1-4, closed at 56 1-2, down 1 1-2 net. Rio Grande held its low point at 16, down 1 1-2, and Richfield recovered 3-8 to 15, off 7-8 net. Pacific Western hit 13 1-4, off 1 1-4, and Macmillan held low to 14, down 1. Signal fell off 2 1-2 to 30.

Transamerica closed off 1 1-4 net to 29, Security-First National 1 3-4 to 104 1-2; Citizens, 4 1-2 to 103 3-4; Pacific Finance, 3-4 to 28 3-4; Pacific Mutual, 1 3-4 to 78; Edison, 1 3-8 to 55 5-8; Pacific Pub-lic Service, 7-8 to 24 7-8, and Claude Neon, 1 to 30.

Western Air Express tumbled 4 points to 32 1-2 and Douglas Air-craft 1 1-4 to 18. Sharp losses were also marked for Emsco, down 1 to 16; Byron Jackson, 2 to 11; Taylor Milling, 3 1-4 to 28, and Pacific American Fire, 3 to 45.

Sales totaled 96,542 shares, val-ued at $3,394,639; previous day, 67,-576 shares, valued at $3,502,271.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—With 533 cattle held over from Tuesday's fresh receipts of approximately 600 were burdensome and the scaleward movement was very slow with many offer-ings still in first hands after the noon hour. Salesmen, however, were putting forth every effort to dispose of their stock, some of which has been carried since Monday. A few sales were considered around steady with other sales and bids weak to unevenly lower.

Two loads of 943-pound fed steers origi-nating in Utah brought 11.00 and a load of 977-pound grass steers made 9.25. Scat-tered bunches of steers cashed at 8.00@ 9.50, with very plain kinds down to 6.00.

A few odd heifers sold up to 9.50 with sizable lots at 8.00@8.70 and very common down to 6.25. A few head of best cows reached 8.00 with some top medium kinds at 7.75. Bulk of common to medium cows sold in a 6.25@7.50 spread with low cut-ters and cutters largely at 5.00@6.00. Sales of thin cows, however, being more numer-ous at 2.00@2.75. A few good weighty bully sold up to 7.25 with bulk of plainer kinds at 5.00@7.00.

CALVES—A more active demand devel-oped for calves and vealers and bulk of offerings changed hands at strong rates. Good to choice light vealers brought 13.00 @13.50 with plainer and heavier weights at 9.00@11.50. A few common light calves sold down to 9.00 and below.

HOGS—Trade in this division did not have much snap and offerings were forced to sell on a weak to 20c lower basis. Three loads of 187 to 198-pound Colorado, Nebraska and New Mexico butchers topped at 11.00. A few 140 to 193-pound trucked-in hogs brought 10.25@10.50 with 102-pound pigs at 10.25. Some mixed heavy butchers and packing sows made 9.00, with straight packing sows at 8.00.

SHEEP—Two loads of Imperial sheep were due to arrive during the afternoon. A few plain mixed lambs averaging 74 pounds brought 8.00 with a truckload of cull 96-pound ewes at 1.75. Medium to choice lambs are quoted at 8.50@10.00.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Shaken by the general wholesale selling in other markets, quotations on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange yesterday fell in line with the trend on the senior board with ten stocks in the major list breaking through to new low levels. Selling, however, was orderly, with the day's turn-over less than the preceding ses-sion.

Cities Service, after dropping to 25, swung up to close unchanged for the day at 26 1-4 on a turnover of more than 1000 shares and proved the one bright spot of the market. New lows were hit by Gladding Mc-Bean, down 2 to 43; Hancock Oil, off 3-4 to 10 1-4; Consolidated Steel, off ½ to 5; Cord off 1 to 6; Neon of New York, 1 3-4 to 7 3-8; Pacific Indemnity down 4 to 36; Pacific Associates, 2 5-8 to 20; Intercoast, 3-8 to 14 3-8, and Universal Oil, 3-4 to 7 1-4. The last with Inter-coast, Cord and Neon of New York, recovered slightly from the bottom levels.

Sales totaled 60,620 shares, valued at $176,652; previous day, 73,640 shares, valued at $183,406.

SAN FRANCISCO LOS ANGELES NEW YORK

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Liquidation on a large scale pushed scores of the active curb stocks to lows for the year today. A late rally reduced the extreme losses, which had run to two figures in many issues, but net declines of 3 to 10 points were general.

Selling was especially vigorous in the utilities, although the oils and specialties were persistently liquidated. Electric Bond and Share, after opening a couple of points lower, dropped to 72¾, a 1930 minimum. It closed at 74¾, off 3¾. Northern States Power "A" broke 20 points and retained only 3. United Light and Power "B" lost 14 net. National Electric Power "A" 8, and Consolidated Gas of Baltimore 5. American Superpower, strongly supported on Tuesday, fell about 4 points, but cut its decline to 1¾. Niagara Hudson was down nearly a point. United Light and Power "A" managed to show a small net advance.

Some of the declines in the high-priced shares were spectacular. Aluminum Ltd. lost 26, Aluminum of America 12, A. O. Smith 19 and Standard Screw nearly 21.

Selling of the oils carried Cosden, Gulf and Vacuum to new lows on breaks of several points, but late rally virtually halved the declines. Cities Service was relatively firm and was only a shade lower at the close.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

Backed on one side by two producing and a third nearing completion and on another side by a producer that has been flowing nearly two years, the Continental Oil Company may soon be allowed to begin drilling its Elliott No. 2-16 on Signal Hills in order to protect the government lease from being drained.

Nearly two months ago Continental communicated with Secretary of the Interior Wilbur and requested permission to start drilling, explaining that through the completion of the Petroleum Securities Company's Felix No. 1, the Standard Oil Company's No. 38, and activities being made by the Associated Oil Company in its Whepley No. 1, that its permit would be void as a result.

Secretary Wilbur referred the communication to the Kettleman Hills Oil and Gas Conservation Committee, headed by William Schlaet of the Shell Oil Company. After reviewing the situation the committee forwarded a recommendation that Continental be allowed to start drilling. This recommendation was forwarded a few weeks ago and Continental received a reply.

It will run at least seven months, barring mechanical delays, for Continental to drill a well to the formation encountered by the Standard and Petroleum Securities properties. In the meantime, Associated is expected to bring in Whepley No. 1 while Shell and Petroleum will continue operations at their location in the field.

Activities Near

With the Venice oil field rapidly growing important in the Los Angeles basin, it is believed that a definite well be reached within a week by the price for Venice crude being handled by four refineries.

The Seaboard Midland Petroleum Company is handling approximately 1000 barrels of this oil daily and is trucking it to the refinery at Santa Fe Springs. It was announced today that the company plans to construct a refinery at Los Angeles harbor and run a pipe line from there to the Venice field. A desulphurizing plant will be installed when the Venice flow has a sulphur content which is reported to be a difficult of treatment in local refineries.

Drilling companies are reported to be paying 80 to 90 cents a barrel for Venice oil. This is considerably lower than Santa Fe Springs oil of the same gravity. The difference is assumed to be because of the sulphur in the Venice oil. It is reported that at least two companies have agreed to ship the oil to eastern refineries that are equipped with special desulphurizing plants.

Completion Reported

It is reported completion of the Rose Bella Oil Company's Gardner No. 1 wildcat about two miles southeast of Whittier, in Whittier Heights, is somewhat of a surprise as that area has been subjected to a number of unsuccessful tests.

The Rose Bella's Gardner No. 1 came in for about seventy-five barrels of heavy oil a day from a depth of 3000 feet. To handle the flow of oil, tanks are going up. A pump has been installed.

A number of small operators prospecting the territory near Porterville have their projects being shallow, but while they went into a few barrels of oil and they failed to develop anything worth while. Near Porterville several wildcat tests were drilled considerably deeper, some to 4000 and 5000 feet, without results.

Operators believe that if commercial production is found near Porterville it will prove to be a continuation of the Poso Creek field, the findings obtained there are similar. The formation near Porterville is asserted to have the same geological aspect as at Poso Creek.

Coyote In

The Angeles Trust's No. 1, located on the edge of the ocean in the Coyote field, yesterday was flowing through tubing at the rate of 276 barrels of 36-deg. gravity oil per day and appeared to be slowly building up its flow. The project is thought to be good for at least 300 barrels of oil per day from a depth of 3905 feet after thoroughly cleaned out.

Applications

The City Planning Commission has formally filed with the City Council its approval of the requests of Ernest Strain, John O. King, John Thorson, H. E. Carse and C. A. Hall to drill for oil in the Venice district.

The Doud Petroleum Company is preparing to spud in No. V-2 at once. Its No. V-1 is producing about 100 barrels of oil a day.

Completion

Barton's No. 1 in the Potrero area at Potrero came in yesterday at an estimated rate of 200 barrels of 40-deg. gravity oil per day from a depth of 5597 feet.

The flow is clean and is going into tanks. Barton's well was originally completed at about 3800 feet several months ago when George F. Getty's Parker No. 1 found deeper production at Potrero.

Drilling Permits

Of ten permits to drill granted last week by the State Mining Bureau, three were for the Venice field, two at Signal Hill, one in the town-lot area at Potrero, one at Torrance and three in the fields of Kern county.

Following are the permits: California Ventura Oil Company's No. 1 at Torrance; Dukette & Pelissier's No. 1 and Zenith Oil Company's No. 3 at Signal Hill; Associated Oil Company's Potrero No. 3 at Potrero; Standard Oil Company's No. 77 and Republic Petroleum Company's No. 38 in Midway district; General Petroleum Corporation's Moco No. 318 in Sunset district; the Mutual Oil Company's No. 1, Elmer Company's No. 2 and El Camino Oil Company's No. 1 at Venice.

May Be Next

The Ohio Oil Company's Brown No. 1 and Dickinson No. 1 in the Venice field late yesterday were nearing completion. These projects were each drilled to about the same depth as the company's Recreation Gun Club No. 1 discovery well and the No. 2, both of which are on steady production.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Alhambra, Hill near Eighth—"Israel." A novelty animal film which has caused quite a amount of discussion about the country.

Boyd's, Eighth between Broadway & Hill. "Seven Days' Leave," Bruce Gordon.

Boulevard, Washington at Vermont—"The Floradora Girl." An extravaganza of a bygone day.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"So This Is London." Opens tonight.

Chinese, 6925 Hollywood—"Hell's Angels," with Howard Hughes four years and $4,000,000 to produce the colossus of the air; and it was worth it.

Criterion, 642 South Grand—"The Divorcee." A daring and well-defined delineation of the modern woman in which Norma Shearer gives one of the finest performances.

Figueroa, Fig. at Santa Barbara—"Ladies Love Brutes." George Bancroft proves he has enhanced his screen heart.

Filmarte, 1328 Vine—"The Great Unknown." A mystery hodge-podge for which there is no solution.

Fox, Vine near Norton—"Hold Everything," with Lightnin' and Joe E. Brown rouse house in a hilarious manner.

Loew's State, Broadway at Seventh—"El Dia Madrid." Opens today.

Grauman's Egyptian, 6708 Hollywood Boulevard—"The Lady of Scandal." A delightful stage play turns movie to set off the talents of Ruth Chatterton.

Million Dollar, Bdwy. at 3rd.—"Parade's Gone By." The Paramount family plays their tricks and many are good.

Eastern, Hollyw'd at Vine—"The Texan." Gary Cooper rides again, which in itself is a treat.

Paramount, Hill at Sixth—"The Border Legion." Opens today.

Rita Wilshire at La Brea—"The King of Jazz." Paul Whiteman, his music and many other jazz kids worth while.

R.K.O., Hill at Eighth—"Alias French Gertie." Opens today.

R.K.O. Orpheum, Broadway at Ninth—"Captain of the Guard." Walter Huston and John Boles's singing help along the French revolution, as does Laura La Plante.

Tower, Broadway at Eighth—"Journey's End." A fine interpretation of the season's leading war drama. With Colin Clive.

United Artists, Bdwy. nr. 9th.—"The Big Pond." An ingenious comedy which provides Maurice Chevalier with plenty of opportunity to display his popular personality.

Uptown, Western at Tenth—"Caught Short." Polly Moran and Marie Dressler cut up in a boarding house.

Warners' Downtown, Hill at Seventh—"Song of the Flame." A lot of music to help in bringing back Russia to popular attention. Dolores Costello.

Warners' Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox—"Dancing Sweeties." Diverting struggles of newly married love portrayed by Bebe Daniels and Grant Withers.

Wiltshire, 8383 Alvarado—"The Golden Call." A musical soothing or other with Rose Carol and El Brendel.

STAGE

Belasco, Hill at Eleventh—"Caprice." A comedy wherein manners and morals are mingled with delightful indiscretion by Fay Bainter and Reginald Owen.

Biltmore, 506 South Grand Ave., Highland—"Nancy's Private Affair." A smart and delicious comedy, which stars Minna Gombell.

Hollywood Playhouse, Vine nr. Hollywood Blvd.—"June Moon." Ring Lardner and George S. Kaufman's comedy on the peculiarities of song-writing returns by popular request.

Majestic, Bdwy. at 9th.—"The Last Mile." A tense feverish drama of a prisoner's last hour of life. Clark Gable and Eddie Woods.

Mayan, Hill nr. 11th.—"Decency," dovetail and tropic is the setting, not to sustain the action, and Katharine Wilson makes the most of her opportunities.

President, Broadway at 8th.—"Crime." An old-fashioned melodrama which is still good entertainment. The very noble hero is Kenneth Daigneau.

Vine Street, 1615 Vine.—"Under a Virginia Moon." Romance flowers in a honeysuckle garden and the simple mountaineers is slow and sentimental. With Percy Haswell.

VARIETIES

Follies, 4th and Main.—Burlesque.

Se le aplicó la ley fuga a Federico Terrazas, de 28 años, cuando intentó escaparse del auto en que se le conducía. Antes de que pudiera ponerse en cobro tras los matorrales, fue acribillado de balas su cuerpo. Samuel Terrazas, de 22 años, y Urbino Tarango, de 28, intentaron fugarse.

NOTAS LOCALES

Gana Burbank un Litigio Relativo a su Centro Cívico

El juez superior Hanby dictaminó ayer un auto inhibitorio que impidiera a la ciudad de Burbank adquirir un terreno para centro cívico que le regaló un fraccionador de propiedad urbana.

El actor, que lo es la Southern Holding Company, alegaba que tenía derecho para ocupar el centro cívico con sus empleados correspondiente de propiedad raíz hasta que se vendieran todos los solares del fraccionamiento. El juez Hanby sostuvo al contrario, que los derechos del demandante a la propiedad quedaron terminaron hace dos años, en que expiró un contrato de arrendamiento.

Dará un Baile una Unidad de Reserva Naval

Los oficiales y tropa de la unidad de reserva naval de los Estados Unidos que se halla acuartelada en Long Beach, son los promotores de un baile que habrá de darse esta noche en el "hangar" de la escuadra, sito en el aeropuerto municipal de Long Beach. Lo que se recaude irá a engrosar el fondo de bienestar. El hangar será decorado con banderas de señales. El teniente E. B. Koger, de la reserva naval, jefe de la unidad, está encargado de los preparativos de la función.

Charles Infantiles para Chiquillos de Escuela

XIII.

Uno de los muchachos andrajosos que trabajaban cerca de Carlos en la fábrica llevaba el apodo de "Mealy Potatoes"—"Patatas Harinosas". Era un chico muy rudo, que solía hacer ver su suerte al pobre Carlitos; pero que, bajo sus resentidos y su rudeza, guardaba un buen corazón (One of the ragged boys who worked near Charles in the factory was nicknamed Mealy Potatoes. He was a rough boy and used to tease poor little Charles sadly, but underneath his patches and roughness he had a kind heart). Pero día tenía Carlos un fuerte dolor en el costado. Mealy Potatoes le hizo una cama de paja en el piso y fue de aguas calientes botellas de hule vacías para aplicárselas contra el dolor. Llegada la noche, dijo que iría a dejar a Carlos hasta su casa. (One day Charles had a bad pain in h' side. Mealy Potatoes made a bed of straw for him on the floor and filled empty blacking bottles with hot water to hold against the pain. When night came, he said that he would walk home with Charles).

WIFE WITH HIM

Dr. Michelson, accompanied by his wife, arrived in several years by automobile, stopped from the train he was greeted by Dr. Francis Pease of the Mount Wilson staff and Fred Pearson, who escorted him in his light speed experiments. He appeared in perfect health, though tired, and expressed enthusiasm concerning the coming tests, which will serve as a final check upon former com-

"There's nothing new connected with my plans," he told reporters. "I will stay a few days and then go to Santa Ana and proceed with our experiments."

The apparatus with which the test is made consists of a mile-long tube from which all air has been pumped. In one end is a mirror which turns at a speed of 500 revolutions per second, and in the other end is a stationary mirror.

The method by which the speed of light will be measured is as follows: A beam of light will be played upon the revolving mirror. This light will travel to the far end of the tube where it will be caught by the stationary mirror and reflected back to the revolving mirror, which by that time will have moved a slight distance. By computing the distance the light beam travels, the speed of the revolving mirror and the distance the mirror travels, the speed of the light beam will be ascertained.

TO CHECK FIGURES

The present accepted speed of light, which was determined several years ago in similar light tests conducted by Dr. Michelson between Mt. Wilson and Mt. Baldy, is 186,284 miles per second. The tests to be conducted by Dr. Michelson at the Irvine ranch will serve as a check upon figures.

Mrs. Michelson now are at the Maryland Hotel, where the scientist makes his headquarters when in Southern California. He plans to remain here for several months.

EX-NEWSIE HAS DEGREE FROM YALE

Harold Kraft, "Times" Hawker, Rises to Legal Prominence Unaided

Because it was not written in his stars that opportunity should be presented to him on a silver platter, Harold Kraft of this city has been making his own opportunities. Yesterday he received his degree from Yale University for advanced work in the study of law.

He is a son of Mrs. Bessie Kraft of 1800 South Harvard Boulevard, and now is 26 years of age. His father died when he was but 7. When he was 9 he launched into the world of toil and at 10 he became a Times newsboy, with the corner of Sixth street and Vermont avenue as his territory. Later he delivered The Times and in this way earned enough money to put himself through the Los Angeles High School.

Then he went to the University of California at Los Angeles. Following his graduation in 1926 he went to the University of Southern California for legal training and in 1929 was graduated with honors.

While at U.S.C. he won a fellowship in Yale and for the past year he has been attending the eastern university. He will return here in about two weeks.

HOLLYWOOD STRUCTURE PURCHASED

Taft Building in Nest of Limit-Height Properties Sold by Sun Company

The Taft Building, limit-height structure at Hollywood Boulevard and Vine street, was purchased yesterday from the Sun Realty Company by Hollywood Business Properties, Ltd., President N. F. Wilson announced. The consideration involves the payment of $950,000 for the building and a ground rental of $4,074,000 covering a ninety-seven-year lease period. Both buyer and seller were represented by S. C. Burr of W. B. Berwin & Co.

The Taft Building is a Class A, twelve-story structure with a Hollywood Boulevard frontage of 120 feet and 150 feet on Vine steet. It was built by the Taft Development Company in 1924. It contains 252 offices and is in the nest of seven limit-height structures in the Hollywood-Vine area, all of which have been built in the last six years.

In 1920 the assessed valuation of the site on which the Taft Building stands was $7170. Hollywood Business Properties, Ltd., controls by lease, purchase or is interested in practically a mile of key Hollywood business frontage, involving a purchase and rental total exceeding $19,000,000, President Wilson said.

GAS FIGHT WON BY SIGNAL HILL

Court Denies State's Plea for Injunction

Judge Rules Unreasonable Wastage Not Shown

Control Move Held Tinted With Confiscation

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
LONG BEACH, June 18.—Signal Hill oil operators won a decisive victory here today when Superior Judge Crawford denied the State's plea for a temporary injunction to restrain wastage of natural gas in the oil field and relieved the defendants from presenting any testimony.

The ruling virtually was a nonsuit. The court set November 17 as the date for trial of the case on the issue of a permanent injunction.

In an eight-page decision Judge Crawford announced his ruling on a motion presented by the defense attorneys at the conclusion of the State's case last Friday. The court held that the State had failed to show unreasonable wastage of gas and went further in paragraphs which discussed confiscation of property and necessity for wastage of gas in the present method of production of oil.

WORDING COMPARED

Comparing the use of the wording unreasonable wastage of gas by the Legislature in the recent gas act the court declared that the intention of the lawmakers undoubtedly was to prohibit only wastage which would approach gross negligence. "We have no precedent by which the unreasonable features of wastage may be considered. I am constrained to feel that when the Legislature used the word unreasonable it was used in exactly the same sense as gross negligence is used in the law of negligence," the court declared.

That the admission from the State during the hearing that the present co-operative curtailment was achieving all the material aims of the temporary injunction sought in the way of field-wide control of gas wastage was an important factor in the ruling is indicated through the decision.

MARKET LACKS STABILITY

Although not called upon to rule on the defense demurrer to the complaint on the grounds of constitutionality, which was presented before testimony started, Judge Crawford in his opinion stated that the heavy investment in oil production in the field and the association of gas wastage with oil production tended to hint State control of gas production with confiscation of property. The court discussed the lack of stability in the gas market, pointing out that surplus and shortage of natural gas was dependent on the matter of oil production.

"I refuse to accept the responsibility for creating havoc which would result if the present condition is interfered with," Judge Crawford stated after citing the unemployment and the financial loss which would result from an injunction.

NO HOPE FOR CONTROL

General interference with the oil industry was discussed by the court as follows: "To those in the oil business there must be uncertainty that causes hesitation in future exploration. The government of the United States has attempted to inspire confidence in the prosperity of the land and the officials of the State should do everything in their power to inspire this confidence. I feel that the tendency of this action is urging about a spirit of at least doubt that is deterimental to the future prosperity of Southern California.

"It seems to me that gas wastage will never be controlled by the State. I doubt that there is any criterion of wastage which can humanly be established."

STUDENTS WILL SAIL

Fifteen students of University of Southern California, in charge of Dr. Florence May Morse, professor of merchandising, are booked to sail from New York aboard the S.S. Carmania tomorrow on a tour of France, Switzerland, Italy, Germany, Holland, Belgium and England, where they will study merchandising methods. While in Geneva Dr. Morse will attend the convention of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women, slated for August 24 to 26.

Seven Intercollegiate Contest Finalists Will Vie for Championship and Awards at Biltmore

A new national champion will be crowned tonight at the sixth annual Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest to be held at the Biltmore, when seven finalists, survivors of an original entry list of 1072, will vie for cash awards of $5000 and the highest honors of America. A large crowd is expected at the Sala de Oro, where the finals will be held.

A. C. Denman, president of the Better America Federation of California, which inaugurates and conducts the contest, will open the program by presenting the presiding officer, Orra E. Monnette.

JOHN ANDREW BURKE

Musical selections will be given by Charles Wakefield Cadman and Miss Margaret Messer Morris. Leroy D. Owens, president of the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce, will speak briefly, explaining that at the national convention of the United States Junior Chamber at Brooklyn recently it was decided to back the oratorial contest hereafter.

The judges are William A. Barnhill, former United States District Attorney of Alaska; Benjamin P. Bledsoe, former United States district judge, Southern California district; Dr. Frank A. Bouelle, superintendent Los Angeles city schools; Dr. Martin Luther Thomas office of City Prosecutor; J. A. H. Kerr, first vice-president Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Letitia J. Lytle, member Board of Education, city of Los Angeles; Pat Millikan, governor California-Nevada district, Kiwanis International; Louis B. ## INDUSTRIAL CONDITIONS IMPROVING

Labor Department Report for May Reveals Gains in California Prospects

The month of May showed further improvement in industrial conditions throughout the State, with prospects that employment generally will continue to increase, according to the report of the United States Department of Labor, released yesterday by Francis I. Jones, director of the employment division.

Large beet and pea crops were harvested and thousands of acres seeded to rice. Also, canneries were in operation on asparagus and peas.

In the Los Angeles district, practically all manufacturing plants continued in operation, although some functioned only on part time, the report states. Some curtailment was noted during the month, especially in oil-refining and tool-manufacturing activities. Onion and grape harvesting in the Coachella Valley soon will require additional workers, it is predicted, and some labor, too, will be absorbed by hay and grain harvests.

The $38,800,000 water-bond issue will provide employment for about 3000 workers over a three-year period, it is estimated. Prospects for employment are to be found also in building permits issued during and immediately prior to May. These include a $350,000 apartment-house, a $300,000 factory, a $30,000 telephone exchange, a $165,000 mausoleum and many other apartment, residence, warehouse and garage structures.

MILLIONS BEQUEATHED BY GETTY

Widow, Son and Grandson of Oil Man Given Bulk of $10,000,000 Estate

The will of George Getty, millionaire oil operator, was admitted to probate by Superior Judge Stephens yesterday, and the Security-First National Bank and H. Paul Grimm appointed as co-executors to administer the instrument.

The estate is estimated to exceed $10,000,000 in value but no exact appraisal can be made until the inventory is filed, according to Attorney Rush M. Blodget, attorney for the estate.

Most of the property is left to the widow, Mrs. Sarah C. Getty, 647 South Kingsley Drive. Other principal heirs are J. Paul Getty, son of the decedent, who inherits $500,000 and a law library, and George Franklin Getty, a grandson, who gets $300,000 in a trust fund.

Getty was 74 years of age when he died. His estate consists mostly of stocks, bonds and oil leases, yielding an income in excess of $350,000 a year.

INDUSTRIAL CRAFT FLOATED

Launching of "Ivory" Ship at Ground-Breaking Ceremony Initiates Procter & Gamble Plant

Acquisition by the Los Angeles-Long Beach harbor district of the $5,000,000 Procter & Gamble soap plant was celebrated by several thousand persons yesterday at a ceremony breaking ground for the new factory.

W. C. Henderson of San Francisco, Pacific Coast manager for the company, himself turned the first shovelful of earth in the presence of President Stevens of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, President Austin of the Los Angeles chamber, Mayor Hauge of Long Beach and a host of other officials, surrounded by a great crowd.

W. C. HENDERSON

Harriet Hauge, the Mayor's daughter, broke a bottle of water over the bow of the good ship Ivory, and it slid gracefully down the ways into Channel Three, upon which the site faces for 1500 feet on one side. On the other side it fronts the same distance on Seventh street, Long Beach.

MRS. EDITH BLACK

"Now we are starting a factory," President Stevens said, "that will complete Procter & Gamble's great chain of factories from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Factories like this come here because there is need for industry to occupy our great population."

"This is another epoch in the progress of Long Beach," Mayor Hauge said, "which already has had a prosperous career. Not only is Long Beach to be congratulated but entire Southern California will be helped by it."

President Austin said:

PORTENTS READ

"This ground-breaking means that Pacific Coast markets are moving toward Los Angeles county, a fact supported by the late population census. It means that one of the most forward-looking manufacturing institutions in its hard-headed business policies and its employee relations with an experience of nearly a century behind it has located in our midst."

"Our business," said Manager Henderson in response, "has grown to the place where this Pacific Coast plant is a necessity. It was founded ninety-four years ago and has continued successfully ever since. It is of interest to note there there lives in Long Beach and is here today a grand-daughter of the original Procter in the firm, Mrs. Edith Black.

HARBOR WILL PAY ITS WAY, MAYOR TOLD

Board President Writes Bond Retirement Funds to Come from Revenues

For the first time in its history Los Angeles Harbor will be paying its own way without assistance of the taxpayers during the fiscal year beginning July 1, President Allen of the Harbor Department said yesterday in a communication to Mayor Porter.

Because of reduced expenses in operating the department and increased revenue from the expansion of harbor commerce, he stated that the amount the department contributes for interest and principal on harbor bonds has been raised from $1,400,000 to $1,891,000 for the coming year.

The communication follows:

"For some years this department has exerted every effort to meet the requirements for interest and sinking fund on harbor department bonds, but has heretofore been unable to meet the requirements in full.

"There are many demands on this department for additional facilities in order to accommodate shipping requirements and we must necessarily make some sacrifices in order to meet our bond requirements in full but, after very careful consideration, it has been found possible to increase the amount promised for this year and we, therefore, propose to increase our contribution from $1,400,000 to $1,891,000, thereby meeting our bond requirements in full."

Scrutiny of the budget reveals that the department expects $894,000 net revenue during the coming fiscal year, which, with the balance left over of $912,235, will provide the funds for the necessary payment, leaving approximately $15,000 as the balance for the next year.

Two harbor bond issues were authorized for development of the port. The first was for $10,000,000 and the second for $20,000,000, a total of $30,000,000. Of this total approxi-

COUNCIL PARING BUDGET TO BONE

Finance Committee Suggests Lopping Off $993,340

Salary Reductions to Reach Total of $640,060

Day of Reckoning Put Off Until September

The City Council spent the afternoon yesterday struggling with the problem of lopping $1,000,000 from the budget submitted by Mayor Porter to equate the loss in taxes, due to reduced assessments not contemplated by the budget makers.

A report of the Finance Committee was before the Council, hitting hard at every department. The report in general was approved, with considerable discussion, however. The Council has today and tomorrow to consider the budget, as Friday it must be returned to Mayor Porter.

NO BUREAU SPARED

The Finance Committee, comprised of Councilman Cooke, chairman; President Sanborn and Councilman Burns, submitted the report, which spares no bureau or department. The committee plans to meet the emergency by lopping $993,340 from the proposed budget and setting it up in a fund titled Unappropriated Balance No. 2. At the same time, a resolution relieving department heads of the restriction of spending one-twelfth of their budgetary allowance during July and August will be adopted.

On September 1 more detailed information will be available on income. If the threatened cut in income fails to materialize then the unappropriated account can be used for departmental purposes. If the loss becomes effective, however, the cuts must go through.

RECKONING POSTPONED

As Councilman Williams put it, "the day of reckoning is being postponed two months."

Councilman Cooke declares that he doubts it will be necessary to dismiss any member of the police, fire or health departments. If dismissals become necessary, however, the department heads will be required to act.

Suggestions that the reserve fund, which now is nearly $7,000,000, on paper, be used for the emergency, were answered by Col. Cooke with the statement that this fund's liquid contents amounted to but $25,000 last fall during the "dry months" before the taxes started coming in.

CUTS IN SALARIES

Salary deducations amount to $640,060, expense deductions amount to $314,515, equipment deductions amount to $85,545. Additions amount to $46,800, principally made up of the city's contribution to the Community Chest, which the Mayor's budget ignored.

The net deductions amount to $993,340, which will be changed somewhat by additions aggregating some $5000 for the Council.

The Mayor's allocation of the permanent improvement fund was entirely erased and the fund will be held intact by the Council for later appropriation. Councilman Davis said he will attack the Mayor's allocations of the two other special funds, the street traffic fund and the motor vehicle street improvement fund.

SLASH SUGGESTED

Councilman Ingram fought the proposed cut of $366,600 in the engineering department. Councilman Randall suggested additional cuts in the City Prosecutor's account.

"He doesn't prosecute anyone," said Randall.

"Well, he raided a lot of drugstores for magazines," said Councilman Lewis.

"He has to do something to keep in the public eye," said Col. Cooke.

"I remember how he came to us with declarations that he had the evidence against the Julian looters and got $25,000 for his prosecutions," added Randall. "I wonder what he did with that money."

"He filed a report and returned $2900," said Cooke, "but it wasn't a very detailed report."

Cuts approved yesterday by the Council include $99,000 for the building department; custodian, $47,000; elections, $21,000; fire, $107,-

'IT' GIRL'S MYSTERY DEEPENS

Clara Bow's Texas Love-Balm Story Gains More Strange Angles as Dispatches Multiply

Clara Bow's unexpected visit to Dallas, Tex., in an announced effort to straighten out certain matters in connection with a heart balm affair which she says she once settled for $30,000, is becoming more and more involved.

In the beginning everybody thought the flaming youth girl of filmland was headed toward Honolulu for a vacation. Then the wires began to burn with statements from her about an asserted settlement which involved the affections of a handsome young Dallas physician. She admitted paying $30,000 to silence the affair, according to dispatches, and then decided to take a trip to Dallas.

CLARA BOW

Yesterday came further news over the wires. The existence of a secret trust fund created out of weekly payments from Clara's salary—now said to be in the neighborhood of $4000 per week—was revealed, and it is out of this trust fund that Clara is said to have taken the $30,000 for heart balm purposes.

Matters were further mystified in other dispatches, the first to the effect that Dr. William Earl Pearson, young physician of Dallas, was among the many prominent guests who accompanied Miss Bow Tuesday night on a party to the Club Bagdad, a night resort on the Dallas-Fort Worth road.

Next in importance was a dispatch from the Texas city indicating there is every possibility that Dr. Pearson and his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Pearson, have become reconciled, nullifying a divorce which was granted to her in the Los Angeles Superior Court in 1928 on the ground of nonsupport.

The existence of a trust fund in Clara's behalf was admitted last night by B. P. Schulberg, general manager of the Paramount studio. His statement regarding the trust follows:

"The primary purpose of the studio in instituting a trust fund was to create a disposition on her (Clara's) part to save her earnings. We have been greatly pleased by the knowledge this purpose was accomplished, as we understand she is

VARIOUS CITY DISTRICT CENSUS TOTALS GIVEN

Populations of five communities lying wholly or in part within Los Angeles city were announced yesterday by United States Census Supervisor Kincaid. Supervisor DeCoudres similarly released two such tallies. The figures cover territories which for various reasons are somewhat distinct in matters of trade and economics and the information was sought by business interests.

Under Kincaid's announcements Hancock Park has 52,655 persons, West Hollywood, 49,909; West Los Angeles, 45,332; Venice, 19,260, and 29,444 with Culver City and Mar Vista territories included, and Pacific Palisades, 1810. The figures were given for the chambers of commerce in each district excepting the last named, where they were supplied for the business council.

Under DeCoudres's announcements San Pedro has 35,918, including Terminal Island, and Wilmington has 14,907. These figures also were given for the respective chambers.

Supervisor Munson said he understands that he is unauthorized to release such figures. Supervisor Chenoweth was importuned to release certain figures of the kind but after communicating with the national census headquarters said he was forbidden to do so. Supervisor Ballentine said he had made no announcements of the kind.

Population data for various communities which are parts of other communities are much sought after by various business interests, some of which are negotiating with the Washington headquarters in hopes of procuring them.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

THE Tai Shan looked like a huge black fortress floating on the still waters when she made her majestic way up to the San Pedro dock the other afternoon, just before sunset.

From the name I expected to see little Javanese sailors with their heads tied in gay kerchiefs. It turned out to be an American ship, flying the Panama checkered flag; and the sailors were blond Norwegians.

By the same mixed token all the Mexican population of San Pedro is huddled into a street named O'Farrell.

IF YOU PLEASE, SIR

The bucko mate who swears at the sailors as they warp the ship into dock seems to be extinct.

At the top of the three-story bridge of the Tai Shan leaned a handsome young mate who looked like a movie star. He was uniformed with the splendor of a navy officer. Thirty feet below him was a boy officer directing the work of making fast a steel hawser. The boy looked up and met the smile of the mate looking down at him. The mate said something in a voice so low that I could not hear; the boy smiled again and nodded his "Aye, aye, sir," and executed the order. The sea is growing polite.

TO CHINA SEAS

A little gasoline tractor running around the dock like a rat terrier has taken the place of the heave-ho rope-pulling longshoremen gangs. A barge loaded with oil comes shoving down the harbor to the starboard side of the Tai Shan—squalling excitedly for a line to be thrown. Throwing a line from the Tai Shan is like tossing one from a skyscraper. The Tai Shan has come from New York with a half cargo and is taking on forty tons of freight to be carried to Manila and China.

BY THIS SIGN WE CONQUER

Usually these cargoes for the Orient are cotton from the fields of Imperial Valley; and canned goods. The can opener is the weapon with which America is conquering the world.

FADING 'EM

The longshoremen who handle the cargoes while away the waiting hours with a gambling game which is something like craps—only with three dice instead of two. It is called "Ace and away." I should say from observation it is mostly away.

SHIPS THAT ARE FANCY

There are so many kinds of ships at these docks that were not in existence in the old days of the sea.

At the docks across the slip from the Tai Shan are a navy tug, a water tender with rows of big gray tanks; a fish-canning ship where the fish are canned as fast as they are pulled out of the water; and a motor yacht—shining with brass and mahogany—the play boy of the sea. In the slip beyond are three fog-colored Coast Guard vessels drawn up in line, like bell boys waiting for a call.

BILL BARNACLE'S UNDIES

the stores of the water front are a kick. The pawnshop windows are filled with musical instruments—accordions, ukuleles and harmonicas.

One store specializes in shore attire for the men just off the ships. Prominent in its show window is a set of heliotrope-colored silk underwear. It's all right with me, but it is a shock to think of Barnacle Bill with orchid teddybears. Yes, brethren, it is a shock.

BERMAN FACES IMMUNITY LOSS

Judge Wilson Declines to Recognize "Agreements"

Federal Prisoner Ordered to Appear Next Monday

Defendant-Witness Silent on His Plans for Trials

Jacob Berman, McNeil Island Federal prisoner who arrived here yesterday morning in the dual role of star prosecution witness and defendant in a number of felony cases, may be denied immunity by Superior Judge Wilson.

That Berman will not be allowed to trade his testimony against Louis Krause, asserted go-between in the bribery of a number of jurors on the first Julian jury in 1928 for immunity, appeared possible yesterday morning when Judge Wilson from the bench informed both Berman and Dan M. Critchley, who appeared as his attorney, that they have no right to expect immunity.

QUESTION ARISES

In custody of Lieut. F. L. Johnson of McNeil Island and Special Guard J. R. Teale the prisoner was taken into Judge Wilson's court several hours after he had stepped from the train which brought him from the Federal prison where he is serving a seven-year mail-fraud sentence.

With Berman standing between his guards in front of the bench, Judge Wilson informed him that he should be ready for trial next Monday morning and then when Critchley told the court that more time would be required for the defense to be completed the question of immunity arose.

"We are not ready for trial because my client has been promised immunity along with his brother Louie Berman in exchange for his testimony in this case," declared the attorney. "This immunity was promised by the grand jury and by Dist.-Atty. Fitts."

JUDGE STANDS FIRM

"The matter of immunity never has been brought to this court," declared Judge Wilson in reply, "and counsel knows as well as this defendant that the grand jury and the District Attorney have no right to promise immunity. That is a matter for the court alone."

So with Berman's immunity, for the time at least, swept aside Judge Wilson denied a motion by Critchley to withdraw from the case and also refused for the time to pass on another motion for the exoneration of bail which had been forfeited when the defendant surrendered to the Federal authorities and failed to appear for trial in the State courts more than two months ago.

SECOND APPEARANCE

Berman then went before Superior Judge Schauer where he is scheduled to go on trial on July 7 on an embezzlement and forgery charge and there another bail of $10,000 was exonerated and he was ordered to be ready for trial on the date fixed.

As the matter now stands the official records show that Berman together with his brother and Louis Krause must go to trial next Monday before Judge Wilson and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Jones prosecuting on a charge of having bribed a juror in the first Julian case.

On the same day Berman is scheduled as a witness in the Morris Lavine-Leontine Johnson extortion case in Judge Schauer's court and he also is listed as a State's witness against John Groves, a juror in the first Julian trial charged with having accepted a bribe. On August 25 he is to appear again as a State witness in the Julian overissue case against nine defendants.

PRISONER SILENT

Just what effect on Berman's testimony a possible denial of immunity by Judge Wilson will have could not be learned yesterday and the prisoner refused to discuss the matter until after he has consulted with Critchley and Otto Christensen, his attorneys.

According to instructions issued by Atty.-Gen. Mitchell, Berman is to be allowed to consult with his attorneys and with members of the District Attorney's office at will but is to be locked in the County Jail at night, where by consent of the local authorities he is to be confined in the hospital.

The hospital cell as a place of confinement was selected by the county authorities when it became known that Berman feared being placed with other jail inmates because of rumors of possible violence.

setting a certain sum aside regularly in trust."

STORIES CONFLICT

From Miss Bow came word that she paid $500 per week into such a trust until the sum reached $25,000, but Schulberg's statement concerning it is in apparent contradiction of Miss Bow's that such a fund was established to guarantee faithful performance of her contract with the company. Miss Bow described it as a fund to protect a so-called behavior clause of her contract.

Schulberg was asked if the fund was created to protect the so-called behavior clause and whether Miss Bow actually did use money from such a trust to pay off settlement of the threatened suit, but he declined to go beyond the words of his statement, quoted above, in discussing the matter. All along studio executives have declined to become involved in Clara's statements made in Dallas on the ground it is entirely her personal business and not the film company's.

DIVORCE NEVER FINAL

W. I. Gilbert, who has handled some of Miss Bow's legal affairs, said last night he had never been aware of such a trust fund. He declined, on the ground of ethics, to discuss any of the affairs of Miss Bow's legal matters.

Dispatches from Dallas last night indicated that Mrs. Pearson is a resident of that city. She was formerly Miss Elizabeth Atwood, debutante introduced five years ago there.

Her divorce from Dr. Pearson has never become final, court records here show, substantiating the dispatch of last night she and her husband had apparently become reconciled.

Mrs. Pearson, through Attorney Richard A. Dunnigan, filed suit for divorce on October 17, 1928. The complaint set forth the couple were married in Dallas July 19, 1927, and separated on July 31, 1928. With the filing on October 30, 1928, of an affidavit setting forth Mrs. Pearson's mother had to go to Dallas to settle the estate of her husband, who had died suddenly, the case was given an early hearing and an interlocutory decree of divorce granted to her.

ATTORNEY SILENT

Attorney Dunnigan asserted yesterday that neither Dr. Pearson nor Mrs. Pearson has ever requested him to apply for a final decree and he said he will not until such request is made from either party. In so far as Miss Bow is concerned or what she has to say about the purported settlement of an alienation suit Attorney Dunnigan says he knows nothing.

"Ask Clara and I'll bet she will tell you all you want to know," the attorney asserted. "Even if I did know anything I couldn't tell you. All I can say is that Mrs. Pearson came to me in the usual course of business and requested me to file a divorce. I did and it was granted. I have not seen nor heard from her since."

In the divorce complaint Pearson was described as "a strong and able-bodied man capable of earning in excess of $100 per week." At or about the time of the filing of the divorce he was still said to be an interne. He returned to Dallas some time ago.

Miss Bow remained in virtual seclusion in Dallas yesterday, dispatches asserted, denying herself to reporters. She changed her hotel because of ever-increasing phone messages and visits from strangers. She appears not to be in a hurry and persons apparently acting as spokesmen for her say she may linger even as long as Monday or Tuesday in spite of the fact it is "too hot and too noisy." She and Dr. Pearson were reported as having had a round of golf yesterday.

Miss O'Donnell Leaves on Air Scouting Jaunt

Gladys O'Donnell, one of Southern California's women transport pilots, second-place winner of last summer's national air derby, took off yesterday for Chicago to scout a route for this year's race for feminine flyers.

C. F. Lienesch, manager of the 1930 derby and head of aviation activities for the Union Oil Company, accompanied by Mrs. Lienesch, is piloting Mrs. O'Donnell.

In Chicago the local trio will join last year's derby winner, Mrs. Louise Thaden, and Amelia Earhart, holder of the women's air speed record. The party then will fly over a proposed 3600-mile route that will include the United States, Mexico and Canada.

Among those who have signified their intention to enter besides Mrs. O'Donnell, Miss Earhart and Mrs. Thaden, are Bobby Trout, Los Angeles; Florence Lowe Barnes, San Marino; Ruth Alexander, San Diego; Margaret Perry, Beverly Hills; Elinor Smith, Ruth Nichols and Opal Kunz, all of New York; May Haizlip, Kansas City, Mo., and Blanche Noyes, Cleveland.

Damage Suit Develops High Horsepower

Ninety horses and mules as hungry boarders figure in the suit of Otto Meek against Pete Taricco, heard yesterday before Superior Judge Gould. Meek sued for recovery of sixty-nine horses and twelve mules which he boarded with Taricco, or their value, $8100, adding that ten horses had starved to death. Taricco cross-suited for $718 he asserts is due on the board bill.

Judge Gould took the case under submission.

Record Sighted for Opera Sale

With the $35,000 mark in sight, Col. William Eric Fowler, chairman of the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association's general seat sale committee, yesterday predicted a new advance sale record for local opera. The record to date for the annual season in the Shrine Auditorium September 29 to October 13 exceeds figures for corresponding dates in previous years.

All types of tickets are available at the opera headquarters in the Philharmonic Auditorium Building.

FOUR BOYS ACCUSED IN AUTO THEFT CASE

Accused of having stolen two automobiles, four boys ranging from 9 to 15 years of age, are held in Juvenile Hall, while officers of the Sheriff's automobile theft detail investigate. The boys were arrested at Third street and Fetterly avenue Tuesday night. The officers reported finding the four youths pushing a delivery car with a touring car.

EXTORTION CASE GIRL'S TRIAL SET

Appeal Court Refuses Plea of Leontine Johnson

Jeopardy Defense Denied in Resetting Date

State's Amending of Charge Ruled Legitimate

Leontine Johnson, codefendant of Morris Lavine on an extortion charge, must stand trial on the 23rd inst., according to a ruling yesterday by the District Court of Appeal.

The order was on a petition of Miss Johnson for a writ of prohibition to restrain the Superior Court from proceeding to trial. It was contended in the petition that the State had abandoned the extortion charge to proceed on a charge of attempted extortion. Because the State was declared to have made its shift after the jury had been impaneled, the woman asserted, a trial would place her in jeopardy a second time.

Lavine filed a similar petition a few days after Miss Johnson sought to stay proceedings. Arguments in the two petitions were substantially the same.

The Appellate Court in making its ruling did not offer any comments.

INVESTIGATORS GO ON TRIAL IN CASE

Jack Chriss, Tom Cavett and Bradford Burgess, District Attorney investigators charged with illegally entering the apartment of Miss Leontine Johnson at 236 South Coronado street and seizing documents and other personal belongings, went to trial yesterday before Municipal Judge Stafford.

A few hours after the trial started Deputy City Prosecutor Reynolds moved that the charge against Burgess be dismissed. As soon as the motion was granted Reynolds called Burgess to the stand as a prosecution witness.

Burgess told of the raid on Miss Johnson's apartment led by Chriss and stated that he later saw the documents, two typewriters, a suit case and a pistol taken in the raid, stored at the District Attorney's office. Burgess will be cross-examined by Leonard Wilson, defense attorney, today.

He will be followed on the stand by Superior Judge Schauer, who refused to accept the documents as evidence against Miss Johnson and Morris Lavine when they were on trial for extortion because of the asserted illegal seizure.

Earlier in the trial Mrs. Laura Hardy, Miss Johnson's landlady, identified Chriss as one of the raiders but failed to point out the others.

here. It has done much to eliminate distrust between employer and employee and has replaced that feeling with one of mutual interest.

"We will run forty-eight weeks in the year. We will have forty-eight pay days in the year and that will mean something in your community.

"We thank Long Beach for its fine spirit of hospitality, co-operation and good wil."

State Senator Frank Merriam traced the progress of the world from shortly after its dawn down to the present and declared in his speech that "this is another stamp of approval on this country by a company that is in the very forefront of big business."

MODEL LAUNCHED

A four-foot ship model built of Ivory soap cakes by A. L. Kurtis, a company employee in Los Angeles, was slid down the ways into the channel in a concluding ceremony and, true to the company's slogan, the cry went up, "It Floats!" as it rode the waters gracefully.

The factory is expected to be in operation in about eighteen months and is scheduled to employ at its start about 1000 persons. It occupies fifteen acres of land and will have a 60x150-foot wraf.

300; health, $50,400; police, $52,100; City Prosecutor, $16,800; Receiving Hospital, $26,000; public utilities, $7000; public works, $7000; street lighting, $156,000; treasurer, $21,200. The Municipal Art Commission lost $1000 for an oil painting it hoped to purchase.

Fight on Realty Deal Started by Lois Weber

Lois Weber, motion-picture director, appeared in Superior Judge Schmidt's court yesterday, ready to direct her suit for an accounting and injunction against consummation of a real estate deal. In the action she names as defendants the real estate concern of Clinch & Thurtle and several owners of property she asserts she was induced to accept in a trade, at a loss.

Miss Weber is suing under her legal name of Mrs. Gantz. The property involved is the Park Lane Apartments at the intersection of Fourth street and New Hampshire avenue, which she agreed to take in trade for some lots she owned.

It was represented to Miss Weber, she says, that the property was worth $635,000 and that it yielded an income of $100,000 a year. She later discovered, according to her complaint, that the property is not worth more than $300,000 and that, because of many vacancies, its rent never exceeded $4090 a month.

The case will be resumed today.

KANSANS WILL PICNIC

Former residents of Leavenworth city and county, Kan., will have a picnic-reunion all day Sunday the 29th inst., at Brookside Park, Pasadena.

CLERGY URGE AID FOR FITTS

Los Angeles Ministers Send Letter to Preachers of State in Support of Candidate

Clergymen of California were in receipt of a letter yesterday from Los Angeles ministers urging the election of Buron Fitts as Governor. Recommending Fitts for consideration of the ministers and their respective congregations, the letter will be read in many churches throughout the State.

The ministers signing the document are J. Whitcomb Brougher, Jr., Gustav A. Briegleb, John Robertson McCartney and John Snape.

"Mr. Fitts," the letter reads in part, "has shown not only exceptional personal capacity, but an unusual ability to surround himself with loyal, honest, and capable subordinates. We do hope and pray that in this crisis hour, when the Eignteenth Amendment needs the support of every right-thinking citizen and our President, Herbert Hoover, is dependent upon the cooperation of State governors who will enthusiastically support his policies and programs, that you may see your way clear to add your voice to our own in urging all of your friends to help put in the Governor's chair, this able, self-sacrificing, high-type American."

The candidate spent yesterday in Modesto speaking at a dinner given by his Stanislaus county supporters. His talk dealt with water conservation problems and he advocated appointment of a representative of the farming interests on the State Board of Harbor Commissioners to promote the development of foreign trade of California products.

The opening of seven branch headquarters in Southern California was announced at the Los Angeles office yesterday by George B. Bush, campaign director. The headquarters are located at Chico, Colusa, Glendale, San Diego, San Pedro, Long Beach and Redlands.

The first activities of the women's division on a large scale will be held at noon Monday, the 30th inst., when a luncheon in honor of Fitts will be given at the Figueroa Playhouse, 940 South Figueroa street.

Mrs. Charles W. Decker, director of women's activities, announced that plans are being made to accommodate 500 women. Fitts will be the principal speaker. Tickets for the luncheon are now being distributed throughout the city by women workers. Reservations are also being received by telephone at the Fitts headquarters.

There will be a reception, ball and refreshments after the contest, at which time the crack drill squad of the cadet officers of the Manual Arts High School will give a drill.

Lex King Souter, who won the national oratorical championship in this contest here in 1929 as an orator of William Jewell College, will attend tonight's affair and be introduced by Mr. Monnette as the defending national champion, just before the announcement of the decision of the judges making a new national champion. Other former national finalists who will be present are Phillip N. Krasne, Ellsworth Meyer, Herbert E. Wenig and James P. McEnery.

TWO FROM SAME SCHOOL

John Andrew Burke, one of the contestants, comes from Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass., as champion of the New England zone. He was born in New York City August 15, 1911. Burke as well as Casey, another contestant, graduated from the Regis High School in New York City. At one time he was champion high school orator of the city. Burke is at present a sophomore. The schools that he defeated in his zone contest are: Massachusetts Agricultural College, Boston University, Dartmouth University; International Sollege of Springfield, Colby College, Massachusetts Tech, Providence College and the universities of New Hampshire and Vermont.

Edmund Darr Doyle is the winner of the central zone contest, and comes from St. Xavier College, Cincinnati.

On Friday at noon the seven youths will be guests of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences at the Paramount lot. After going over the Paramounut lot the boys will be taken to the M.-G.-M. studio at Culver City.

PORT WILL PAY ITS OWN WAY

mately $21,000,000 remains to be retired, according to Controller Edwards.

First payments, six years ago, began with $500,000, which was increased to $1,000,000 the next year and increased annually until the full amount for the annual interest and sinking fund is to be met after July 1.

In the meantime money from the bond issues has been used to complete wharves and other improvements now being constructed to meet expansion needs of the port.

While there has been no public discussion of any request for a new bond issue, it is conceded by the harbor department that any further major improvements for expansion of the port in the future will have to be cared for by the issue of additional harbor bonds in order that net revenues may be used for retirement of present bonds.

Racing Pupils Knocked Out in 'Collision'

So eager were Potter Palmer, Jr., 8 years of age, and Earl McFate, 6, to be at school on time yesterday that they required the attention of a police surgeon.

Potter, who lives at 732 West Fifty-first street, had gone home for lunch during the noon recess and tarried too long. Worried, he started back to school on the run.

Earl, seemingly, had done the same thing. He, too, was sprinting back to his classes from his home at 845 West Fiftieth street.

The two boys, going in opposite directions around a corner, met head on with such force both were knocked unconscious.

The police ambulance was called but the doctor found they had no injuries save severely bumped heads.

MRS. CLOAK RITES CONDUCTED TODAY

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. today at the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Forest Lawn Memorial Park, for Mrs. Julia B. Cloak, native of California and a sister of Charles S. Ruggles, motion-picture actor. Mrs. Cloak was born in San Francisco seventy-four years ago. She died Monday at her home, 127 South Poinsettia Drive. She leaves her husband, Harry B. Cloak, a daughter, Mrs. Florence C. Thompson, a sister, Mrs. Emma Ruddock and her brother. Interment will be in Forest Lawn Mausoleum.

WIFE WINS DIVORCE FROM EX-GRID STAR

A legal touchdown was scored yesterday on William A. Heicke, all-American football choice of a past season, when Superior Judge Blake granted a divorce to Mrs. Ruth Heicke on grounds of mental cruelty. Habitual intemperance was charged by the wife, who also said her husband stayed away from home all night and called her ugly names in the presence of other persons. She was awarded custody of a minor child. The Heickes were married February 2, 1927, and separated January 1, 1929.

THREE WOMEN END OWN LIVES

Wife Expires After Taking Ant Poison

Mother 60 Years of Age Leaps Off Roof

Resident Uses Gun in Office of Friend

Three women ended their lives Sunday. Mrs. Elizabeth Schitino, 60 years of age of 659 East Twenty-third street, swallowed ant poison during a quarrel with her husband. Mrs. Elizabeth Gregg, 60, jumped from the roof of a ten-story hotel on Scima avenue because she believed she was a burden on her family. Mrs. Elise Dugue, 58, of 1136 North Reese place, Burbank, shot herself with a revolver in the office of a friend, Dr. Otto H. Wilson, at 2833½ West Seventh street, because of illness.

"We had a little argument," said William Schitino to police, "but it did not amount to much and I thought she was jesting when she threatened to swallow the poison."

Frantic, the husband called police and Mrs. Schitino was rushed to the Georgia Street Receiving Hospital, where she died a short time later.

SON'S VIGIL VAIN

Mrs. Gregg's tragic death occurred within a few minutes after her son, Gardner W. Gregg, had prevented her from shooting herself with a revolver, according to Detective-Lieutenant Wearne.

The son said he had returned to their hotel room to find a note written by his mother which informed him he would find her on the roof. He hastened to the roof in time to wrest a pistol from his mother's hand. He then returned with her to their room and believed that all was well. A few minutes later when he was again absent for a moment Mrs. Gregg ran to the roof again and leaped from the edge. Death was instantaneous.

Mrs. Gregg left a letter, Wearne reported, stating that she felt, because of her illness, she was a burden on her relatives and so was "ending it all."

NOTE PENNED

The suicide of Mrs. Dugue was almost as tragic. She went to the office of Dr. Wilson, an old-time friend, according to police, and asked for material to write a letter. This missive, perused later, read:

"I can stand it no longer. I deed my little Burbank home to Pierre Desserrey, who is employed as a cook at Victor Hugo's. He has helped me financially. My jewelry will pay for my funeral expenses."

After penning the note the woman walked into an adjacent room, took a .38-caliber revolver from her purse and shot herself throught the head. Dr. Wilson notified police.

In her last letter in which she asked her friends to forgive her the woman stated her property was in her married name, Mrs. Elise Catra.

Bodies of all three women were removed to the County Morgue.

SANTA MONICA MAN ENDS LIFE WITH SHOT

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, June 18.—Within earshot of his wife, who was busy in another room, John E. Wilson, 68 years of age, ended his life here today by firing a bullet through his right temple in the bathroom of his home at 322 Eighteenth street. Death was instantaneous.

Mrs. Wilson told police her husband for some time had brooded over ill health. The body was removed to the Wilshire Funeral Home.

EX-GORILLA GETS HIS PAY SO FILM ROW FADES OUT

Ingagi almost—but only almost—missed his cue yesterday.

Hours after the State Labor Bureau had vainly called the case of Ingagi a slow-spoken, beaming Negro ambled into the department's offices in the Subway Terminal Building and drawled that his claim for wages has been "satisfied."

The speaker was Hilton Phillips, of 1346 Newton street, who had claimed $20 for his efforts at impersonating a Central African gorilla for a motion picture, "Ingagi." Phillips also portrayed an African native at $6.50 a day.

When Phillips appeared in the afternoon, Deputy Commissioner William Moriarity had decided to summon Phillips and the named defendant, W. Sidney Campbell, described as the producer, before him. But the claimant disclosed, beamingly, that such actions would not be necessary.

"I'm satisfied," said Phillips.

Besides, he said, he is now appearing as a South Sea Islander in another picture and "would hate future boycott in films." But, he said, "it is lovely to be a gorilla, sometimes."

Praise Voiced for Municipal Courts' Work

Commendation of the work accomplished by the Municipal Courts was voiced yesterday by Superior Judge Bishop in an address at the City Club.

"With the great increase in population and consequent increase in the number of cases which, under the former system, would have come to Superior Court, I do not see how we could have done without the Municipal Courts," said Judge Bishop.

Admitting that there is a basis for the criticism of the administration of justice, the speaker said that members of the legal profession are constantly attempting to reform conditions.

Discussing legal technicalities, Judge Bishop said that no judge likes to decide a case on purely technical grounds, but that often there is no other choice.

Otis Institute Students Open Exhibit Tonight

Students of Otis Art Institute will open their annual exhibit this evening in the main gallery of the Los Angeles Museum, Exposition Park. The display consists of figure drawings, portraits, landscapes, costume designs, illustrations, stagecraft designs, advertising posters and sculpture, representing the work of all departments of the institute.

It will remain open to the public four weeks. The opening this evening is to be marked by the annual award of scholarships and cash prizes.

Tomorrow night the students will hold their annual costume ball at the Elks' Club, Park View and Sixth streets.

MEDIUM TURNED DOWN

By a vote of 11 to 3 the City Council yesterday refused to permit John Bennett to operate as a psychic medium "in a pastor's study" at 1431 North Alvarado street. The City Planning Committee recommended approval of the request, but only Councilmen Randall, Williams and Holland voted for the report.

CAST OF FILM EPIC HAS REUNION

"Birth of Nation" Players and Griffith Get Together Again

MEMBERS and guests of the Los Angeles Breakfast Club yesterday morning celebrated the first reunion of David W. Griffith and nine members of the original cast which filmed "The Birth of a Nation" here sixteen years ago. Mr. Griffith was host and the occasion of the strange gathering from a bygone day was the beginning this week of the revision of the famous silent picture with sound, dialogue and music.

Griffith told of his hardship in financing the great production, the first of the spectacles, in which 18,000 people and 3000 horses took part and which has been witnessed since by 55,000,000 persons in nearly every State and country on earth.

He paid a high tribute to Henry B. Walthall, whom he called the greatest juvenile star ever discovered by the camera. The producer introduced the following members of the historic cast:

Mae Marsh, the little sister; Mary Alden, the mulatto girl; Donald Crisp, Gen. Grant; Henry B. Walthall, the little colonel; Spottiswood Aitken, Col. Cameron; Joseph Henabery, Abraham Lincoln; Walter Long, Gus, the colored soldier; Ralph Lewis, the elder Stoneman, and Thomas Wilson, who played many colored roles.

The only absentees yesterday of the star members of the original cast were Lillian Gish, who is playing on the stage in New York City, and Wallace Reid and George Seigman, now dead.

UNMARRIED MOTHER SET AT LIBERTY

Superior Court Overrules Juvenile Sentence to Sonoma Institution

After being under sentence to the Sonoma Home for Girls for more than ten days, and facing possible sterilization, Miss Betty Friesen, 20-year-old mother, yesterday obtained her freedom when Superior Judge Scott overruled the sentence of juvenile officers and ordered the girl released.

The case was appealed to the Superior Court by Franklin Padan, Chief Public Defender, when it was discovered that although Miss Friesen had been given an intelligence quotient of .82 and is not suffering from epilepsy, she had been ordered to the Sonoma institution.

According to Padan, the outstanding purpose of sentencing persons to the institution is to place them where they may be sterilized because of hereditary diseases. When Miss Friesen's plight was made public it was announced that she had been ordered to Sonoma for dietetic treatment.

Judge Scott yesterday disposed of this situation by remarking that if such treatment is necessary it can be given in Los Angeles county at the General Hospital.

SETTLEMENT OF SUIT AGAINST RINK HINTED

Settlement of Eileen Marks's suit against the Winter Garden Ice Palaces for $25,000 damages for injuries she asserts she received while skating, was intimated yesterday by counsel when they obtained from Superior Judge Archbald a continuance until the 27th inst. In her suit, Miss Marks set up that she received a fractured ankle, resulting in a permanent injury when she fell on the ice at the defendants' rink September 22, 1928.

RITES CONDUCTED FOR AUTO MISHAP VICTIM

Funeral services for Mrs. Bessie Gerjansky, 38 years of age, who died Sunday of injuries sustained in an automobile accident at San Bernardino, were conducted yesterday at the Glasband & Groman chapel, 901 West Washington street. Interment was at Mt. Zion Cemetery. She was the wife of Jacob Gerjansky, local wholesale clothing dealer, who had wired her to meet him at Las Vegas, Nev., so they could be together for the last leg of his trip from New York City.

SCHUMANN-HEINK FIGHTS ON

San Diegan Carries Appeal from His Grand-Theft Conviction to State Supreme Court

Twice convicted on grand-theft charges, Henry Schumann-Heink of San Diego yesterday carried his fight for vindication to the State Supreme Court in an appeal for a hearing after denial of a petition for a rehearing by the District Court of Appeal, of the Fourth Appellate District.

It is set forth that the crime was committed by Wilfred M. Clare by taking twelve shares of bank stock which belonged to Schumann-Heink & Co. and pledging it to secure a note of the defendant at the United States National Bank of San Diego. Clare had become an indorser of the note.

"The accomplice, without being directed by the accused, as he claims he was directed, is shown to have had sufficient motive for the crime," the appeal petition sets forth. It is also declared that there was no direct evidence of complicity, except the testimony of Clare that the defendant had personally advised and instructed him to commit the crime.

In view of the fact that Clare is a self-admitted accomplice, Schumann-Heink asserts, his testimony is insufficient without corroboration.

Schumann-Heink was first tried before a jury in October, 1929, and found guilty of grand theft. Later, the Appellate Court reversed the judgment and ordered a new trial. At the second trial, which was before a judge, the defendant was again found guilty. He was denied a new trial and placed on probation for five years. He is now appealing from the order denying his motion for a new trial.

Today's Bible Text

For if the dead rise not, then is not Christ raised. And if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins.—1 Cor. xv:16, 17.

APPLAUDING THE "VILLAIN"

The Lake Arrowhead Indian Pageant reminds us that if we had looked at the redskin as understandingly, in days gone by, his lot in America today would be a far happier one.

ANKLE

A Chicago iron worker fell five stories and broke his ankle. He said he was glad, for he had to come down anyway to mail a letter his wife had given him. Evidently there are some disasters worse than falling five stories.

STORE TEETH

Mrs. Gaston of Griffin, Ga., sang so earnestly that she swallowed her false teeth at choir practice and choked to death. If some radio talent would acquire a couple of sets of false teeth, the general happiness of the world might be augmented.

DENAILING

Arizona is denailing her highways by sweeping them with huge magnets. Now if Cactus Abe will invent a machine that will demoronize the big roads and grab drunk drivers from the wheel, he will further place the entire country under great obligations to his glorious State.

HELP! HELP!

Manuscripts of 643 poems submitted to the sixteenth annual international poetry contest of the Poetry Society of London were destroyed by fire that wrecked the summer home of Lucien H. Tyng at Southampton, Eng. Thus are the lives of editors saved from time to time.

THE CENTURY

The Century Magazine has been swallowed up by The Forum. Its circulation reached its peak in 1906 and 150,000, but had dwindled to less than 20,000 the past year. The final issue carried but five pages of advertising matter. Thus do the centuries come and go.

LOST ART

An after-dinner speaker of Dubuque, Iowa, says prohibition has "killed sociability and made conversation a lost art." A drink or two certainly does loosen the tongue and increase the conversation; but whether it can qualify as an art may be open to further investigation. As for sociability—well, if you care to call rioting and killing being sociable.

ASK "BIG BILL," HE KNOWS

In rounding up thousands of hoodlums and crooks in Chicago, the police visited hundreds of speakeasies, disorderly houses and dives of all kinds. They can't say they didn't know the places were there. But the average citizen goes right on paying taxes for police protection that won't protect, and voting for the men who make such conditions possible.

TREATY SUCCESS FORECAST

The measure of Hiram Johnson's fight against the naval limitations treaty was taken Tuesday, when the Senate Naval Affairs Committee voted fourteen to four against postponing consideration of the pact, as proposed by Johnson. Though the committee had gone on record in repeating a demand on the President for the confidential memoranda of negotiations and interchanges preceding the London conference, it refused with emphasis to make a major issue of the point, and indicated that it will on Monday approve the treaty.

Johnson found himself in this matter in the strange company of Senator Moses, who not long ago included him among "sons of the wild jackass" in the Senate. Moses and Johnson form an amusing combination, which should be enjoyed while it lasts.

Once the treaty gets on the Senate floor, with a favorable committee report, it seems reasonably certain of adoption. Certainly it should be adopted, and promptly. It ought not to be made a political issue and subjected to the demagogic misrepresentation which Johnson and Hearst are now engaged in organizing. The treaty is not ideal in some respects, but it is far better than no treaty at all and subsequent negotiations may better it.

ADMIRAL BYRD'S RETURN

Triumphant after a conquest of the South Polar region, Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd is scheduled to land today at New York City, to such a welcome as the metropolis has not extended to anyone since the close of the war. The reception will be well deserved, since, though peaceful, Admiral Byrd's exploits were not less hazardous and required as much courage and skill as any war-time adventure. And they added more to human knowledge.

The return of Byrd will be celebrated in Los Angeles by the opening tomorrow of the first complete exhibit of photographs, drawings and maps to be shown here of his remarkable journey. This exhibit, assembled by The Times and the New York Times, will be displayed in Bullock's windows at Broadway and Seventh street. On the 26th inst. motion pictures of the Antarctic trip will be shown here. This afternoon and tonight the Byrd reception will be broadcast by radio through stations KHJ and KECA.

Admiral Byrd has the unique distinction of having flown over both poles and also over the Atlantic—it has been said that if the earth had east and west poles he would fly over those also. The apparent ease with which his exploits have been accomplished undoubtedly has deceived the public as to their difficulty. In the Antarctic he had a particularly tough nut to crack—a mountainous region of extremely violent winds, blinding snowstorms and other unfavorable atmospheric and ground conditions, surmountable only with the aid of careful preparation and a high degree of skill. In his flight to the South Pole he had at best no more than an even chance of escaping with his life, and his chance of success was smaller. That he was able to bring his party through without a death or a serious casualty, that he was able to gather scientific records and data which are at least extremely interesting and may prove of great practical importance, that he was able to demonstrate the reliability of the airplane under the most adverse of circumstances, are a few of his accomplishments, which mark him not only as a supreme air pilot, but an able leader of men.

The Times, which contributed in some small measure to the success of this exploit, feels a justified pride in the achievement and thankfulness at his safe return. The New York Times is entitled to the principal credit among newspaper backers of the expedition. Also it is entitled to credit for having on its staff such a capable craftsman as Russell Owen, whose day-by-day accounts of the expedition kept the world informed of its progress and incidentally won him the Pulitzer prize for the best reporting work of the year—an honor that was more than deserved.

Los Angeles was the starting place for the expedition, an additional reason for the exceptional local interest attaching to its success.

THE MORROW VICTORY

The easy victory of Ambassador Morrow in the New Jersey primary Tuesday is being hailed as a wet victory, but a wet victory in New Jersey is a good deal like the Dutch capturing Holland. There is no novelty about it, nor has any ground been gained. If New Jersey, in any event, would be represented by a wet Senator at Washington—which seems to be probable—it is much better that he be a man like Morrow, whose general qualifications for the job are outstanding.

While The Times differs emphatically and unequivocally with the antiprohibition view of Morrow, it believes that in other directions he will be an extremely useful Senator, and that the statesmanlike qualities which he demonstrated at Mexico City and at London are needed in Washington. There seems to The Times scant merit in the threat of an independent Republican candidacy against Morrow. The result could only be similar to that in New York a few years ago, when Senator Wadsworth was defeated by Senator Wagner, wet Tammanyite, through a party split. The dry cause gained nothing and the nation and the party lost an able Senator.

U. C.'S NEW PRESIDENT

The University of California at Berkeley has a new president-elect. Robert Gordon Sproul will be inaugurated on July 1 and a new regime will begin at our State University.

The new president is not the conventional type with degrees a yard long. Indeed, he graduated in 1913 in business administration and has been comptroller of his alma mater, the institution he now heads. The degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon him at the recent commencement of the University of Southern California. He is but 39 years of age and is one of the youngest university presidents in the country.

However, in this day presidents of institutions have to be more than educators; they are generals with an army of faculty members and students. The head at Berkeley is a business manager of a $60,000,000 concern. He has 13,000 acres under his immediate supervision. He handles an annual income from State, Federal and private sources of $11,000,000.

Dr. Sproul is a forceful, fluent speaker. However, he is direct and businesslike in his oratory. Tall and commanding in presence, he fully meets the ideals of youth. He is human and approachable. He has not been in colored hood long enough to be tied up in conventions that rob him of sympathy. Possibly a degree of sympathy is his greatest asset and claim to scholarship. The youngsters of the State will find ready access to his office and heart.

Berkeley has had a long and useful career. It is the nation's largest resident institution of its kind and employs a faculty of 2866 members. The student body comprises 26,111 young men and women. It has branches all over the State—at Los Angeles, San Francisco, Davis, La Jolla, Riverside, Meloland, Kearney, Fresno, Eureka, Mt. Hamilton and other points. A California youth may choose from the curricula of twenty-five schools for preparation for his life's work.

The University of California is to be congratulated upon its choice of a new president. The regents were wise in selecting an alumnus of their own institution. He knows its work and is steeped in its traditions and ideals. All hail President Robert Gordon Sproul!

The LEE SIDE O' LA
By Lee Shippey

THERE aren't many conventions to which delegates are appointed by national governments, but a Los Angeles man, Harold A. Smith, now is on the way back from Madrid, where he attended one as an official delegate appointed by the Secretary of State of the United States and where he conferred with other delegates similarly appointed to represent other countries. This convention was the International Railway Congress, which held a ten-day session in Madrid in May. Mr. Smith is said to be the first delegate ever appointed from west of the Mississippi.

Smith is the publisher of Transportation, a Los Angeles magazine which circulates throughout the English-speaking world. Before coming here he was president of the Railway Review, published in Chicago, and once before, in 1925, was a delegate to the International Railway Congress.

During the latest congress, Mr. and Mrs. Smith were among those presented to King Alfonso and received many other social honors while abroad.

Scooped the World

While every important country in the world had important representatives at that international congress, we imagine that Transportation scooped the world on the story of it, in its June issue. Charles Dillon, editor of the magazine, is an old newspaper man, once a star reporter on the Kansas City Star, later Senator Capper's right-hand man in Kansas, and he publishes a magazine somewhat along newspaper lines. Thus this Los Angeles magazine came out June 12 with a full, illustrated story of the congress before Mr. Smith caught the ship for home. And this week a big gathering of American railway men in Atlantic City is wondering how it happened.

You gotta have newspaper men to get things done right.

No Private Cars!

Newspaper men don't know everything, though. We never knew till Charlie Dillon told us yesterday that there are no private cars.

We've written more than one interview with some one who "arrived yesterday in his private car," but Charlie says we're all wet. The Interstate Commerce Commission does not permit private cars. But business cars—they're different. Railroad executives and such may have business cars, and do. But private cars are taboo—in railway parlance, at least.

It's another of those cases in which a rose by any other name smells as sweet. We'd be willing to have one, no matter what they call it.

Enterprising, All the Same

T. E. C. reports the best sign for this week. On an ancient Model T, equipped as a traveling shop, with grindstone, etc., he saw the sign:

TOOLS GROUND
SAWS FIELD
LAWN MORE SHARPENED

And, also funny, our correspondent spells it "Modle T."

The Unseemly Dearth of Noble Spellers

And our very next letter is from Isadore Moidel, an attorney, who thus calls attention to the unseemly dearth of good spellers:

"My brother's regular stenographer was off duty and a bright and snappy substitute took her place. She turned out a letter in which appeared the word 'recomend.' Brother suggested that she look it up in the dictionary and see what was wrong with it. 'Oh, what a thoughtless error!' she exclaimed. 'Of course it should have two "c's" in it.'

"Today I was telling the story to a lawyer friend," continues Isadore, "and before I reached the point he broke in, disgustedly, as one who had suffered himself:

"'Such a simple, everyday word, too! Anybody ought to know it's spelled with two "c's," shouldn't they?'"

The Main Why of Auto Crashes?

Several times recently we have cited instances of the neighborliness of Los Angeles people, and here is a little more evidence. A couple of weeks ago two women, one of whom is the mother of a large family, were injured in an automobile accident. Both had to go to the emergency hospital and then one was transferred to another hospital. Hardly had the notice of the accident appeared in the paper when people from all over town began calling up the hospital and the homes of the injured women. Even women who had never met either of them phoned offers to help take care of the children or do any such neighborly thing. The Cheerie Chase Club, an organization of blind people, chipped in their hard-earned quarters and sent a beautiful bouquet to the woman in the hospital, because months before a member of her family had done some slight thing to show friendship for them. In fact, it seemed as if everyone who had ever heard of the injured women wanted to do something kindly and sympathetic—except those who had caused the accident. Eight days after the accident the insurance company which "covered" their car sent each of them a questionnaire to fill out, with the names spelled wrong. That was the only sign of interest from that quarter. Apparently they felt that their policy gave them full coverage on car damage, personal injury and common humanity.

We wonder whether there's much hope of greatly diminishing the number of needless automobile accidents as long as many drivers feel such utter lack of personal responsibility.

FIE ON SUCH GEOGRAPHY

Various papers the country over have found a fit subject for editorial comment in the spring flowers of Death Valley, that customarily barren region which nevertheless blossoms bravely when opportune rainfall strikes it. Among them are the Portland Oregonian and the Baltimore Sun, both of which make the somewhat remarkable error of transferring Death Valley to Nevada!

Notice is hereby given to all and sundry that no part or portion of Death Valley lies outside the boundaries of California and that the Sun and the Oregonian, like Death Valley shortly before the flowers bloomed, are all wet. No doubt the explanation is that in both offices all pieces about flowers are turned over automatically to the office poet for writing and that he uses his license. It is true the news dispatch on which the comment was based was wired out from Beatty, Nev., but that hardly should create haziness about a famous region—one of the few spots on earth that earned its reputation honestly, though its terrors have been mitigated by modern transportation. There are many things about Nevada that are worthy of editorial comment, but Death Valley isn't one of them.

TWO NEW RECORDS

William S. Brock and Edward F. Schlee, noted flyers, have a pair of new records now, or perhaps a trio—Jacksonville, Fla., to San Diego in 13 hours 55 minutes; San Diego to Jacksonville in 16 hours 56 minutes, and, of course, a record for the round trip, if that is counted separately. No speed record was set, as their average has been surpassed on other long flights.

The aviators were somewhat disappointed on the eastern leg as they had expected favoring winds, but instead ran into bad weather. However, the exploit is a notable one and a few years ago would have been acclaimed as momentous. It will add to Messrs. Brock and Schlee's laurels, which already were plentiful.

SHORTS

Shirts and shorts have crossed the Great Divide, and abbreviated panties have blossomed out at Stanford and Berkeley. If brevity be the soul of wit, shorts qualify. Another advantage appears: At the shortest there is not a chance in the world for a hip pocket.

EATING AGAIN

Hostess at M.-G.-M. commissary says the average lunch check of the female star has increased 25 cents in the past few months over what it has been for five years. The return of curves and dresses that will drape them are given as the reason. We presume that the revue girls still are starving.

ROYAL POKER

They evidently play the game in the Balkans "with the Kings wild."

TO A MOSQUITO
By James J. Montague

If you only would stand up and fight
As a lion or tiger would do,
Though you came in the dead of the night
I should have not a terror of you.
But on hearing your sinister hum,
As you plan a nocturnal attack,
I always am sure you have come
With your gang at your back.

I could cope with one bug at a time,
Though his challenge was brazen and bold
And his courage was quite as sublime
As that of the heroes of old.
But you are no glorious knight
Who battles alone with his sword;
You always go into a fight
At the head of a horde.

I have sneered at a venomous snake
When he thrust out his long, pointed fangs
As he slithered along through the brake—
But snakes do not gather in gangs.
I would laugh at a Kodiak bear,
I would face a gorilla uncowed,
But I shrink at the stern, hostile glare
Of a furious crowd.

Although fierce as the greediest shark,
And fleet as a hawk on the wing,
Though you always contrive in the dark,
To insert your keen, poisonous sting,
For a bout that was open and fair
My pulses would eagerly throb;
But you never will play the game square—
You will bring your mob!

THE ICONOCLAST AT THE CANYON

II

BY FRED HOGUE

My first impression of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, as viewed from the tourist village at the head of Bright Angel Trail is that it is the most overplayed bit of natural scenery I have ever encountered.

Perhaps the paintings I have seen and the descriptions I had read led me to expect too much. It is just a great stretch of waste land ten miles wide and a mile deep, to the bottom of the granite gorge of the Colorado, according to the statisticians. But one doesn't see the bottom of the 1000-foot granite gorge, only the black rim; and the rock formation is only of three strata—white and yellow limestone for 1000 feet down from the surface, then 3000 feet of red sandstone and 1000 feet of black granite at the bottom.

There are no volcanic formations, no mineral formations to color the rocks and little exceptional in the monuments formed by the skeletonized buttes sculptured by a gigantic flood that once swept down the course of the Colorado as the waters of the St. Francis Dam swept down through the gorge of San Franciquito Canyon.

The rocks are of but three colors, those of limestone, red sandstone and granite. To these are added the blue haze of distance and pink and yellow tones of the rays of the sun.

There are no colors that I have not seen more brilliant elsewhere; no formations of exceptional symbolic importance. Notwithstanding its great depth, my eye registers a sensation of flatness; the breadth, which is as ten to one, serves to diminish the sensation of depth. I have seen gorges, one-fourth its depth, that vastly exceed it in grandeur.

Its renown rests on its immensity. It is the biggest wash in the world—again according to the statisticians—but it reminds me of a painting that covers the whole side of a wall, yet registers nothing exceptional but its size.

Its immensity fails to awaken in me a feeling of awe that I have felt in viewing a hundred of nature's masterpieces less vast in the great monumental, colorful Southwest.

Many artists have told me it was impossible to paint the Grand Canyon because it was too vast, too immense. Harry Wagoner, the artist who accompanies me, told me this; but I reserved the right to cross-question him.

I asked him to name to me an artist who had ever painted successfully a hole in the ground; for the Grand Canyon is, in reality, only a hole in the ground.

Those who have made the fourteen-mile pilgrimage to the bottom of the gorge tell you the Colorado River is down there, but not a trace of it is to be seen from the mesa at the head of Bright Angel trail. Riding about the rim of the canyon in the direction of Hermit's Rest, we caught a glimpse of broken stretches of the river in the distance; but it was so small, so dwarfed by the immensity surrounding it, that it gave me the impression of a bit of muddy water flowing in a ditch.

Harry has spent two days wandering about the rim, trying to find a composition in some of the broken bits worth recording; but he is beginning to experience the despair of all the sincere artists who try to paint the Grand Canyon. The whole becomes monotonous when reduced to canvas, like painting all the individual heads and shoulders in a crowd, and the broken sections are not artistic in composition.

Moreover, painting the canyon is like trying to paint a landscape upside down. The sky is above it, but one cannot look up and down at the same time. Inspiration comes with elevation, whether in thought or in scenery. One may get dizzy looking down a broken wall several thousand feet, but one doesn't get inspired.

My first impression when I looked out across the canyon was that it resembled something I had seen before. My first view was at high noon, and there was no blue haze to lend color and enchantment to distance. I lingered about the rim of the canyon until sunset. This brought a faint glow to the white and yellow granite, but nothing like one gets looking up at a giant mountain crag in the sunset. I returned to peer over the rim and across the canyon by moonlight; but the moon's rays failed utterly to penetrate the gloom. My impressions were as cold as the wind that swept across the mesa.

This morning I was up to see the sun rise over the canyon. But the glow of the sun on mountain tops was lacking; for the sun was well up in the sky before its rays began to explore the canyon recesses.

There are giant buttes 3000 feet high in the canyon, but their summits do not attain the height of the level rims above and they fail to impress with their majesty. No clouds cluster about their summits, for the clouds are in the sky, not down in the ditch.

This morning I suddenly recalled where I had seen those canyon effects before. It was when I stood on the mountains above the site of the St. Francis Dam two years ago and marked the devastation of the buttes down in the gorge made by the wild rush of the suddenly released waters. Then, for the first time I understood what the Grand Canyon meant, of what cataclysm of nature it remains as a mute record.

I have read none of the theories of the scientists about the formation of the canyon; but, for me it holds no mystery. First is the process of elimination. It is not a volcanic formation; for there is no lava, no trace of the craters of extinct formations. Neither are there hot or mineral springs found in volcanic territory. It is not a wonder of fire, but of water.

Somewhere in the tablelands of Colorado or New Mexico must have been at one time a great lake or inland sea. The lake was formed by a volcanic convulsion that threw a great granite wall across the mouth of the valley. For centuries, perhaps for nameless thousands of years, the waters assembled. Then came another volcanic convulsion and the wall of granite was rent in twain. Under the impact of gravity that giant flood tore down the course of the Colorado, just as the waters of the St. Francis Dam tore down the little Santa Clara River. That was, perhaps, millions of years ago. The surface of the earth was softer than at present and the damage was correspondingly greater. The water forced and melted away the soft sandstone formations, gnawing downward to the granite. The flood swept through Arizona and Southern California into the Gulf of Lower California. The silt which it carried formed the great delta of the Lower Colorado and separated the Salton Sea from the rest of the gulf.

Another million years have passed. The Colorado has eaten its way into the granite and formed the narrow gorges with their granite walls of the swift flowing steam.

The river itself would never have carved for itself so wide a path. A stream never does more work than is necessary to clear its course. Nature is economic in the expenditure of its energy. It is only when some force of nature is overwhelmed by a superior force that devastation comes.

The Grand Canyon of the Colorado offers an object lesson to engineers who build artificial dams. It stands as a perpetual record of the devastating force of assembled waters when suddenly released; and it so becomes a record alike of construction and destruction. It attests that nature itself cannot always keep all its forces under control.

The Grand Canyon can be rightfully classed as one of the wonders of the natural world. As I write a feeling of awe creeps over me; a feeling that was not awakened when I first looked out across the canyon, but that comes only with reflection; awe from reflecting on the titanic invisible forces of nature.

I am sitting under the pines in an auto camp on the rim of the canyon, not more than three blocks from the giant crevasse; but there is nothing visible to suggest its existence. That great flood tore through a pine forest on a mesa. No mountain range is visible except far to the south. If there were mountains they would awaken the feeling of grandeur, which is so ever present when one visits Yosemite. It is the flatness all about that gives the sensation of flatness to the canyon.

The rush of the summer vacationists is on; and they come in crowds. If they were not here I might be less severe with the natural scenery. But the women crowd about as I am looking across to the north wall, trying to grasp the hidden meaning of it all and ask each other in gushing tones, "Isn't it lovely?" Most of them have seen colored copies of Moran's paintings hanging about in the curio shops, and they point out to each other the colors in Moran's canvases.

But those colors are not there; never have been there, and never will be there. Moran was a romantic painter. He painted at times from memory, putting into Yosemite canvases colors that he had seen elsewhere. He even dragged clouds down from the heavens and thrust them into the ditch. He made no pretense at photographic reproduction. He used atmospheric browns, a color that exists nowhere in nature. Moran was a great colorist and he reproduced his romantic dreams on canvas. This is the right and privilege of genius. But when returned tourists tell you they saw Moran's colors on the walls of the Grand Canyon, they are simply victims of their own illusions.

Arizona is as rich as any other State in natural wonders. One of the most picturesque morning rides I ever took was through the Black Mountains, over the highway from Needles to Oatman. There are granite formations that dwarf the imagination of the greatest sculptors. I never saw such a collection of national monuments in symbolic form: castles, Titans, fortresses, cathedral spires, legendary animals—fantastic forms that one can hardly credit to the accident of a volcanic eruption.

I hope to return there, to spend some days studying those formations and developing the inspiration. My imagination may be defective in parts, but I have never yet drawn inspiration from looking into a ditch, however immense.

Soft seats—is a familiar cry to Bowl devotees, and to folk who go to various sports in California; now they have taken to carrying small pneumatic cushions in their pockets, inflating them for use while actually in the bleachers and "squashing" and returning to pockets when the game or concert is over.

RIPPLING RHYMES by Walt Mason

EFFECTS OF ILLNESS

When Jabez Jinks is well and sound, it's good to see him hustling 'round, he is so chipper and so gay, he wears a smile throughout the day. When he takes an honest pride in what his tailor can provide, his raiment is a gorgeous sight, his hats are built exactly right. When well he is prone to be stirred by all the tales he hears; have heard of high achievements in the town, of new landmarks coming down. When well, his kindness to his wife made a poem of her life; never snarls, or says a word that, like a hornet, has a sting. When well his patience is sublime; he will not waste the golden time resenting, refuting that, or knocking the neighbor's hat. He smiles an unruffled brow when we try to start a row. But when comes to Jabez Jinks; the cycles in his legs have kinks; there is a swelling in his neck, drugs are called for by the peck. And it is most exceeding slow how Jabes undergoes a throw. No longer does the man endeavor to dazzle us with fine attire; slouchy do his rags become, might be taken for a bum, wears the sorriest of hats, gracing wife and aunt and life lets his sorrel whiskers grow to flap in all the winds that blow. We tell him stories that should cheer the soul of one who pioneer; great buildings that were nobly planned will soon arise, on every hand. "I do not care three hoots," he sighs, "if town is stagnant, and it is. His wife brings in his pill, compounded by the druggist's skill; he snarls at her, decries, "Oh, chee, I will not wouldn't bother me." And it goes till he shall find he's in his all-ments all behind; then he dons his smile again, just like a million other men.

LANGDON SAYS LOVE-BALM NOTES FORCED FROM HIM

Harry Langdon, wistful-faced comedian of the screen, late yesterday testified that he was forced to sign notes aggregating $11,500, for collection of which he is being sued in Superior Judge Blake's court. Langdon did not look at all wistful, but, extremely belligerent, as he testified that the force employed had its basis in fear of notoriety which would injure him as a motion-picture star and result in his producing company exercising an option ending his services.

Langdon is being sued by Leo Rosecrans and Otto Emme, who were attorneys for Thomas J. O'Brien, first husband of Mrs. Helen Walton Langdon, the actor's present wife. The notes were signed, Langdon testified, after he was notified that O'Brien was preparing to sue him for $250,000 to $300,000 on grounds of alienating his wife's affections.

Examined by Paul Schenck, his attorney, Langdon denied having attempted to alienate Mrs. O'Brien's affections or of having improper conduct with her. He testified to having obtained a release from O'Brien by the payment of $15,000 cash and the giving of three notes aggregating $11,500. That was in October, 1927.

Mrs. Helen Langdon, wife of the comedian and former wife of O'Brien, yesterday concluded her cross-examination, conducted by Rayard Rountree, attorney for the plaintiffs. Garbed modishly, she related that in 1926 Langdon gave her as a Christmas present $1000 with which to buy a fur coat.

Anger took the place of her tears of the preceding day when opposing counsel interrogated her about Langdon.

"Harry Langdon is a man of honor," she stated with spirit. "He tried to defend me when I was in trouble."

supposedly vacant house and walked through its rooms, finally coming to a closet in the storeroom. Shapiro said that when he entered the closet he was supposed to rap three times, but actually was whistling loudly.

"I saw an arm come out of the wall and then a voice addressed me," said Shapiro. "The voice said: 'Hello, Herman!' I didn't say anything. The voice continued: 'Don't be afraid of me.'"

FORCES HIM TO LEAVE

Then Sanhuber's body followed his arm out of the dim light of the closet, the witness continued, and Shapiro saw that he came from a concealed door that led to a compartment in the attic.

"I saw that there was a small mattress in there, quite a supply of canned goods, plates and dishes, a reading lamp, a foot warmer, a radio set, a large collection of books and other things," testified Shapiro.

The witness asserted that he talked to Sanhuber for nearly a day and one-half, finally telling him that he would have to get out of the house. Sanhuber, it was asserted, wanted to stay but finally removed various articles from his attic room and sealed up the secret door.

It was at this point that the defense objected and Sanhuber took the stand in his own defense.

Before Shapiro testified, former Chief of Detectives Herman Cline was a State's witness. Cline told of the police investigation into the murder and of various incidents that led him to suspect that Mrs. Oesterreich either murdered her husband or knew who did. He told of recovering two automatic pistols that Mrs. Oesterreich reputedly gave two different men to dispose of after the murder and of her denials that there had ever been any gun in the house.

QUARRELS RELATED

Deputy County Clerks Lewis and Smith were next placed on the stand to show that the guns, once held as court evidence, were later taken from the jurisdiction of the county when it appeared that the murder would remain unsolved.

O. F. Chatters, formerly a colored cook for Marshall Nellan, film director, who in 1922 lived next door to the Oesterreich residence, testified that he had often heard Mr. and Mrs. Oesterreich quarreling and using violent language.

Investigator Eddie King of the District Attorney's office testified that Sanhuber once consented to show officers where his secret attic door was but that when they arrived at the house he refused.

Phillip J. Stover, brought from Milwaukee as a State's witness, asserted that he knew Sanhuber and the Oesterreichs in the Wisconsin

KLUMB SUES WAKEMAN

A by-product of the Sanhuber trial developed in another court yesterday, when Roy H. Klumb, witness against the ghost man, filed suit for $100,000 against Sanhuber's attorneys, Earl Wakeman and Orville Rogers, for asserted slander.

Klumb asserts that in Wakeman's opening statement to the jury, the attorney said that Klumb was a murderer, and that he expected "to show that this six-foot-four lover was the man who killed Mr. Oesterreich, and that man is Roy Klumb."

This is "false and defamatory," Klumb says, and has damaged his business as a contractor and promoter."

The suit was filed by Attorneys David H. Cannon and Reed.

HOMESTEAD ROW CALLS FOR INQUIRY

Government Land Office Register Says Old Error Caused San Diego Case

Confusion that followed inadvertently in the wake of government surveys, made in 1855 and 1880, of land tracts in the northern part of San Diego county has precipitated claim-jumping attempts in that vicinity, somewhat similar to those directed last week-end at the Rindge Rancho, it was stated yesterday by Brainerd B. Smith, register of the United States Land Office here.

For several days, Smith revealed, he has been investigating charges that Fred E. Weaver and Eber O. Weaver of Watts recently ejected a number of settlers from their homestead sites about six miles north of Warner Hot Springs, insisting that the latter should have located a half-mile farther north. The invaders, it was charged, had hired a land-locator and a surveyor to show that the lands were still open to entry.

Register Smith's investigation, however, has disclosed that the original settlers, whom the Weavers have been trying to oust, were presented with the wrong patents when they located on the land years ago. Therefore, through an unintentional error, they now hold only patents to other sites. This is the basis upon which the Weavers have intended to file their claims.

The mistake, brought to light after fifty years by the foray of the Weavers and others, will be rectified eventually by the government, according to Register Smith. It will necessitate, he says, a general transfer to the original settlers of the properly corresponding patents.

Gas Company Urges Project

Liquid-gas service in the Las Flores Canyon and Malibu Beach districts north of Santa Monica was proposed yesterday by the Southern Counties Gas Company at a hearing before Examiner Handford of the State Railroad Commission on an application of the utility concern to exercise franchise rights in the beach area. Examiner Handford took the application under submission.

It is proposed to distribute the gas from two plants.

M. B. HENRY'S BODY TO BE SENT EAST

Civil War Veteran Will Be Laid to His Last Rest in Topeka Cemetery

The body of Maxwell B. Henry, 84 years of age, a man of many prominent connections and a resident in Los Angeles for eleven years, will be sent back to Topeka, Kan., today after funeral services which will be conducted in Peck & Chase mortuary at 10:30 a.m. Services will be conducted also in Topeka, where the body will arrive Saturday for interment in Topeka Cemetery.

Mr. Henry was a direct descendant of Patrick Henry. His great-grandfather, John Maxwell, was a colonel in the Revolutionary War.

Mr. Henry himself was a colonel in the Civil War. He fought part of the time under Grant. Among his prized possessions was a letter of thanks from Lincoln for especial services to the Great Emancipator.

Mr. Henry was born in Shelby county, Ohio. He was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University, class of '70, and from Harvard Law School, class of '71. Death occured Tuesday after a week's acute illness. He was at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Cara Major Groff, 2716 Reservoir street, where he had made his home for some time. Another daughter is Mrs. Henry P. Charles of Los Angeles. He also leaves another daughter, Mrs. James P. Murray of Detroit, Mich.

FINN'S HEIRS MAY SETTLE WILL FIGHT

Agreement Out of Court on Iowan's $1,000,000 Estate Intimated

When the contest over the will of George Lafayette Finn, Iowa State Senator who left a $1,000,000 estate, was called yesterday before Superior Judge Archbald, a settlement out of court was intimated. At request of Attorney B. F. Griffith, the case was continued until negotiations can be completed.

Bitter disputes among the relatives have followed the discovery that Finn left three wills and eight codicils, as well as a revocation document. David Burr Lucky, a nephew, offered for probate a will dated January 17, 1929, three days preceding Finn's death. Gladys L. McAfee, a grandniece, opposed probate. She asserted that the signature is a forgery, and that the will had been altered after it was signed. That the witnesses were incompetent, and that Finn's illness and advanced age rendered the document invalid, were her further contentions.

Charles H. Finn, a brother of George Lafayette Finn, joined Mrs. McAfee in opposing probate. He offered wills dated 1925 and 1926 which divided $350,000 among seventy-five persons. A portion of the estate, according to these wills, also was left to Lucky and D. C. Finn, a brother, since deceased. Lucky contested admission to probate of these earlier wills.

Bank Directors Pay Tribute to Dead Consul

In recognition of the high esteem in which the late Dr. Siegfried Hagen, German Consul in Los Angeles, was held in this city, the board of directors of the German American Savings Bank yesterday announced adoption of a resolution extending heartfelt sympathy to the diplomat's widow. Dr. Hagen died in Germany the 8th inst.

"We feel that in the passing of Consul Hagen we have lost a personal friend and that the German-American citizens of this city have lost a worthy representative," the resolution reads in part.

A copy of the resolution is to be sent to the bereaved family.

NEBRASKANS WILL MEET

The Thayer county (Nebraska) Society will hold a basket picnic Sunday at the police pistol range in Elysian Park. All former residents are invited.

BAR WILL OPEN SESSION TODAY

Invitation to Be Considered for National Convention

Educational Standards Will Be One Topic Considered

Debate Scheduled Tonight at Meeting of Sections

The board of governors of the State Bar of California will hold their June meeting here beginning at 9 a.m. today. The sessions will occupy three days in the courtroom of the District Court of Appeal in the Associated Realty Building.

The board will discuss the issuance of an invitation to the American Bar Association to hold its 1932 convention in California.

Ambulance-chasing activities at Los Angeles and San Francisco will be the subject of reports, as will various problems connected with the fight of the State bar against the unlawful practice of the law.

EDUCATIONAL ASPECT

The problems arising out of the present condition of the law with regard to educational standards for admission to practice law also will be considered and a program formulated for dealing with this particular phase of the State bar's activities. The fact that 62 per cent of those who took the April examinations failed is regarded in many quarters as an indication that a concerted effort should be made to bring about higher educational standards.

Acceptance of the Morrison Trust providing for an annual address under the auspices of the State bar by a jurist of national reputation on a topic relating to the practice of the law or the administration of justice will be considered in a report by President Beardsley. The first of this series of lectures will be given at the Pasadena convention of the State bar at Hotel Huntington by Dean Roscoe Pound of Harvard University law school on September 18.

PROGRAM PLANNING

The board will determine on the form and arrangement of the program for the annual meeting at this session.

The board will dispose of its customary disciplinary calendar. President Charles A. Beardsley of Oakland, will preside and there will be present Lawrence F. Puter, Eureka; Jesse W. Carter, Redding; J. W. S. Butler, Sacramento; Fracis V. Keesling, Max C. Sloss and Joe G. Sweet, San Francisco; William H. Donahue, Oakland; J. W. Hawkins, Modesto; David M. Burnett, San Jose; Alfred L. Bartlett, Henry G. Bodkin, Thomas C. Ridgway and Leonard B. Slosson, Los Angeles; Eugene Daney, San Diego.

Active resumption of section activities of the State bar will be inaugurated this evening at a mass meeting and dinner in the Orange Grove Room of the Hotel Hayward. The entire membership of the board of governors and the board of trustees of the Los Angeles Bar Association will attend.

DEBATE SCHEDULED

The dinner will be under the auspices of the five Los Angeles county sections, of which Andrew J. Copp, Jr., Frank Stafford, Robert M. Clarke, Julius Patrosso and Howard Robertson are chairmen.

The principal feature of the gathering will be a debate on the proposition recently submitted to the membership of the State bar by the board of governors:

Should the Constitution be so amended as to permit the Supreme Court and the District Courts of Appeal to decide cases without the necessity of written opinions, except as prescribed by the Legislature?

Former Superior Judge Leslie R. Hewitt will have the affirmative and Superior Judge Albert Lee Stephens the negative.

Brass Bands and Throngs to Greet Mrs. M'Pherson

Carnival atmosphere will mark the arrival here Saturday of Aimee Semple McPherson, pastor of Angelus Temple, who is returning with a delegation of her followers from a three-months trip to the Holy Land. Several thousand members of her congregation, it is announced, will welcome the evangelist as she leaves the Union Pacific Continental Limited at 5:30 p.m. and escort her to the temple for a formal reception. Brass bands will provide music for the parade, while airplanes and colored balloons hover overhead.

Mrs. McPherson is accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, who greeted her on her recent arrival in New York.

Casey Jones's Case Recalled

Like the immortal Casey Jones, celebrated in song, Eliza A. Worden, railroad engineer, had another "momma" on the Salt Lake line, according to the $50,000 alienation suit filed by Mrs. Florence R. Worden against Mrs. Ethel M. Poole, yesterday.

Mrs. Worden also sued her husband for divorce, asserting cruelty. Worden is charged with having beaten his wife while intoxicated.

Of Interest to Women

Society

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

Of more than usual interest to society of the Southland as well as Philadelphia is the announcement made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Orman E. McCartney of 806 North Crescent Drive, Beverly Hills, of the engagement of their attractive daughter, Miss Helen McCartney, to George C. Thomas III, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Thomas, Jr., of 1014 North Crescent Drive, Beverly Hills, formerly of Philadelphia.

No date is announced as yet for the wedding, but many lovely pre-nuptial affairs are being arranged in honor of this popular bride-elect, who was graduated from the Bennett School at Millbrook, N. Y., and has a host of friends in the Southland.

Felicitations

Congratulations are being extended Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harry Matthews over the arrival the 10th inst., in Angelus Hospital, of a tiny daughter, who is to be called Jane Bartholomew Matthews. Mr. and Mrs. Matthews are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harlow L. Bartholomew, 152 West Fifty-sixth street.

On Honeymoon

Mr. and Mrs. Farley Palmer, whose wedding was a brilliant event of April 30, are still on their honeymoon and after August 15 will return to make their future home here.

Mrs. Palmer was formerly Miss Margaret Stewart Hannah, youngest daughter of the late Dolphes B. Hannah, widely known among early California pioneers as the Sheriff of Sacramento county when the State was admitted to the Union. She was graduated from Drexel in Philadelphia and served overseas during the recent World War with the Y.M.C.A., being located at Verdun and Is-Sur-Tille, while Mr. Palmer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Eugene Palmer of Sioux Falls, S. D. He was graduated from Shattuck School, Faribault, Minn., and attended University of Arizona at Tucson, and is a member of Sigma Chi Fraternity.

The ceremony took place at the lovely home of the bridegroom's aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. De Nelson Smith, 232 South Norton avenue, with Rev. Arthur H. Wurtele officiating, beneath a canopied bower of pink roses and greenery.

The bride was charming in a rose-beige chiffon and lace gown, with hat and shoes of corresponding tones and carried a bouquet of yellow roses and lilies of the valley, while Mrs. John Hubert Grizzard, matron of honor, and Miss Jeannette MacDonald, maid of honor, wore frocks of flowered net in pastel shades with hats and shoes to harmonize and carried flowers to match their gowns.

John Hubert Grizzard served as best man, and John Devere Jensen presided at the piano and played the wedding music.

A wedding breakfast immediately followed the ceremony, only relatives and a few close friends being bidden.

Gone East

Mrs. John Stewart Daggett of 2126 Mayview Drive, with her young son, John Stewart Daggett, Jr., left Tuesday evening for the East. They are going first to Dalton, Mo., to visit with Mrs. Daggett's mother, Mrs. Anna Buntin, and leaving John, Jr., there, Mrs. Daggett will go on to Lake Forest, Ill., to visit with her husband's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Byron S. Harvey (Helen Daggett,) for several weeks. They plan to be gone about six weeks.

Tiny Daughter Arrives

Felicitations are being extended Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Whitney Chandler (Dorothy Servis) on the arrival of a tiny daughter, May 27, at St. Vincent's Hospital, who is to be christened Barbara Sue.

For Bride-elect

Miss Anne Freberg and Bonar Dyer were guests of honor at a charmingly appointed dinner-dance given at the Deauville Beach Club by Miss Adele Hertzog, covers being arranged for sixteen, the decorations being carried out with pastel-shaded flowers. The wedding of Miss Freberg and Mr. Dyer will take place Saturday, the 21st inst. Warren Crowell entertained with a bridge and dancing party honoring Miss Freberg, Mr. Dyer and their wedding party, at his home in Fifth avenue, while Mrs. Braven Dyer is giving a buffet supper and bridge at her home in Santa Monica Canyon for them, and Miss Hertzog entertained with a bridge supper at her home in South Bronson avenue for Miss Freberg.

Another hostess honoring Miss Freberg was Miss Marcella Simran, who gave a tea at the Los Serranos Country Club last Saturday afternoon, the occasion also serving formally to announce her engagement to Frank Dyer, Jr.

Home from Convention

Miss Sophie Grossman, president of Epsilon chapter Delta Omega Iota Sorority at Los Angeles, returned Monday from Stockton, where she attended the semiannual State conference of the national nonsacademic organization. Saturday evening the guests were entertained at a dancing party given at Calaveras Yacht and Country Club in Stockton, and Sunday morning the presidents and members of the various chapters on the Pacific Coast assembled at Wilson's for luncheon. The next conference will be in Oakland in November.

At Coronado

Hotel Del Coronado has been the mecca for many visitors from Los Angeles and other places throughout the State and the entire country, who have enjoyed the golf and tennis, the swimming, boating, riding and the many sports for which the resort is noted, during the past week.

Mrs. John J. Doran with her son, William J. Doran, of Pasadena, and the former's sister, Mrs. William Borbridge, of Altadena, motored down at the end of the week for a visit here and one day during their stay visited Agua Caliente, in company with Mrs. Sylvester Weaver and her daughter, Miss Rosemary Weaver, of Fremont Place down for the week-end at Hotel Del Coronado. The Dorans have a summer home at Mackinac Island, Mich., and another in Canada, and pass their winters in Pasadena, while the Weavers have been in New York this winter, where Miss Rosemary has been in school.

Mrs. Harry L. Thompson, with her aunt, Mrs. Cora Abel and the latter's daughter, Mrs. Marie A. Reeder of Pasadena, passed several days at Hotel Del Coronado on a motor trip through the south; with them was Mrs. Isabella Allen of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Aubrey Davidson, who live at Hotel Del Coronado, have returned from a week's trip to Los Angeles and the north, bringing back with them Mrs. Mark Baldwin Lewis of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Joseph Scott and her daughter, Miss Mary Scott, of 1199 South Orange Grove avenue, Pasadena, who have been frequent visitors at Coronado for a number of years, motored down for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hay, with their son, James Hay, and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Howard of Los Angeles, were visitors for several days at Hotel Del Coronado while motoring through the south.

George Stewart McManus, pianist and chairman of the department of music of the University of California, the week visitor at Hotel Del Coronado at Los Angeles, was an end of nado.

A Bedtime Story

JERRY ENJOYS A LITTLE JOKE

The truly smart are far too wise
To let their ego blind their eyes.
—Old Mother Nature.

Peter Rabbit was very much out of sorts. He had failed to find the new home of Jerry Muskrat. Of course, what he was looking for was a house—just such a house as Jerry had long had in the Smiling Pool. You know Jerry Muskrat's house is often very much like a small edition of the house of Paddy the Beaver. It usually stands in the water and the roof comes well above the water. In fact, Jerry's bedroom is above the water and has a nice arched roof. There are no windows and no doors to be seen. The entrance is from beneath. It is under water. Jerry has a tunnel which leads right into the cellar of his house and then opens into his bedroom. This was the kind of house that Peter Rabbit had looked for along the Laughing Brook, above the Smiling Pool and along the Laughing Brook below the Smiling Pool.

Now, all the time Peter thought that Jerry Muskrat didn't know of the search that Peter was making. As a matter of fact, Jerry knew all about it and he chuckled a great deal.

"Peter thinks himself very smart," chuckled Jerry. "He is sure that he can find my house and he is sure that I don't know that he is looking for it. By and by he'll tell me that I haven't any house. Yes sir, that is what he'll do. He'll come around and tell me that I haven't any house, because he hasn't been able to find it. It hasn't entered that funny head of his that there may be more than one kind of house."

Sure enough, it happened just as Jerry Muskrat expected. The very first time that Peter Rabbit saw Jerry, he accused him of being dishonest. Jerry pretended to be indignant, but all the time down inside he was laughing.

"Peter Rabbit," said he indignantly, "don't you dare say that I haven't told the truth! Don't you dare do it! I told you that I have another home. That is the truth,

"Peter Rabbit," said he indignantly, "don't you dare say that I haven't told the truth" the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. It's a good home, if I do say so. It is a very good home. I'll be glad to have you visit me there any time that you feel like doing so." Jerry's eyes twinkled when he said this.

Peter didn't know just what to say. No, sir, Peter didn't know just what to say. "I-I-I don't mean to say that you haven't told the truth," said he. "Just the same, I can't help feeling that it is queer that I can't find that new house of yours. There is nothing the matter with my eyes and certainly that house of yours is big enough to be seen by anyone."

"That depends," replied Jerry. "I know that my old house was easily seen. In fact, anyone who visited the Smiling Pool would have to be blind not to see it. But you know there are houses and houses, Peter, and not all houses are alike. Now, my present house isn't anything at all like my old house. No, sir, it isn't anything at all like that old house. That is, it isn't anything at all like it in looks. You might sit right on it and not know it."

"What's that?" cried Peter sharply.

"I said that you might sit right on the roof of my house and not know you were sitting on it at all," replied Jerry. "In fact, you are sitting on it right this very minute."

You should have seen Peter Rabbit jump up! It was funny. He jumped up and turned around and stared in every direction. When he looked back in the water, Jerry Muskrat had disappeared. Once more Peter looked. All he could see was the grass-covered bank of the Smiling Pool. "Now, what did Jerry Muskrat mean by that?" muttered Peter.

MUSCLE TRAINING FOR HEALTH AND BEAUTY

We have a natural appreciation of beauty which causes us to admire a well-formed man or woman. In looking at a person we only see the outside, but if we could see under the skin we would find out that the best-formed figures receive their contour principally from muscles. If there is not enough muscle, or if there is too much fat, the figure appears disproportioned. For the figure to appear at its best, the muscles must be evenly developed—not too much or too little in spots.

Many thin people, women especially, make the mistake of trying to become rounder by becoming fat. If this is done without developing the muscles, it always results in the weight becoming distributed unevenly and, hence, unbeautifully. Many women are afraid to exercise for fear they will appear muscular. This is a mistaken idea, because it is almost impossible for a woman to develop those bulging muscles that you sometimes see in men athletes. About the only way a woman could develop such muscles would be to go in for heavy weight lifting, and even then she would not be likely to have bulging muscles because in a woman there is a tendency for fat to develop to round off the muscular development.

If you wish to increase your strength, make yourself more attractive, reduce, build up those fashionable lines and lose that overstuffed or undernourished appearance, it is a good plan to look to your muscles.

Recently, within a few miles of where I am writing this article, a dancing marathon took place. The dancers had been dancing for fifty days and nights, resting only afteen minutes every hour. In this long drain on endurance it would seem that the participants would become very thin and emaciated. Instead, they made a surprising gain of from ten to twenty-four pounds, due to muscular development as a result of the strenuous activity. I do not advocate these long-drawn-out dancing marathons, but the point I am making is that one of the best ways to round out the figure is to fill out the hollows with muscles. Oddly enough, the right kind of exercises will also keep one from becoming too fat because the blood circulates so much better when one exercises regularly that it tends to remove fatty deposits in any one spot.

Even for men I do not advocate the development of bulging muscles. It is good to have moderately sized muscles which are built for endurance. This is especially true for those seeking health. Bulging muscles are of little practical use without the stamina for continued efforts. If you are to live a long time and be in good health, you should try to build up your endurance so that you have a reserve vitality. The best way to do this is by careful, regular exercises. The muscles which are most important for building up the endurance and getting rid of the tired feeling are those of the abdomen and lower back. For any continued effort you must keep these muscles in good condition.

Your body is overlaid beneath the skin with a sheath of muscles which cover you from top to toe. Without muscular movement you could do nothing physically. If they are weak you do not feel capable of accomplishment, but if your muscles are strong enough to serve you without tiring, you will be able to build up a confidence in yourself which you cannot acquire in any other way.

Sick-room Tips

A single flower in a narrow vase adds much to the beauty of the invalid's tray.

If you happen to read a funny story, a piece of beautiful poetry, cut them out of the paper and send one of these up with the tray each meal.

If the invalid is well enough to attend to herself when eating, leave her alone with the tray. You will find she will eat more and complain less when alone.

Never let slip what you are planning to bring to the invalid for the next meal. If you do you will find by that time she will have found all sorts of reasons why that is just the thing she does not feel like eating. Let the tray contain a surprise.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Only Your Own

Don't try on other people's glasses or try to fit cheap glasses to your eyes. Eyes are too precious to take foolish chances with them. Have your vision tested by a reliable eye specialist before wearing any glasses. Then have your own prescription filled.

Handiest Foremost

When arranging your kitchen utensils, give the places of prominence to the articles most used, tucking the other things on the backs of the shelves or in less accessible places. It means fewer steps for the housewife and is much easier to keep things in order.

Watered for a Week

A successful way of keeping the house plant fresh when away for a week's trip is to soak a large sponge well with water and place it on the dirt in the pot. The plant will absorb enough water to keep it fresh while you are away.

Home Repairs

If you should accidentally chip a piece out of the top of a valued vase, mold a piece of putty into the cavity and paint it the same shade as the rest of the vase. It will be noticed far less than if left chipped.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

ASPARAGUS AU GRATIN

Place a layer of cold boiled asparagus in a baking dish, and over it a layer of grated cheese, repeating until the amount required has been used. Make a cream sauce of two tablespoonfuls of butter, three tablespoonfuls of flour, and one cupful of milk, season with salt and white pepper. Pour this over the dish, sprinkle with finely buttered bread crumbs, and finely chopped parsley. Add another layer of the cheese, place in a moderate oven and bake until brown.

CHERRY PUDDING

One egg, one tablespoonful of melted butter, two cupfuls of flour, one-half cupful of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of sour milk and two cupfuls of pitted cherries. Beat the egg until light, gradually add the sugar and melted butter. Sift the flour and soda together, mix the cherries with the flour, then mix into the egg mixture. Place in a baking dish and bake in a moderate oven. Serve with a cherry sauce.

EGG PLANT WITH WALNUTS

One medium-sized egg plant, one cupful of chopped walnuts, two tablespoonfuls of bread crumbs, two eggs, salt, paprika, a half a cupful of bread crumbs and two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Cut the egg plant, after peeling, into dice, cover it with one-fourth of a cupful of water, cook until tender, drain, mash to a pulp, add to the pulp the chopped walnuts, two tablespoonfuls of bread crumbs, well-beaten eggs, salt and paprika. Mix thoroughly, place in a well-oiled baking dish, cover with a half a cupful of bread crumbs, that has been mixed with the melted butter, place in a moderate oven and bake until brown.

CHOCOLATE ICE BOX CAKE

Four ounces of sweet chocolate, four tablespoonfuls of hot water, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, four eggs, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract, one cupful of whipped cream, two dozen lady fingers. Melt the chocolate in the hot water and when dissolved, add the sugar. Allow to cool, then add the yolks of the eggs, one at a time, and beat well, after the addition of each yolk. Add the vanilla extract and the well-beaten whites of the eggs. Place a layer of lady fingers around the sides and bottom of a mould, cover with the chocolate mixture, then add another layer of the lady fingers, cover with the chocolate mixture, place in the ice box to harden, serve with whipped cream to which has been added a few drops of vanilla.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

Novelties, Ideas, and Suggestions

By OLIVE GRAY

The Grad Gift

Never too late to choose a gift—the eleventh-hour or even the twelfth being open to gifting. For the graduation presentation this season seems especially accommodating, th multiplicity of personal accessories being beyond numeration.

One of the latest popular articles for the purpose, is the bangle bracelet. Whether simple or elaborate, the bracelet with dangling objects—"all for luck"—has an extended value, since more lucky pieces may be added from time to time. Many of the most desirable of these novel bracelets are fitted with elephants, little lucky dogs and other animals declared to carry the favors of Fortune. Preferably, those leashed animals are of real jade, carnelian, or other precious or semiprecious stones; but there always is the "costume" gem, quite well simulating its more expensive relatives.

Ivy Lawns

No, no! Not a fabric—although it might be called "yardage." I refer to the lawn made from running English ivy. The parkways of a fine new sky-scraper has this beautiful creeping vine, in lieu of grass. Set round by a box-wood hedge, the effect is charming. A suggestion, this, for those who have vainly tried to raise a lawn of grass, in some spot where grass-seed simply refuses to become a velvety surface.

Duckie Squeezers

A singularly expressive duck of china, is a citrus squeezer. Cleverly simulating in color the duckie that it represents, the open bill is used for pouring out the juice, after it is "squozen."

Bubbles

Bubbles to hang in the window where the sun shines, are a recently devised decoration for the home. Of opalescent glass, these globules, really do look like big bubbles suspended in air. They are upheld upon almost invisible wires and if so desired, may contain a dainty vine or flower.

Hand-Painted Damask

The most sumptuous of wedding damask—gifty enough to serve a queen, is that whereon the woven patterns are hand-painted at intervals. It is declared—and the store where this exquisite product is dispensed is of the most reliable—that the cloth is washable.

Honeyed Silver

A honey jar of silver deposit, on glass either of crystaline clarity or in dainty tints of amber, rose or violet, is an enchanting table-piece. Quiet gift-worthy, too, this romantic jar with its silver honey-bee poised atop the lid.

The wedding gift should be, not merely an object for discharging an obligation, but a subject given earnest thought.

For, by means of this gift, we are projecting ourselves into the future home of the recipient. It is to become an emisary for harmony and usefulness, in the lives to be centered in that new household—is to do its share "for better or worse" and hence is something to be chosen reverently, rather than perfunctorally.

A Novel Set

"What are they?" asked the lady. "Sure enough, what?" I responded. We were looking at a silver set, daintily boxed, and offered on the extensive silver counters where everything just now is wedding-gifty. Breaking in to our marveling, the saleswoman replied: "They serve a double purpose. Thus they are for holding corn on the cob. And this way"—and she removed the spear—"they are for holding strawberries, while eating them whole and diped in sugar." Of course, these novel sets were in silver and well designed.

Turning a New Corner

Newest arm-kerchieves have corners fashion from frilled-on lace. A deft bit of work, it is to attach this lace around the corners of the filmy chiffons, and to turn those corners to a nicety. The creamy lace adds a touch inexpressibly dainty to the colored arm-kerchief.

The Perk of the Bow

With bows taking so prominent a part in millinery, as they do this season, the perk of the bow forms its salient feature. In fact, this bow is likely to be the sole feature, with many hats. Probably there is nothing ever known to hat-making, quite so dependent upon real millinery genius, as the making of the bow. Then comes the posing thereof—an art almost equally difficult. Both arts are brought to bear, in the new bowed hats.

Pinned and Plisse

Some of the new frocks for graduation, for bridery and even for mere evening wear, have a multiplicity of flounces for skirt distention. Some of these flounces are pleated and with edges pinked out, adding a still further effect of fullness to skirts already full.

Fine China

Don't wash fine china in boiling hot water.

Don't use soap powder or coarse soap on fine china.

Keep fine china behind glass doors to protect it from gritty dust.

Avoid sudden changes of heat and cold when handling fine china.

Don't soak fine china or porcelain in soapy water for any length of time.

Don't use your very best china for everyday use. It will soon be broken and you will have nothing to match in order to set an attractive table when entertaining.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

GET YOUR INFORMATION FROM RELIABLE SOURCES

In a tone of deep resentment I heard a doctor say to one of his patients the other day, "Oh, you mothers! You'll believe anything that any ignoramus tells you before you'll accept the word of the best doctors."

Because this truth has so often been brought home to me, I was amused when I read the following statement in the June Harper's in an article by Katherine Fullerton Gierould: "... for he realizes that, since human development is such a complicated business since there are always more factors in a problem than any one man can reckon with, to be glib is to be wrong."

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 4 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, tubs, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, stoves and bolts and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

The author wasn't talking about babies, but both statements are twigs from the same branch. It is absolutely true that the "glib" adviser is almost always wrong. She takes account of no personal peculiarities, she doesn't even think, but passes on as pearls of wisdom what she has heard in her youth from heaven knows what sources, and confounds her listener into a hesitant belief.

SECOND SUMMER AGAIN

Thus we still have mothers eager to tell all who will listen that the baby must be nursed through the second summer, because otherwise he'll have trouble with his teeth. And this is the exact opposite of what we know from experience to be true—that the baby who is nursed during the second summer receives such inadequate nourishment that he is certain to have teething trouble.

Here are some gems culled from one day's mail, and no effort was made to find them, either:

"My mother says it's strong to bathe the child every day, because it's weakening. Evidently 'my mother' has refused to note the millions of well-cared-for babies and children who are bathed daily from infancy throughout the period of childhood, with no effects whatever except that they are always clean.

"Some people say the baby has to have stiff-soled shoes to protect his ankles."

"My aunt says a child ought to have a physic every week to give it a clearing out."

FAMILIAR ADVICE

"My husband says that no child under 2 years of age can wear slippers, it's too hard on his ankles."

"My relatives say that if I keep the baby on a schedule he will get all upset when occasion arises and I can't keep to the schedule."

If there is truth to be found in any one of those statements it is merely a germ. Yet they are all familiar as the type of statements passed on constantly. Sometimes one wonders why no amount of refutation or publicity of the right ideas ever seems to cause them to wither. It goes back to those two earlier statements made at the beginning of this article. People are always more ready to believe the self-appointed adviser and critic than they are the reliable adviser. And the self-appointed critic and ready adviser, the glib talker who has a pat solution for everything, is practically always wrong.

WALLACE WILL GUIDE PICTURE

Noted Director Assigned to "Rodeo Romance"

Louis Bromfield Pens Story for Ronald Colman

Kay Francis Given Role in Paramount Film

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Having returned from his round-the-world trip apparently all freshened up for work, Richard Wallace, Paramount director, yesterday received a nice assignment.

RICHARD WALLACE

Wallace is to direct Richard Arlen and Nancy Carroll in "Rodeo Romance," adapted from Mary Roberts Rinehart's story of the same name. The vehicle, by the way, is not a starring vehicle for Miss Carroll, for Arlen and the actress are to be co-featured in it. Miss Carroll is now in the East, but will return shortly to begin work in the picture.

The director returns from his trip with a complete diary of the events of the trip and one wouldn't be a bit surprised to hear that he is writing a book based on it. Indeed, one hears that this is exactly what he means to do.

Before leaving on his trip there were rumbles to the effect that all was not well between the director and Paramount. However, he has signed a new contract which appears to be eminently satisfactory to everybody. A Paramount official said yesterday that Wallace had never directed a failure for the company. He directed, among others, the two Moran and Mack pictures, as well as "Seven Days' Leave" and the first Chevalier picture, "Innocents in Paris."

POPULAR WRITER TO PEN GOLDWYN STORY

It is all settled that no less popular a novelist than Louis Bromfield, Pulitzer prize writer and author of "The Green Bay Tree" as well as other best sellers, is to write the next story which will serve as a starring vehicle for Ronald Colman, Goldwyn luminary. No intimation as to the nature or title of the story has been received.

LOUIS BROMFIELD

Bromfield has just completed the original story for Evelyn Laye's new starring operetta, "Lilli," which goes into production next month. He and his family will return to France within the next two weeks for the summer. While abroad, Bromfield expects to complete a new novel.

Under his arrangement with Samuel Goldwyn, the novelist will continue his literary work while at the same time writing the new original story for Colman. He will return to Hollywood in the autumn to aid in preparations for the filming of the story.

Lily Cahill Here for Films

Lily Cahill, who is not unknown to fame on Broadway, has come west with Fay Bainter, and though nightly engaged at the Belasco in "Caprice" is looking over the picture field.

It is known that one of the major picture concerns is negotiating for Miss Cahill's services. She has appeared in New York in several successful plays.

Kay Francis Plays Lead

That very charming young actress, Kay Francis, is to play opposite Walter Huston in Paramount's production of "The General," we learned yesterday.

KAY FRANCIS

Louis Gasnier and George Cukor will direct the feature, which is to have color sequences, and is otherwise planned as one of the outstanding productions of the Paramount year.

Miss Francis's rise in pictures has been rapid, and the fact that her reputation when she first came from New York principally rested on the fact that she was considered the best-dressed woman on the New York Broadway is rapidly being forgotten in the fact that she is revealing splendid acting talent.

Bert Lytell's Plans

That very engaging actor, Bert Lytell, is to star in two Columbia pictures, after which, next autumn, he is to return to New York to appear in a new play to be produced by the Shuberts. The play is from the French, and promises Lytell a fine acting opportunity.

However, his final plans are for pictures, and when the run of the play is finished he expects to come back to Hollywood and free lance in the talkers.

Bernice Claire Goes East

When Bernice Claire recovered from her nervous breakdown, she hoped to go on with her picture work for First National. But it was not to be.

Miss Claire has received a call from New York to return and play the leading role in a new musical to be produced by Charles Dillingham, to whom she is under contract.

Finis Fox With Universal

No less accomplished a scenarist than Finis Fox, who has many screen stories to his credit, including all of Edwin Carewe's United Artists successes, has been engaged by Universal to write the script and dialogue for the talking version of Tolstoy's "Resurrection."

Fox wrote the silent version, in which Dolores Del Rio achieved success.

Universal Plans Comedies

Universal is not to give up the ship so far as two-reel comedies are concerned, no matter what other companies see fit to do.

The organization has engaged Ed Kauffman, formerly of Educational, to produce two series of short comedies, the names and natures of which are not yet revealed.

Robert Elliot at Warners

That convincing actor, Robert Elliot, who won theatergoers with his characterization of a detective in "Broadway," has just been signed by Warners on a long-term contract.

Elliot's first assignment will be a featured role in "The Gay Caballero."

"BIG HOUSE" INCLUDES NOTED TEAMS IN CAST

Noted duos and teams will be seen in "The Big House" coming to the Criterion Theater Wednesday.

Chester Morris and Robert Montgomery, the two youthful leading men in "The Divorcee," also appear together in prominent roles in "The Big House."

Lewis Stone and De Witt Jennings, who proved strong attractions with Norma Shearer in "The Trial of Mary Dugan" have important parts, and Wallace Beery and Karl Dane, noted as comedians in many M.-G.-M. pictures, are seen together again in the new Criterion attraction. Beery has perhaps the most dominating role in "The Big House."

A celebrated duo, husband and wife, are credited with much of the dramatic power of "The Big House." The team of Frances Marion, authoress, and George Hill, director, co-operated to inject both strong feminine interest and masculine appeal into the picture.

Another team, associated on the speaking stage, appear in "The Big House." More than a decade ago when Leila Hyams was playing little-girl roles on the stage, Clair McDowell was featured as her "big sister." In "The Big House" Claire McDowell plays a mother role.

'Border Legion' Screened Today at Paramount

"The Border Legion," Paramount's picturization of Zane Grey's novel, starts today at the Paramount Theater with a cast headed by Jack Holt, Richard Arlen and Fay Wray.

Jack Holt's role is that of the Legion leader, marking his initial appearance in a Zane Grey characterization for the audible screen. To Arlen falls the role of a romantic cowboy who joins the outlaw band and fights for the love of Fay Wray. The picture was filmed against a background of mountain scenery.

Included in the cast are Eugene Pallette in a comedy role, Stanley Fields and E. H. Calvert. Otto Brower and Edwin H. Knopf directed.

Current Bill at Downtown Ends Tonight

Dolores Costello in "Hearts in Exile" is to be screened for the last times today at Warner Brothers Downtown Theater. In this production Miss Costello has the unusual role of a Russian peasant girl who is exiled to Siberia with her nobleman husband. Included in the cast are Grant Withers, James Kirkwood and George Fawcett.

Starting tomorrow, Corinne Griffith will appear in "Back Pay," a First National and Vitaphone production with Grant Withers and Montagu Love. Miss Griffith is said to have one of her best dramatic opportunities in this story by Fannie Hurst.

GALA EVENT SCHEDULED AT CIRCLE

Celebrities to Attend Local Premiere of Will Rogers Film

At the Carthay Circle Theater tonight all the Billies of Beverly Hills will turn out to pay homage to their illustrious ex-Mayor, Will Rogers, and their ex-belle, Irene Rich, at the western premiere of Rogers's second Fox production, "So This is London." Will Rogers, Jr., will act as master of ceremonies along with Frank Albertson.

Celebrities from all walks of life, including the stage and screen, will be on hand to greet the noted American humorist's second talking screen vehicle. Word from the Carthay Circle promises a long list of personalities.

As an added feature of this gala occasion, the festivities will be broadcast over the radio.

"So This Is London" was directed by John Blystone and adapted from George M. Cohan's stage success by Owen Davis, Sr., who also contributed the dialogue. The supporting cast includes Frank Albertson, Maureen O'Sullivan, Lumsden Hare, Mary Forbes, Bramwell Thatcher Dorothy Christy, Martha Lee Sparks and Ellen Woodston. The program also includes Movietone News, an M.-G.-M. dog comedy, "The Dogville Murder Case," and Abe Lyman and his band.

Youth Scores in "Caprice" at Belasco

Although nothing was said about it in advance and even alert first-nighters and professionals did not notice it at the Belasco, David Scott, who plays the role of the boy in support of Fay Bainter in "Caprice," was appearing back of the footlights for the third time in his life. The two previous times were the two preliminary nights of the play in Santa Barbara.

Scott has scored a distinct hit as the young poet, according to the theater management, and in no way let down by inexperience the performances of such expert players as Miss Bainter, Reginald Owen or Lily Cahill.

The boy's histrionic career is limited to three small roles in talking pictures and his present engagement. "Caprice" is at the Belasco for a limited run.

MIDNIGHT FROLIC TO BE STAGED

Orpheum Plans Gala Show With "Swing High" Cast Present on Stage

Plans have been completed by the Orpheum for a gala midnight frolic Saturday night, to be staged under the auspices of the Graeyer Clover Post of the American Legion.

The Orpheum will open "Swing High," film of circus life, Saturday, and it has been arranged to have the entire cast present for the late show.

Among those who appear in "Swing High" and will also be present on the stage are Helen Twelvetrees, Fred Scott, Dorothy Burgess, Chester Conklin, Bryant Washburn, William Langan, Sally Starr, Nick Stuart and others.

United Artists Keeps 'Big Pond' for Added Week

Maurice Chevalier in "The Big Pond" has proved such a success at the United Artists Theater that at the last minute the management decided to hold it over for another week, according to an announcement.

This comedy-drama of American life is the first picture this year to run four weeks at the United Artists. It is expected that it will eclipse the record set by Mary Pickford's "Coquette." "Shadows of the Law," a prison drama starring William Powell, has been postponed.

The surrounding program for the coming week includes Gaylord Carter playing "Bits of Chevalier Hits" on the organ; "Campus Crushes," a Mack Sennett comedy; a Terry-toon cartoon; "Hawaiian Pineapples;" and Paramount Sound News.

Gay Atmosphere Pervades Ramon Novarro Vehicle

Old World color, college life in Spain and the gay abandon of Madrid are combined in Ramon Novarro's new vehicle, "In Gay Madrid," opening at Loew's State Theater today.

Novarro, as the emptional young Spanish college student, whose many romances, escapades, affairs of honor and scrapes all climax at a crucial time, is said to have several opportunities to make capital use of his singing voice.

Dorothy Jordan, who played opposite Novarro in "Devil May Care," is again cast in the leading feminine role. Lottice Howell, former opera star, makes her debut in the picture, and Beryl Mercer, Eugenia Besserer, Claude King, William V. Mong and others appear. Robert Z. Leonard directed.

Baritone Sings New Number in Comedy-Drama

"Me and the River," a new song written especially for Pierre White by Neil Moret, composer of "Chloe," "Song of the Wanderer" and other popular compositions, is one of the highlights of the comedy-drama, "Under a Virginia Moon," which is playing at the Vine-street Theater.

White sings the number and reveals a strong and clear baritone voice, it is said. He has long been identified with roles in light opera and musical comedy.

Newcomer Scores in Film Debut

[Drawing by Bruce Russell]

Jean Harlow

Charms in a somewhat unsympathetic role in "Hell's Angels," Howard Hughes's air epic now enjoying a successful run at Grauman's Chinese Theater.

NEW DRAMA DUE MONDAY

"The Glory Declared," a new play by Ralph Culver Bennett, will have its first presentation on any stage at the Music Box Theater in Hollywood Monday evening.

The author has been impressed, it is said, by the fine work for humanity performed by the Salvation Army, particularly overseas during the World War. He has embodied this idea into "The Glory Declared" and a powerful drama is said to be the result.

Bennett is a graduate of Yale and has been a special lecturer in law at the University of California, the Johns Hopkins University, Oregon State University and the University of Texas.

In the cast of the play are Robert E. Griffen, Fritzie Bullard, Iva Shepard, Nanette Vallon, Philip Morris, Ray Largay, Robert McWade, Stuart McFarland and the author.

Radio Picture Stars Ben Lyon, Bebe Daniels

Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon appear on the screen together for the first time in Radio's romantic melodrama, "Alias French Gertie," starting at the R.-K.-O. Theater today.

As the fiancee of a handsome crook, the picture marks Miss Daniels's first dramatic role since the advent of the talkies.

Others in the cast include John Ince, Robert Emmett O'Connor, Betty Pierce, Nella Walker, Arthur Housman and Charles Giblin. George Archainbaud directed.

Film Requires Research Work

Two modern writers went back thirty years for atmosphere for "The Florodora Girl," which starts today at the Boulevard Theater. They were Gene Markey, who wrote the original story, and Ralph Spence, who contributed additional dialogue for the screen play. Harry Beaumont directed.

"White Cargo" to Start Local Run Tomorrow

"White Cargo," the talking-screen version of the well-known play, will have its first western showing at Miller's California Theater, starting tomorrow.

"White Cargo" is said to be a worthy replica of the stage success. The picture tells the story of white men in the tropics and the wiles of an African girl. Gypsy Rhouma as the barbaric siren; Maurice Evans as Langford and Leslie Faber as Weston, head the cast.

New Pantages Screens 'Texan'

In "The Texan," now playing at the new Pantages Hollywood Theater, Gary Cooper, as the Llano Kid, with $500 on his head, leaves Texas for South America as an impostor son to rob a wealthy widow. How he stays to woo her beautiful niece, in the person of Fay Wray, and his struggles to make good his regeneration provide a rousing climax, it is said.

BUSINESS MEN GIVE EXCELLENT CONCERT

Orchestra of Nonprofessionals Displays Ability Under Conductor Shepherd

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

The second concert by the Los Angeles Business Men's Orchestra given in the Le Conte Junior High School last night was an interesting demonstration of the effectiveness of organized pleasure in making music for its own sake. The program consisted of the best music: the Beethoven symphony No. 1, Grieg's Norwegian Dances, Massenet's overture to "Thedre" and "Finlandia" by Sibelius with an excellent accompaniment to Jascha Gegna's interpretation of the Max Bruch G minor concerto. Robert A. Shepherd, a familiar figure in the violin section of the Philharmonic Orchestra and the only professional musician in the organization, made an excellent conductor.

These business and professional men (eight of them are doctors,) rehearse once a week for their own enjoyment, their concerts are quite incidental and, therefore, all the more worth-while. Some of the eighty members are prominently identified with music, including Harry Baxter of the Baxter-Northrup Music Company, Earl Stone of Birkel's and Sinclair Lott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clifford Lott.

In the concert last evening the organization displayed evenness of tone, good intonation, precision and musical feeling. There is a commendable oneness in this orchestra, especially when the variation in training and development is considered. Mr. Shepherd is an enthusiastic and capable leader and his ability is apparent in the musicianly results obtained.

Jascha Gegna, well-known violinist, gave a dignified reading of the Max Bruch concerto and imbued it with deep feeling.

Director Offers Bits From Films at Ship Concert

Knowing that passengers crossing on trans-Atlantic liners are supposed to contribute something to the customary "ship's concert" if they are able to sing, dance or act, Clarence Brown, not having any of these arts as his forte, contributed a novelty to the program on the Bremen, on which the noted director recently sailed to Europe.

He took with him incidents from some of his recent pictures and at the affair, always given the last night before landing, presented them in the manner of "Little Moments from Big Plays" on the vessel's talking screen in the salon.

COURT DECIDES FOR DIRECTORS

Supreme Tribunal Upholds Bartlett Case Verdict

Trustees Lose Battle to Make Group Liable

Ruling Says Right Sought Penal in Character

Action of the trial court in finding for the directors of the Bartlett Music Company in a suit brought by trustees of the corporation under a section of the Civil Code making directors jointly and severally liable for the full amount of debts created in excess of the subscribed capital stock of the corporation is upheld in a decision just handed down by the State Supreme Court.

The trustees are named as Fred K. Peterson, A. Getty, W. C. Lannin, H. Jackson and C. W. Jack, with Jack and Lannin filling the places of C. H. Mayer and W. H. Munson, resigned from the original board of trustees. The directors are named as W. F. Ball, E. E. Searles, J. F. Faulkner and E. J. Salyer.

Ten counts were specified in the complaint. When the case was called in the trial court the defendants moved for judgment on pleadings. Judgment was entered for the defendants. The appeal was from this judgment.

It was found that although the trustees were assigned "all property of any kind and nature, including choses in action," they, nevertheless, could not take over the right of action to enforce the liability of the directors for creating debts beyond the subscribed capital stock because such liability is penal in character.

Quotation is made from a decision stating that one reason for precluding the assignability of mere personal rights, such as actions for slander, assault and battery and other pure torts, is that assignment of such claims encourages litigation and strife.

The trustees are described as such by assignment for the benefit of the creditors of the Bartlett music concern.

Maternity Cottage Association Annual Session Hears Reports and Sees New Flag Raised

When members of the Maternity Cottage Association gathered yesterday afternoon for the twenty-third annual meeting of the organization, a special feature was a flag-raising ceremony, at which a new fifty-foot pole on the front lawn of the cottage at 127 South Utah street, and a flag, both given by several members of the Los Angeles Gas Company, were dedicated.

Following a brief address by Judge R. Morgan Galbreth, member of the board, in which he explained the ideals for service which are the foundation and inspiration of the Maternity Cottage, two Boy Scouts unfurled the colors while a Scout bugler sounded the flag salute.

MANY BABIES BORN

Among the annual reports, the one submitted by the hospital superintendent, Mrs. Kate Duffield, most fully described the actual work of the institution during the past year. According to the figures there were 511 babies born, including seven sets of twins. Of this number, 259 were boys and 252 were girls. Although the hospital, which is a nonprofit organization, charges only a nominal fee for its services, the reports showed that fifty-five full charity cases were taken during the year and sixty part-paid cases, and 1586 examinations were made at the prenatal clinic, conducted one day each week.

Outstanding improvements were made within the past year with the installation of tiled walls and new plumbing in all of the work rooms, including the kitchen, delivery room and the like.

OFFICERS LISTED

Officers and directors for the ensuing year are: Mrs. William Baurhyte, president; Mrs. Beatrix Duane, first vice-president; Mrs. Randolph Carter, second vice-president; Mrs. C. C. Wright, recording secretary; Mrs. Harry Chandler, treasurer; Judge R. Morgan Galbreth, auditor; Mrs. O. P. Clark, Mrs. Ralph Trueblood, Mrs. J. D. Fredericks and R. G. Hillman. Dr. M. H. Ross is chief of the medical staff.

The Maternity Cottage was founded in 1907 for the care of wives of moderate means at the time of confinement. It has grown from an institution of one bed to a hospital with accommodations for twenty-eight patients, conforming in every way to the established standards of the American College of Surgeons and with complete equipment in all respects. It is not a member of the Community Chest and derives its support from subscriptions, donations, memberships and payments made by patients.

CLAIMS OF BRITISH TO BE PUSHED

Any Action Aimed Against Mexico Will be Taken Up by London Foreign Office

The British government is in process of presenting to the Mexican government claims of British subjects against Mexico arising out of events which took place before the renewal of diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Mexico August 28, 1925.

Any British subject possessing such a claim is requested forthwith to notify the Undersecretary of State for Foreign Affairs, Foreign Office, Downing street, London, S. W. 1, furnishing him at the same time with full particulars of his claim, unless these have already been communicated either to the Foreign Office or to the British Legation in Mexico City. British claimants resident in the United States, however, should communicate particulars of their claims to the legation at Mexico City.

Special attention is drawn to the fact that this announcement does not refer to claims arising from revolutionary acts (as defined in the Anglo-Mexican Special Claims Convention of November 19, 1926) which took place in Mexico during the period comprised between November 20, 1910, and May 31, 1920.

U.C.L.A. Greek Theater Project Gets Under Way With Class Gift of $500

A move for the erection of a Greek theater on the new University of California at Los Angeles campus was started yesterday when the graduating class turned over to the Regents of the institution $500 to be used as a nucleus for the building fund. The class made the donation when it was found impossible to hold the current commencement exercises outdoors on the university grounds.

The donation was made at the final class meeting of the seniors when officers for the next five years were elected. Those elected are Don B. Liffer, president; Louise Nichols, vice-president; Margaret Dawson, secretary, and Clement J. Maloney, treasurer.

Following the meeting the class members were guests of alumni at a luncheon on the campus. This morning at 9:30 o'clock the graduating class is scheduled for commencement rehearsal at Hollywood Bowl. At 9 tonight the Beverly Wilshire Hotel will be the scene of the senior ball.

The commencement exercises will be held tomorrow at 5 p.m. in the Hollywood Bowl.

Store Workers Pay Tribute to Arthur Letts

More than 2000 employees of the Broadway Department Store met Tuesday morning to honor the sixty-eighth birth date of Arthur Letts, the store's founder. Every year this tribute is paid to the memory of Mr. Letts.

S. F. MacFarlane, attorney and director of the Broadway and friend of Mr. Letts during his lifetime, made the address of the occasion, paying homage to the latter's achievements and stressing the fact that a business failure sustained by the merchant before he arrived in Los Angeles was doubtless the stepping-stone to his great success in after life.

Features of the day at the store were the wearing of white carnations by all employees, and a song service conducted by Prof. Kirchhofer of the songs Mr. Letts loved most.

City Center Suit Won by Burbank

An injunction to restrain the city of Burbank from occupying Civic Center land donated by a real-estate subdivider was denied by Superior Judge Hanby yesterday.

The plaintiff, the Southland Holding Company, contended that it had a right to occupy the Civic Center with its real-estate officers until all the lots in the subdivision were sold.

Judge Hanby held that the plaintiff's claims on the property terminated two years ago when a lease ran out.

KIDNAPERS MAY HOLD INVENTOR

Huntington Park Man Last Seen With Pair in Car

Fourteen-Hour Search by Police Proves Futile

Home Recently Entered and Model of Device Taken

Mystery surrounding the whereabouts of Herbert Grassfell, 45-year-old inventor of 6508 Rita avenue, Huntington Park, deepened last night when the authorities announced that their fourteen-hour search had proven futile.

HERBERT GRASSFELL

Grassfell accompanied two men from the Bank of Italy branch in Huntington Park yesterday morning to a machine parked at the curb. He got in and the car drove away.

Information that the inventor, who is said to have been working on a device intended to reduce the amount of gasoline used in motor cars, is being detained against his will and is probably a victim of kidnapers, was given to the police by his daughter, Mrs. Irene Hewitt.

The young woman said that she received a mysterious telephone call a short time after her father had started for the bank. She said that she was unable to identify the caller and that she sensed something wrong and notified Chief of Police Hultquist of Huntington Park.

Chief Hultquist reached the bank just a few minutes after Grassfell and the two men had departed. Grassfell spent a short time in the bank talking with acquaintances and when the trio drove away in a blue roadster there were no outward indications that the inventor was being taken against his will.

Members of the Grassfell family told police that they believe the strange actions of the father are connected with attempts that have been made to steal his new invention. The home was entered by burglars several weeks ago, they said, and only the small model of the gas device was stolen.

Federal Officials Asked to Help Quest in Burning of Great Joshua Tree

Mrs. A. Sherman Hoyt, president of the International Desert Conservation League, yesterday sent an appeal to the Federal government asking that assistance be given Los Angeles county officials in seeking the vandal or vandals who late Saturday burned the largest Joshua tree in Southern California. The tree stood nine miles east of Roosevelt in the Antelope Valley.

Some one fired the tree, which was eight feet high and nine feet around, just to get a "kick" out of seeing it burn, according to a report sent by forest rangers to Spence D. Turner, county forester and fire warden. Forest rangers were bending every effort yesterday to obtain a view to the identity of the person or persons responsible.

The tree was not only a landmark in Antelope Valley, but, through the efforts of the late R. F. McClelland, chairman of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, it had been made a Federal monument.

Should those who fired the Joshua tree be apprehended they can be prosecuted for starting a fire, also for destroying wild flowers. The maximum penalty in each case is $500 fine.

Director Mannix Accused by Wife of Slugging Her

Violence in the bathroom of the palatial Beverly Hills mansion of Edward J. Mannix, motion-picture director, is revealed in the divorce complaint of Mrs. Berenice Mannix of 516 Linden Drive, who asserts that her husband slugged her so hard a vertebra was fractured. He also called the plaintiff unpleasant names, she charges, and kicked her.

She demands $4000 a month alimony, which is said to be the total of her husband's earnings, and also half of $1,000,000 she says is community property.

The couple were married in New York City, November 17, 1917, and separated Tuesday. Attorneys W. I. Gilbert, Milton Golden and Arthur V. Kaufman filed the complaint.

Murder of Club Clerk Formally Laid to M'Cabe

Wilbur McCabe, alias Jerry O'Regan, yesterday was charged with the murder of Henry P. Miller, clerk at the University Club at 614 South Hope street, in a complaint issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Colgrove.

Miller was wounded fatally early Monday morning when McCabe entered the club lobby and demanded that he hand over the cash, according to investigators. Instead, Miller seized a pocket knife and slashed at the bandit's face.

The bandit fired three shots at Miller. Miller, before dying Tuesday, identified McCabe as his assailant.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18. Southern California Amateur Champion Registers 67 to Top California Invitation Qualifiers

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Fay Coleman of the California Country Club, Southern California amateur champion, yesterday won medal honors in the eighth annual California invitation tournament with a spectacular 35-32—67, five under par.

While under the record figure set some years ago, California officials can point with pride to an entry of 410, establishing a high mark for tournaments so far this year.

FAY COLEMAN

Harry Eichelberger, Jr., of Los Angeles, and W. L. "Bill" Jelliffe of Girard, who qualified on Tuesday, had second and third low medal scores with 70 and 71, respectively. Among yesterday's low scorers were Cloyd Marshall, Lester Coleman and Nick Schaefer, all of California, with 72. Phil Carter and Gibson Dunlap of Rancho had 73's, and Gene Brown of California registered a fine 74.

DOEG ENTERS BRITISH TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

WIMBLEDON (Eng.) June 18. (AP) America's youthful Davis Cup stars were included on the seeded lists announced today at the All-England Club for the forthcoming British tennis championships.

JOHN DOEG

John Doeg, Santa Monica, Cal., making his first campaign on European courts, was placed fourth behind Henri Cochet, Bill Tilden and Jean Borotra in singles, with George Lott of Chicago fifth.

Lott and Doeg were seeded first in doubles as the United States titleholders with the Davis Cup combination of John Van Ryn, last Orange, N. J., and Wilmer Allison, Austin, Tex., placed second.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, of course, topped the women's singles list, and in women's doubles she and Elizabeth Ryan, American resident of England, were placed first by virtue of their recent victory on the French hard-court championships.

RUMLER'S POKE SETTLES CLASH

Bill Raps Homer in Eighth to Break 4-to-4 Tie

Rhodes Turns in Seven-Hit Game Against Mission

Hill Bags Homer, Double and Single Off Pillette

BY BOB RAY

Two collegians and an old veteran who has been through the mill to learn the ways and wiles of the baseball world teamed up yesterday at Wrigley Field to give Oscar Vitt's Hollywood Stars a 6-to-4 victory over the Mission Reds.

BILL RUMLER

Jesse Hill, U.S.C., '30, and Gordon Rhodes, Utah, '28, were the two collegians, while the veteran was none other than William Randolph Rumler, whose wrecking willow provided the final punch that put the skids under the hopes of Red Killefer's hopefuls.

HILL HAS BIG DAY

Hill, who used to cut considerable capers on the track and field, gridiron and diamond for the Trojans, was just about the whole show for the Sheiks until Rumler got in his timely clout. Jesse rapped out a double, single and home run and scored three runs in his first three trips to the plate. He also cut off a couple of prospective Mission runs by snappy fielding in left field, so, all in all, it was quite an afternoon for the former Trojan star, who acted not at all like the green pea he's supposed to be.

Now maybe Hill acted as he did because a number of his former Trojan team-mates were out at the ball park looking Jess over. Then again the reason might have been because the Missions are owned by a gent named Fleishhacker, who happens to be the poppa of the meaty fullback and shot putter that has been spending so much time recently up around the Stanford campus. Mr. Hill, being a loyal Trojan, doesn't care much for anything directly or indirectly connected with Stanford.

The men selected were Stephen Anderson, University of Washington; Tom Warne, Northwestern University; George Bullwinkle, City College of New York; Reg Bowen, University of Pittsburgh, and Ed Hamm, Georgia Tech.

The team will sail Sunday on the Berengaria and is to compete in nine meets in Germany, Norway, Sweden and Finland.

The schedule follows:

July 2—Cologne, Germany; 4, Duesseldorf; 6, Duisburg; 9, Berlin; 12, Oslo, Norway; 16, Eskilstuna, Sweden; 21-22, Stockholm; 24, Helsingfors, Finland; 25, Abo, Finland.

Abo is the home town of Paavo Nurmi and the stop there was scheduled at the famous Finn's special request.

TRIO TAKES OPENING-DAY LEAD WITH SCORES OF 70

H. Smith, Diegel, Moe Score Well to Trail Leaders; Nine on Fifth Hole Puts Von Elm Out

BY FRANK H. KING

HOYLAKE (Eng.) June 18. (AP)—Shooting the Royal Liverpool links in 70 for the first round of the British open golf championship, Bobby Jones today hung up a target which remained unbeaten through the stress and storm, although Macdonald Smith and Henry Cotton drew level with the Georgian by scoring 70's on their own account. The young British pro and the veteran Scot, who has lived in the United States for twenty years, had fine chances to beat Jones and break the course record, which was equaled today by the leading trio.

On the trail of the leaders camped "Long Jim" Barnes, with 71, and Horton Smith followed with 72. Leo Diegel and young Don Moe were a bit farther back with scores of 74, along with Archie Compston, leaving all the double quartet of Americans among the leaders except George Von Elm, who scored 81, and P. C. Stevens, Jr., at 80. Von Elm had a nine at the fifth hole which ruined his chances and Stevens after a great start—going out in 35—fell back to 45 strokes for the second nine.

MAC SMITH

Soon after Jones finished a storm broke with rain flooding the course, lightning flashing and thunder rumbling, but the stress and strain of chasing the American was more calamitous than the storm.

Player after player rounded the turn in par or thereabouts and, with banners flying "excelsior," scaled the famous short "Alps" hole triumphantly, got their four at the twelfth, and three at the short "rushes," and with this encouraging start homeward visualized hauling down the Georgian's flag, only

BOBBY'S START IS PERFECT

Says Noted English Golf Critic; Jones Might Just as Well of Had a 66

BY BERNARD DARWIN
British Golf Expert

HOYLAKE (Eng.) June 18.—Bobby Jones made what I should characterize as a perfect start, judged from his point of view, in the contest for the British open championship, the first round of which was played here today.

BOBBY JONES

Bobby began with 70, and it might just as well have been 66; I believe it is much better for him not to lead by too many shots to start with, and that the round today was

ROBBINS TRIPS PLYMIRE IN COLLEGIATE TOURNEY

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—The ranks of the eight seeded players in the eastern intercollegiate tennis championship were reduced to five today, when Harold Plymire, Stanford, was defeated by Clifford Robbins, University of California, in the third round, 6-4, 6-2.

GOLFERS CLASH IN MATCH PLAY

Ten Flights Battle Today on Culver City Links

Sangster, Carter Feature First-Round Clashes

Consolation Round Planned for Losers Tomorrow

championship flight play as the the first flight.

Some brilliant matches are scheduled right off the bat with Carter scheduled to face Danny Sangster of Potrero today. F. M. "Cappy" Slade faces D. P. O'Keefe and the two Californians are expected to put up a whale of a battle. In another fine match, Dr. C. K. Manhart of Rancho tackles Jack Douglas of the same club.

Coleman's medal-winning round was featured by five birdies and an eagle 2 on the thirteenth hole. Fay holed out a mashie shot after a long drive to perform the feat.

Following is the card:

| Coleman | 344 | 233 | 544 | —32—67 |

There will be a consolation round of eighteen holes tomorrow for those defeated in first-round matches and nonqualifiers. Mixed foursomes are scheduled for Sunday.

It looks very much like the handicaps committees will have to get busy with fifty golfers having net scores of 70 and under. These will play off at a date to be named later for the low net trophy.

Following are yesterday's scores:

The SPORT LIGHT by Grantland Rice

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

The Pennant Races

IN SPITE of various upsets, jolts, injuries, etc., both Athletics and Cubs are facing fairly extended home stays in rather comfortable positions. Neither is having quite as simple a time of it as the two leaders had last year, when they won going away. But they are still the two main clubs to watch.

The Athletics have always looked safe enough—not sure winners, but the best bet. They have had and will have more trouble from the Senators, Indians, and Yankees, but they figure to win.

The Cubs will have even more trouble possibly from the Dodgers and Giants, but even with Carlson gone and Hornsby crippled they have held their place and place on the road. Blair has turned out to be a big help in Hornsby's place at second and English is starring at third. And the pitching staff still has Malone, Root, Blake, Bush and others.

The two 1929 champs are now home for a while, and they will bear more than casual watching.

The Scoring Attitude

Mental attitude plays a big part in Bobby Jones's game, just as it does in any game that is supposed to get anywhere, when he slides off it is usually through a lapse in concentration. After his 73 in the first qualifying round he let his highly developed type of concentration slip or drag and the result was a 77. In his first championship round at Hoylake he clicked in with a 70, tying the course record. That 70 was something more than the result of fine swinging. It was also the result of unbroken concentration and determination. One great trouble with the average golfer is that while he concentrates on his game it is usually on the wrong thing, the net result being an increased tension.

Golfers capable of a 68 or a 69 over any course, golfers of championship caliber, can drift up to an 80 or 81 through faulty concentration, mixed with mental worry and bother.

Carnera and Godfrey

If any one thinks there was an outburst of argument and burning debate over the Sharkey-Schmeling uprising it will likely turn into a mere whisper after the Carnera-Godfrey war ends in Philadelphia next Monday night, no matter what happens.

In the first place these two young "bantams" will crowd about 230 pounds of flesh and bone, especially bone, into one arena. In the second place, nearly everyone seems to feel that Godfrey will wind up, in one way or another, on the losing end, thereby making Carnera a new heavyweight sensation.

Along this line Messrs. Taylor and Guinness, the promoters, the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission and both fighters swear by everything any one can think of that whatever happens it will be on the level. Godfrey, the big black leopard of Leiperville, regarded by many as the best heavyweight in the world a year or two ago, denies with great indignation that he would train off twenty-five or thirty pounds and reduce his allowance of pork chops just to take a dive.

Whatever happens, this is the type of show that will draw in the clients who, apparently are not bothering about the situation one way or another. If there is no drama there will at least be comedy.

The great piece de resistance in this conflict would come in the shape of a double knockdown, if you can imagine Mt. Everest and the Alps crashing together.

BARRON TO FIGHT REISTER TONIGHT

The Legion arena at South Gate is expected to be the scene of a lively battle tonight when Dario Barron, hard-hitting Mexican lightweight, returns to the ring after a six-month lay-off to tackle Bobby Reister, the reigning sensation at the smaller clubs. Barron, who has always been rated a stiff puncher, is meeting another boy who carries dynamite in his right hand. Managers of both fighters are predicting that their charges will win via the knockout route.

Matchmaker "Doc" Moffett has lined up a strong supporting card of five bouts. The semifinal brings together Harry Goodland and Warren Jewet, slugging middleweights, in another tiff that figures to end within the limit.

STAR ANGLERS FIND FISH PLENTIFUL

George T. Snell and C. B. Weller of Hollywood, visiting the Star of Scotland out of the Lick pier at Ocean Park, report halibut and barracuda very plentiful after a visit to the big ship yesterday. A variety of bottom fish, including good-sized bass with an abundance of mackerel kept the anglers busy during the day and offer splendid prospects for over the week-end. Night fishing from the big Star under a flood of incandescent lights proves equally as interesting as that of daylight fishing.

RAIN AGAIN HALTS BOUT

CLEVELAND, June 18. (AP) — The scheduled twelve round bout between Tommy Freeman of Cleveland and Sergt. Sammy Baker of New York was called off today when rain made a third postponement necessary.

CHAMACO BEATS JACOBS

Joe Chamaco, who is meeting all comers at Stevens Billiard parlors, defeated Ben Jacobs in a three-cushion match yesterday, 35 to 21. The city champion meets Sam Meyers today.

COCHRAN TO BOSS MIAMI

JOPLIN (Mo.) June 18. (AP)—George Cochran, former manager of the Joplin Western Association club, has been appointed playing manager of the Miami team of the Arizona State League.

KOJAC TO SWIM HERE

New York Star Will Compete in Prenational Meet at Los Angeles Athletic Club

George Kojac, Olympic backstroke swimming champion and also one of America's four greatest free-style paddlers, yesterday sent word through his coach, Joe Ruddy of the New York A. C., that he will compete in the prenational swimfest at the L.A.A.C. tank June 27.

Kojac leaves New York this morning with the powerful New York Athletic Club team favorites to win the national outdoor men's championships at Long Beach July 3-6. Accompanying him are Al Zorilla, Olympic 400-meter champion; Ray Ruddy, intercollegiate 440-yard record holder; Leonard Spence, breaststroke star, and Dutch Fisher, sprint star.

GEORGE KOJAC

Zorilla and Ruddy will also appear in the L.A.A.C. meet, meeting Buster Crabbe in a 500-yard race.

Helene Madison, who on Tuesday shattered another world's record, that for 300 meters, leaves Seattle tomorrow for Los Angeles and will compete at the L.A.A.C. the 27th inst., against Josephine McKim, local water queen. The New York Women's Swimming Association team, favorites to retain the championship at Long Beach, leaves New York tomorrow. Eleanor Holm, Agnes Geraghty, Adelaide Lambert and other champions of this team compete at the L.A.A.C.

The entire New York women's team, as well as Helene Madison, Josephine McKim and Georgia Coleman, will feature a carnival at Lake Arrowhead the 29th inst.

The Southern Pacific A.A.U. will clear the way for the coming of the eastern champions tonight with the staging of the final events of the local championships at the Pacific Coast Club, Long Beach. The three-foot diving for men and men's 300-yard medley swim are on the program.

Sunday local natators go to San Diego to compete in the eleventh annual Silver Gate race.

Stein Falls by Wayside

VANCOUVER GOLF CLUB, VANCOUVER (B. C.) June 18. (AP)—A million-dollar start turned into a 10-cent finish today and Bon Stein of Seattle, former western amateur champion, stepped out of the picture in the second round of the Pacific Northwest amateur golf tournament, leaving the defending title-holder, a former champion, and a half-dozen uncertain youngsters to battle for the 1930 crown.

After equaling the course record with an amazing 66 and eliminating his old pal and jinx, Leo Stell, 11 and 10, yesterday, Stein came back today to play one of his most miserable games and fall before the Vancouver youngster, Monty Hill, 4 and 3.

Frank Dolp of Portland, defending champion, battled tooth and nail with Al Harrington of Yakima this morning, but finally shook the Eastern Washington youth this afternoon to win, 7 and 6.

Paulino Faces Risko Tonight

DETROIT, June 18. (AP)—More evenly matched than any other two fighters of prominence in the heavyweight division, Paulino Uscudun and Johnny Risko will clash tomorrow night at Navin Field in their second encounter of record.

Risko was awarded the decision in the first meeting. Risko will have probably a two-pound advantage in weight. Their unofficial weights were announced today as Risko 194, Uscudun 192.

Corbett Signs for Thompson

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18. (AP)—Larry White, local representative for Young Corbett III, Fresno contender for the welterweight title, announced tonight he had signed the contract with promoters for the nontitle bout between Corbett and Champion Young Jack Thompson at Ewing Field July 4.

A misunderstanding regarding motion-picture rights for the bout had delayed White's action.

PEREGRINA LOSES TO KAYO KASSABABIAN

Kayo Kassababian took a ten-round decision over the strong Mexican fighter, Joe Peregrina, last night in the ten-round main event at the Wilmington Bowl. Kenneth La Salle stopped Frankie Boldt in the fifth round of the semi-windup. Jackie Stewart outpointed Benado Chavez in the special event. Al McClure beat Jimmy Alvares. Frankie Abendino and Melvin Bobo went four rounds to a draw in the curtain-raiser.

MARINO BEATS HOPPE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18. (AP)—Al Marino, rugged young southpaw, outfought Freddie Hoppe, veteran middleweight, to win a decision by a wide margin tonight in their six-round bout at National Hall. Marino won every round and only Hoppe's experience saved him from a knockout.

CRABBE, CLAPP MEET TONIGHT

College Rivals Hook Up in Long Beach Swimfest

More than usual significance is attached to the 300-yard medley swimming battle between Buster Crabbe of L.A.A.C. and Austin Clapp of Hollywood A. C. in the Pacific Coast Club tank at Long Beach tonight. Although the boys compete for the Southern Pacific Association title, beginning at 8:15, the race should bring out a large gallery of Stanford and U.S.C. rooters.

BUSTER CRABBE

Crabbe, who holds the world record of 3:42 3-5 for the medley swim, attends U.S.C. Clapp, another Olympic Games star of 1928, is a student at Stanford. The race is expected to furnish plenty of excitement since both boys swim backstroke and breastroke almost equally well. Crabbe, however, holds a slight edge in the free style, which Clapp will undoubtedly try to make up for in other strokes.

Prominent Olympic star divers will vie for the 1930 S.F.A. low-board championship on the same program with the swimming stars. Assuring fans that Coach Dick Rutherford of Pacific Coast Club will dish up a diving feast for the most fickle palate, Harold (Dutch) Smith, Mickey Riley and Johnny Riley, national champions developed by Fred Cady at L.A.A.C., have entered the three-foot titular.

Other fine divers are apt to make competition tough and cause a few surprises. Frank Kurtz, Hollywood A.C. junior national champion; McDonald, Hadley, Shuler and McAlister of Pacific Coast Club; Owen Thomas of Pasadena A.C.C., and Campbell of the Deauville Beach Club will all attempt to dethrone Cady's crowned champions.

Two nonchampionship swimming races will include a 100-yard breaststroke and 220-yard special handicap. The high-school boy marvel, Duke Callaghan, will be pitted against Charles Best, Stuart Deats, George Merriam and James Tuthill of Hollywood A. C. in the 220. While the century breaststroke finds Lloyd Varney, Bill Mullins and Tom Drummond of Hollywood A. C. Dick Gunter of L.A.A.C. and Len Johnson of Pasadena A.C.C. entered.

Swimmers appearing tonight include the leading men entries in the national championships next month at Recreation Park, Long Beach.

Solons Bow to Seattle

SACRAMENTO, June 18. (AP)—Holding the Senators to seven base hits, Wilbur Hubbell, giant right-hander of the Seattle Indians, avenged the shutout hurled against his mates the previous night by Ray Keating, by defeating the Solons tonight.

The score was 8 to 2, and evened the series for the Indians.

The game was won in the first inning when the Indians drove Tom Flynn out of the box before he could retire the side and scored three runs.

Gould was touched for a run in the sixth and seventh innings and made way for Hamilton, Solon rookie, who yielded two runs.

The score:

HUMPHRIES, RAMOS BATTLE TO DRAW

Red Humphries and Luis Ramos battled to an eight-round draw last night in the main event of the Ocean Park Stadium. Bobby Murray made short work of Pete Young in the semi-wind-up, winning by a knockout in the first round. Jimmy Peterson took the nod over Frankie Lammarre in the special event. Bobby Gray and Al Hamilton slugged to a draw. Bobby Yarbo outpointed Ray Salisbury in the opener.

WYKOFF SHOWN ON SCREEN

Frank Wykoff's new world's record of 9 2-5 seconds for the 100-yard dash in the N.C.A.A. track-and-field meet at Chicago was filmed by Pathe Sound News and is currently being shown at the R.-K.-O. Theater.

Club on Line With Ground in Golf Drive

BY SOL METZGER

From close observation of Miss Helen Hicks, one of America's leading women golfers, one thing is certain. It is that her clubhead passes through the ball on a line almost, if not exactly, parallel to the ground when she drives.

Note the sketch of her as her driver is entering the speed area of the swing. Her hips have glided forward, her body is braced by her straight left leg and her clubhead is quite low, almost on a line directly back from the ball.

In tomorrow's article let us view her after her clubhead has swept the ball from the tee in order to better judge whether one can swing the clubhead straight through the ball and on the direction line.

"The Explosion Shot" is Metzger's new, free, illustrated leaflet. Write for it in care of The Times and be sure to inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

JONES OFF TO GREAT START

just the right sort to give him confidence. That, I think, he lacked a little. Indeed, he told a great friend of his, who told me, that he never started a tournament with less confidence than he has this one, and that he does not know where on earth the ball is going after he hits it.

Well, I must take his word for it, but if it were so today then he was the only man on the course who did not know. All the rest of us knew precisely where his ball was going—namely, straight down the fairway. The only real question was whether or not it was going into the hole with his first putt, and as a rule it did not. He putted well, but the ball would not quite drop as he wanted it to drop. If it had, heaven alone knows what score he might have had.

Admittedly, Bobby did not look happy to begin with when his putts hung on the lip. His face wore the expression which said, "the gods of golf do not mean me to hole them." Gradually, however, he came to look and feel more cheerful, and I fancy he finished feeling reasonably happy.

Bobby's first hole was not auspicious. Just as he was going to drive, some idiot clicked his camera at him, and Bobby had to walk around like a caged lion and start again. The result was a quashed drive into a sandy ditch and a hard won 5. At the second hole, his putt was in and out and this was only one of several illustrations of the fact that, in Bobby's own words, he never putted better and seldom with less effect. Another 5 came at the third, when Bobby's splendid spoon shot, just too strong, landed his ball in the rough grass.

But this sort of thing could not be allowed to go on, and Bobby saw to it that it did not. He began to reel off one par hole after another with never a bit of luck to help him and most of his short putts being knocked in backhanded.

Bobby was out in 36, which is good, if not overpowering, and then, at last, he holed a beautiful putt six yards downhill for a 3 at the tenth. At the twelfth he played a thoroughly crooked approach shot, but he soon came back to his old victorious strids again. All those long last five holes he played superbly. One of them cost him 5, when his putt was unlucky, but he did hole one real good long one for a 3 at the seventeenth hole.

He made the round in 70, and it was a glorious example of how Bobby can appear not to be doing himself justice yet can make a better score than anyone else.

So much for Bobby, and now for some less cheering news. Poor George Von Elm had a major tragedy and, great though he is, I fancy one must almost write hi moff. He took 81, and I cannot see him give a start of eleven strokes to Jones.

Von Elm began with a 4 and two 5's. He then played the finest iron shot I have yet seen at Hoylake and got a 2 at the fourth. This was perfectly satisfactory and then, at a hole of no obvious terrors, he took a ghastly devastating 9. His second shot was hooked into a bunker close to the green. He lay badly, but still I have a notion that Walter Hagen would have done no worse than 6.

But Von Elm failed to get out; failed a second time and then succeeded all too well by getting out far over the green into the rough grass. There again he remained for some time. The final result was that horrid 9. A minor disaster, ending in 6 at the ninth hole, put the coping stone on his misfortunes.

Leo Diegel was not far behind Bobby, though his score, 74, was rather sketchily obtained. Leo did not seem to be able to settle down in his wooden club play and was continually changing his driver and brassy without really liking either of them. Horton Smith had a good, steady, reassuring start with 72.

PILOTS BATTLE FOR 1930 TITLE

Three-Cornered Fight Rages Among Ascot Drivers

A three-cornered battle for the 1930 dirt track auto racing championship of the Southwest, which is raging among Walt May, Francis Quinn and Jimmy Sharp, will be resumed next Sunday afternoon, when the three pilots face Fred Wagner's starting flag in a six-event program of racing at the local Legion Ascot Speedway.

FRANCIS QUINN

Officials of the American Automobile Association released the standing of the pilots yesterday and revealed the fact that Quinn, winner of last Sunday's feature at the local course, is heading the competition with 278 points to his credit with Walt May running second with a total of 234 and Jimmy Sharp in third place with 220 digits.

Sharp, who started winning dirt track classics in California immediately upon acquiring the Garnant special, one of the fastest creations of its type in the country, is being favored in some quarters to annex the title this year.

However, later in the season, an invasion of this section by some of the speed kings now campaigning in the East is expected, meaning that the battle for the title promises to be a spirited one. "Shorty" Cantlon, who placed second at Indianapolis, and Mel Kenealy, Billy Arnold, and a number of other front-rank speed merchants are anticipating a campaign in this territory later in the year, it is reported.

|---|---|
| Francis Quinn | 278.42 |
| Walt May | 234.11 |
| Jimmy Sharp | 220.31 |
| Bobby Hillshield | 214.31 |
| Swede Smith | 194.00 |
| Ernie Triplett | 187.50 |
| Shorty Cantlon | 87.50 |
| Charley Gehlhausen | 80.00 |
| Jack Ryder | 80.00 |
| Carl Ryder | 80.00 |

Favorites Win in Tennis Play

WILMINGTON (Del.) June 18. (AP)—Play in the men's division of the Delaware State turf tennis championship reached the quarter-final round today with all the favorites surviving.

Fritz Mercur, Bethlehem, Pa., seeded first, eliminated Emanuel Kardon, University of Pennsylvania, 6-2, 6-4, in the fourth round. Bruce Barnes, University of Texas, defeated E. M. Cook, Jr., Philadelphia, 6-3, 6-4, and then conquered Bert Hammell, Swarthmore, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

The other quarter-finalists are Scott Rexinger, University of Chicago; Eddie Jacobs, University of Pittsburgh; Dolf Muehleisen, University of California; J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J.; R. W. Ryan, Yale, and Frank Shields, New York.

Rexinger defeated Sherman Lockwood, University of Oregon, 6-3, 6-2; Muehleisen beat Edward McKnight, Lafayette, 6-3, 6-3; Ryan beat Stanley Almquist, University of Oregon, 3-6, 6-2, 8-6.

In the quarter-final round of doubles Muehleisen and Robert Muench, California, defeated Keith Warner, Los Angeles, and Richard Lusch, Pasadena, 6-4, 6-4.

DIX KNOCKS OUT STEWART

Mermaids Off for Swim at Border City

William (Doc) Beazley, coach of the Lake Norco swimming forces, left last night for San Diego with five crack mermaids who will participate in the Silver Gate swim Sunday afternoon. The girls who will represent Norco are Norene Forbes, Edna Hayson, Babe Walton, Louise Waugh and Phyllis Bell. Miss Forbes won the swim two years in succession and Miss Hayson was the first junior to finish last year. Miss Forbes will have to swim in the event unattached as her transfer to Norco has not gone through yet. The others will all wear the Norco ensign.

LAMAR FAVORED IN LEGION TILT

Johnny Figured to Win Over Palacios Tomorrow

Johnny Lamar is a favorite to beat Teddy Palacios at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium tomorrow night. The Mexican lightweight is in fine shape and is enjoying his best year. He plans an eastern tour if things don't show any improvement around Los Angeles. Lamar can't get opponents and Jack Russell has decided that his fighter should go east.

Tommy McGough has too much on the ball for Sergio Dadam, Filipino bantamweight. McGough is a promising bantamweight. Billy Wagner, light-heavyweight, should win from Russell Rowsey in the six-round special. Wagner is a rough, tough socker. Bob Patrick, brother of Tom Patrick, is favorite over Joe Soldivar. Jack Shoemaker is favored to win over Veenie Brown in the curtain-raiser.

GUS HIEB TO MEET INDIAN AT CULVER

Gus Hieb and Chief White-Horse, heavyweights, will meet in the six-round main event at the Culver City stadium tonight.

Joe Hernandes vs. Mel Cowey, 126 pounds, are scheduled to go four rounds in the semifinal and Al de Chaine vs. Johnny Martinez, 138 pounds, will box the four-round special event.

In the three preliminaries Herb Russell takes on Sal Ortega; Frank Abindino clashes with Melvin Bobo, scheduled as the "comedy relief" of the show, and in the curtain raiser Buck Jones and Jim Williams will stage a heavyweight slugfest.

DOUBLE MAIN EVENT ON MAIN-STREET BILL

The double main event in which Ramon Montoya boxes Kid Abelino and Pete Pacheco tackles Bill McMullen at Main street Saturday night may produce a successor to Sandy Casanova as the most popular Mexican favorite at Carlo Curtis's club. Casanova is taking a long lay-off. Montoya is the San Diego Mexican who has a big following here. Pacheco is a Denver welter. The two Mexicans will be favored to win Saturday night and the one who stands out will be signed for a series of Main-street main events.

WHEN IT COUNTS

BOBBY JONES didn't set the world afire in the two qualifying rounds for the British open. These rounds meant nothing except to limit the field. They do not count in the 72-hole test which started yesterday with the first lap of eighteen holes.

But when the real firing got under way Mr. Bobby Jones was right out in front with a sparkling 70. He was twentieth on the list when the qualifying rounds were in, but this morning he's tied for the lead.

This is the gold seal of a real champion. It marks the difference between Bobby Jones and the rest of the golfers the world over.

This one or that one may win various tournaments, but it's never much of a gamble that the peerless Bobby won't be one-two in any classic he enters.

He always seems to have something in reserve for the exigency that may arise. Even after a week of strenuous golf in the British amateur, he played his best brand on the final round, and that's never expected. But Bobby was under par as long as his match with Roger Wethered lasted. He never cracked one iota.

I'm wondering what one of the British companies which laid 10 to 1 against Bobby's winning the British open thinks of its quoted odds now. And will they have to pay heavily for the slip?

FOUR FUTURE STARS

IT WILL be tough on Stanford to lose Krenz and Rothert and their sure points in shot and discus next year, but Stanford is facing the situation bravely and counting on stars in other quarters.

For example, Stanford will have Eastman, quarter miler; another Babies, sprinter and quarter miler; Allan Storms, former Hollywood half miler and miler, and Frank Lombardi, sprinter, eligible for track duty.

Eastman is a better 440 man than Morrison, who graduates this year, and with the two Hables and Shove from this year's varsity, Stanford supporters expect a new world's record in the mile relay.

Lombardi is the former L. A. High School sprinter, who two years ago was giving Frank Wykoff all he wanted in the 100 and 220.

He is making up deficient work at Palo Alto this summer and will be eligible next spring.

Hec Dyer, this year's ace, has another season of competition, and with Hables and Lombardi available the Cardinals can count the sprints well taken care of.

PITCHERS LAG

YOU have to hang it on Mission pitching for the fifth-place position of Red Killefer's boys in the Coast League standings.

The Missionites have four men in the first ten batters, and still are in the second division.

Rosenberg is second with .404.

Hafft is fifth with .381.

Monroe is eighth with .362.

JUST A FAIR SUB

NIGHT baseball is not so hot after all, in the opinion of the St. Paul club president.

He's right.

Night baseball won't wreck day baseball any more than night football wrecks day football.

There are extenuating reasons for both night baseball and night football, and neither will ever be an adequate substitute for the day brand.

SHEIKS THUMP MISSION REDS

Jesse Hill Shines as Stars Capture 6-to-4 Tilt

ning, the seventh, in which the Reds bunched a trio of safeties for two runs that tied the score.

Ike Boone, the league's leading hitter, again went hitless, which makes it a big seven for, oh, as far as the present series is concerned. Ike came close to a hit in the third when he slashed a torrid drive to left center, but Hill galloped over in front of the ball and leaped up to turn what looked like a sure double into just a can of corn, as the baseball boys call an out.

HILL SCORES EARLY

Hill put the Sheiks off in front in the first inning when he doubled over Hufft's head and came home on successive infield outs by Lee and Brannan.

The Reds tied it temporarily in the third when Mulligan singled, took second when one of Rhodes's fast ones jumped off Johnny Bassler's Adams apple and counted on Monroe's single to right. Monroe got as far as third on Rosenberg's infield out and Hufft's long sacrifice fly to Carlyle, but Hill then came up with his great catch of Boone's liner to end the round.

Hollywood came back with two in its half of the third to again forge to the front. With one away, Hill singled. Lee went out to Rosenberg. On a hit-and-run play, Brannan doubled to right center and Hill, running like nobody's business, scored before Brannan had got halfway to second. Heath slashed a single off Burns's glove to bring Brannan over the plate.

An error by Brannan gave Pillette a life in the fifth, but he was forced by Mulligan. After Monroe went out, Mulligan stole second and scored on Rosenberg's pop fly that Brannan lost in the sun and allowed to fall for a cheap double.

Hill lined one of Pillette's curves over the left-field wall in the home half of the fifth to give the Sheiks a two-run margin.

Mulligan beat out a bunt, Rosenberg singled and Hufft tripled off the center-field wall in the seventh to give the Reds two tallies and knot the count.

Heath opened the Hollywood eighth with a smash off Pillette's hoofs that went for a single. Carlyle forced Mickey but Rumler came through with his homer and the Stars were in front to stay. Score:

THREE TIE IN BRITISH OPEN

Mac Smith, Jones, Cotton Shoot 70's at Hoylake

to stumble and fall on the five punishing finishing holes which are long and tightly trapped and with rough like hayfields awaiting errant shots.

COTTON FAILS

First came Cotton with 17 strokes left for the last five holes to score 69 but he failed, finally coming to the home hole needing a par four and taking five. The storm had cleared, but the strain was still there to take its toll of shots from the youngster.

Then came Mac Smith, whose sensational 33 for the first nine scored through an almost blinding rain was one of the great feats of the day. Smith came to the fourteenth hole without a five on his card, but took three in succession and had to hole a long putt for a birdie three at the home hole to get his 70.

Barnes finished with a brave gesture of two birdie threes but still found himself a stroke behind the leaders. Horton Smith played great golf after a poor start. He took a five at the first hole, par four at second and then six at the third, but he was out in 37, nevertheless, and came home in 35 to stand all even with par.

Gabriel Gonzales of Madrid, with his set of local rules in Spanish and an interpreter, came home with his championship hopes blighted by an 84. This however, was as good as Cyril Tolley's score and better than George Duncan could boast. Duncan's card showed two glittering eights.

Von Elm's chances were practically ruined by his nine at the fifth. He took three shots in a bunker, two in tall grass, and a couple of putts for this substantial aggregate.

Don Moe showed the way for the Americans early in the day and his 74 was a good score for Hoylakes.

Jones with his marching gallery was a mid-day attraction. The American star played well and was rolling his putts to the brink of the cup, only to see most of them remain out. Only two long ones dropped. It was a typical Jones round which might have been 67 instead of 70. Bobby thought himself unlucky until soon after he finished the skies opened and flooded the course, resulting in the lower half of the field going out to a certain drenching.

Bobby is among the leaders, but he is not out in front as he was at St. Andrews three years ago when his first round, 68, gave him an advantage of five strokes.

The starting times will be reversed tomorrow with Archie Compston the first of the favorites to go out. The Americans will follow, Macdonald Smith and Barnes playing in the morning and Stevens, Horton Smith, Diegel, Jones, Von Elm and Moe in the afternoon.

After tomorrow's round the field will be reduced by the forced retirement of all players fifteen or more strokes behind the leader.

The leaders:

DOEG ENTERS BRITISH PLAY

shows Cochet at the head of the top half. Doeg, who meets Wigel Sharpe of England in the first round, is in the same section along with Austin and two Japanese, Ohta and Miki.

Tilden is at the top of the lower half and is bracketed with A. A. Fysee, a former representative of India in Davis Cup play.

Van Ryn, in the same half, meets W. A. H. Duff, in the first round. Lott plays H. L. Ezni and Borotra is drawn against F. Crosbie.

Mrs. Moody is given a bye with several others, in the top half of the women's singles, and Miss Jacobs and Fraulein Aussem get byes in the lower section.

Miss Helen Jacobs was seeded third in singles.

The complete lists of seeded players.

Men's singles—1, Henri Cochet, France; 2, William Tilden, United States; 3, Jean Borotra, France; 4, John Doeg, United States; 5, George Lott, United States; 6, Henry Austin, England; 7, Baron Humbert Demorpurso, Italy; 8, E. F. Moon, Australia.

Women's singles—1, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, United States; 2, Mrs. Phoebe Watson, England; 3, Miss Helen Jacobs, United States; 4, Senorita Ella De Alvarez, Spain; 5, Madame Mathieu, France; 6, Fraulein Cecilie Aussem, Germany; 7, Miss Phyllis Mudford, England; 8, Miss Elizabeth Ryan, United States.

Men's doubles—George Lott and John Doeg, United States; 2, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, United States; 3, Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, France; 4, J. G. Collins and J. C. Gregory, Britain.

Women's doubles—1, Mrs. Moody and Miss Ryan, United States; 2, Mrs. L. A. Godfrey and Mrs. Watson, England; 3, Miss Ermyntrude Harvey and Miss Joan Fry, England; 4, Miss Edith Cross and Miss Sarah Palfrey, United States.

Mixed doubles—1, Tilden, United States, and Fraulein Aussem, Germany; 2, Jack Crawford, Australia, and Miss Ryan, United States; 3, Cochet, France, and Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall, England; 4, Senorita, France, and Senorita De Alvarez, Spain.

ROBBINS WINS OVER PLYMIRE

Jones, Columbia, Clifford Sutter, Tulane, Leonard Dworkin, California, and Maurice Bayou, Tulane, of the original eight still in the running.

With the exception of Dworkin, the seeded players won in straight sets. Bayou winning two matches. Dworkin was forced to three sets by Hibson McCable of Princeton, the score being 2-6, 6-1, 6-1.

Elbert Lewis, California, defeated Casper Nannes, Rutgers, 6-0, 6-2, in a third-round match. Lewis previously beat Max Sandman, Long Island University, 6-1, 6-1.

Theodore Easton, Stanford, defeated Sidney Berger, N. Y. U., 6-3, 6-2, in a second-round match.

MOORE STARTS STRONG

Johnny Moore started off the week with a bang, clicking off four safe hits in five trips to the plate. Moore boosted his season batting average 10 points to .371. He hit his fifteenth home run.

Card Trio of Cripples in Line-up Soon

ST. LOUIS, June 18. (AP)—Prospects today were for the early return to active competition of the three principal cripples of the St. Louis Cardinals. Frankie Frisch, whose right ankle was lacerated by a Philadelphia player's spikes, should be ready to return to the line-up during the series with the Phillies, which opens here tomorrow, Dr. Robert F. Hyland, club physician, has announced. Chick Hafey, recovering from eye strain, will be ready to play in a few days, while Ernie Orsatti is expected to be back in right field within ten days. With the recovery of the cripples, Cardinal fans are hopeful for much better things than the disastrous eastern trip just ended. The acquisition of Burleigh Grimes also has revived the fans' hopes.

OLYMPIC READY TO SIGN BOUTS

Lamar to Meet Hess; Miller to Fight Dundee

Two important matches were ready to be signed by the Olympic yesterday which will fill club dates through July 15 with the exception of the 8th of next month.

Johnny Lamar and Goldie Hess are expected to go to the post July 1, and Benny Miller meets Joe Dundee, ex-welterweight champion of the world, on the 15th.

A matter of a pound was holding up both matches. Hess wants Lamar to make 134 pounds and Miller is asking Dundee to permit him to scale up to 133 pounds. Matchmaker Wad Wadhams figures both shots are as good as signed.

This leaves the planned Ace Hudkins-Bert Colima match for the first July fight out of the picture. Hudkins is turning a deaf ear to all negotiations until he clears his status with the income-tax collectors.

Hess is just back from Chicago and is anxious to fight Lamar or any other lightweight. The Ocean Park boy has never been the kind to handpick his opposition. That is one thing that has helped him to be a big card.

Chato Laredo, holder of the flyweight championship of Mexico, looks the part in his gymnasium workouts. He stole the play away from all the boys at the Main-street gymnasium yesterday.

The Mexican clashes with the flashy Speedy Dado next Tuesday night at the Doyle Club. Dado is the claimant of the flyweight title of the Orient and also the Pacific Coast crown.

Matchmaker Wadhams announced yesterday he had booked Jimmy Hanna and Bud Doyle for the six-round semi-wind-up to the flyweight battle. The other preliminaries are: Sammy Offerman vs. Rito Punay, Sammy Aguirre vs. Manuel Davilo and Leo Domingo vs. Frankie Manna.

BEAR OARSMEN RESUME DRILLS

its first time trial within a coupie of days.

Coach Russ Nagler continued his experiments with the California freshman boat, Lackey No. 4, and Aichibald, stroke, switching seats today.

Pennsylvania's varsity covered the Hudson River course in 20m. 20s. this afternoon. It is only warm-up time for the four-mile stretch.

Washington's and Wisconsin's crews will have first workouts tomorrow. They will be quartered together on the west shore and will share the same boathouse. Race followers will watch Washington closely because of its course record time at Madison, Wis., yesterday.

HUSKIES AMONG CREW FAVORITES

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—The Husky oarsmen of the University of Washington, undefeated in varsity, junior varsity and freshman classes, will have the only undefeated crews on the river for the intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie the 28th inst.

As a result, the Huskies are among the favorites in each event and are conceded a chance to perform the unprecedented feat of sweeping the Hudson in three eight-oared races.

Cornell's great crews, coached by Charles E. Courtney, swept the river in 1902, 1903, 1909, 1910 and 1912, but the junior varsity race at that time was a four-oared event.

LEGION PLANS OUTDOOR SHOW

with New York connections and believes he can swing the proposed bout to Los Angeles.

Heretofore, the Hollywood Legion post has not interested itself in outdoor promotion, being content with its steady income from the Friday night bills of fare.

But with the local fight game needing some kind of a tonic, the Legionnaires are said to favor a big heavyweight bout as a stimulant.

TOWNSEND-THOMPSON BOUT SOUGHT BY OLYMPIC

Jack Thompson, the new welterweight king, ma, be matched with Billy Townsend of Seattle at the Olympic the latter part of July.

Matchmaker Hayden Wadhams of the Olympic and Ray Alvis, manager of Thompson, conferred yesterday on terms, and the match may be sealed in a day or two.

This is a fight that will give Thompson real competition.

Townsend is the boy who twice stopped Armando Santiago, the Cuban, the first bout being one of the most sensational ever staged anywhere.

Both fighters were out at the end of the sixth round. Townsend barely answered the bell for the seventh, but Santiago was unable to come out of his corner. He had fainted dead away.

Townsend was a lightweight when he waged the Santiago fights, but has been growi x rapidly, and has approached welterweight proportions.

Thompson stays here until next Monday, when he loaves for San Francisco to prepare for the July 4 bout with Young Corbett, an overweight match for which the champion receives a flat guarantee of $20,000.

Thompson stopped Joe Cardona in two rounds and thirty-five seconds at the Olympic Tuesday night.

ROMANS TO PLAY HOLLYWOOD NINE

Coach Herb White's Los Angeles High School baseball team, which won the city championship from Lincoln High at Wrigley Field last Monday, will journey to Hollywood tomorrow, to wind up the 1930 season with the Sheik outfit.

The outcome of the game will not affect the present league standings, as the Hollywood squad has dropped two of her games, one to Poly, and the other to Lincoln.

The line-up follows:

L. A. High: Almada, pitcher; Greer, catcher; Wooley, first base; Cheshire, second base; Pitch, third base; Ferraris, shortstop; Bates, left field; Crawford, center field; Miles, right field.

Ducks Rally to Beat Oaks

OAKLAND, June 18. (AP)—Blanked for five innings, Portland finished with a rush today to yank a 7-5 victory out of the fire from Oakland's Oaks. The visitors slipped over one tally in the sixth, four more in the seventh and clinched the contest with two in the last frame. Oakland went into the lead with a three-run rally in the third. Score:

SPORTS SKETCH BY FEG MURRAY

shown the ability that Sharkey had shown in various matches. The first three rounds proved this to be true. Max didn't belong in the same ring with Sharkey. He looked like a novice, with the Boston gob at his best until the unfortunate foul.

Then there is the little matter of the "J" initial. Jack should have been the one to win, according to the unwritten law that all heavyweight champions must have the mystic letter "J" for at least one of their initials. Only Bob Fitzsimmons and Tommy Burns, the two "foreign" holders of the title, lacked a "J." (Let me say here that Fitz was a naturalized citizen when he beat Corbett at Carson City; Burns was a Canadian.) John L. Sullivan, James J. Corbett, James J. Jeffries, Jack Johnson, Jess Willard, Jack Dempsey and James Joseph Tunney all had the championship initial, three of them possessing it three times. So Jack Sharkey was the logical name to be inscribed on the Muldoon-Tunney Trophy.

But the gob hit the Teuton below the belt, and so Max takes pen in hand . . .

Uplifters to Play Sunday

Lionel Pedley will lead his Uplifters' four against the Freebooters, captained by Hal Roach, Sunday afternoon at the Beverly Park field. While it is true that the personnel of both teams is garnered from the ranks of the Uplifters, it does not necessarily follow that there is any lack of rivalry on the part of the players. As a matter of fact, this intense, friendly rivalry is one of the marked features of most polo matches and the same is true of a great many other amateur sports as well, where sportsmanship is paramount.

Both the Freebooters and the Uplifters are presenting somewhat changed line-ups for next Sunday. For the Freebooters, Will Rogers, Jr., will ride at No. 1; Hal Roach at No. 2, Howland Paddock at 3, and Carl Beal, back. The Uplifters will be represented by Lyell Puckett at No. 1, Lionel Pedley 2, Clair Brunson 3 and Scott Hackley, back, forming in aggressive, well balanced team and one that many think can avenge their defeat of last Sunday.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Silently Jane rolled over in the direction of the tree. The lion paid no attention to her. During what seemed hours to her tense nerves she repeated these tactics, and still the lion fed on in apparent unconcern that his second prey was escaping him. Already the girl was quite near the tree; a little more and she would be near enough to chance springing to her feet, throw caution aside and make a bold dash for safety. Suddenly the lion turned his great head and fastened his eyes upon her.

For a long time neither the girl nor the lion moved. The strain upon her nerves was becoming unbearable. Now Numa deliberately turned back to the business of feeding; but his back-layed ears attested a sinister regard for the actions of the girl behind him. Jane resolved to risk all in one last attempt to reach the lower tree branches. Gathering herself stealthily for the effort, she leaped suddenly to her feet, but almost simultaneously the lion sprang up, wheeled and with wide distended jaws and terrific roars charged upon her.

Though the upward spring of the lion as he neared the tree into which Jane was scrambling brought his talons in contact with her slippers, she eluded his raking grasp, and as he hurled himself against the tree trunk, the girl drew herself into the safety of the branches above his grasp. For some time the beast paced back and forth. Above him Jane lay trembling, a prey to the nervous reaction from the frightful ordeal. At dusk the lion quitted the clearing. Then came a pack of hyenas to make night hideous over the ape's remnants.

The girl did not dare descend to the ground among the fearsome dangers that infested the broad stretch of jungle that she knew must lie between herself and the nearest village of her faithful Waziri. She composed herself as best she could for the long wait until daylight. Tired nature at last overcame even her fears and she dropped into a deep slumber cradled in a safe but uncomfortable position. The sun was high when she awoke. Beneath her was no sign of Numa or the hyenas. Both hunger and thirst assailed her now.

MORE CANDIDATES SIGNIFY ENTRIES IN PRIMARY RACE

Registrar of Voters Kerr last night reported that nominating petitions for the August primary election were filed with him yesterday by the following persons:

Vierling Kersey, 4535 T street, Sacramento, for Superintendent of Public Instruction; Raymond I. Turney, 923 South Park View street, for office No. 2, Superior Court; Nicholas C. Bleecker, 2617 Via Campesina, Palos Verdes Estates, for justice of the peace of Lomita township; J. Walter Hanby, 812 North Normandie avenue, for office No. 9, Superior Court; Harry F. Sewell, 627 Terrace Place, Whittier, Republican, for member of Assembly, Sixty-ninth District; Clifford H. Thompson, 1021 North San Jose avenue, Burbank, for justice of the peace of Burbank township; Milton K. Young, 611 South Kenmore avenue, Democrat, for Governor, and Robert Bruce Hopkins, 1010 East Maple street, Glendale, for County Assessor.

State Dry Party Picks Angeleno as Candidate

Dr. M. Len Hutchins of Los Angeles, national lecturer for the Women's Christian Temperance Union, yesterday was named by the Prohibition State Committee as candidate of the Prohibition party for Secretary of State. At the same time the committee placed Sylvanus H. Kellogg in the field for the nomination for State Treasurer. These are the only two offices for which the committee will name candidates.

Nominating petitions in behalf of both are to be placed in circulation immediately, it is announced. The name of Dr. Hutchins also will appear on the Republican ticket.

Dr. Hutchins is widely known in local, State and national dry circles, particularly for her W.C.T.U. activities. She has been a resident of California for forty years and of Los Angeles for twenty-four years.

Kellogg, the running-mate of Dr. Hutchins on the Prohibition ticket, is a retired business man.

Officer Uses Gun on Suspect After Attack

Although handcuffed together, two asserted "radio bandits" felled Detective Lieutenant Ransom near Hollywood Boulevard on Sycamore street last night, and sought to escape.

Ransom had arrested the two, Fowler Mayfield, 25 years of age, of 356 East Fifty-first street, and John W. Stevens, 27, same address, on suspicion of attempting to steal a radio from a parked automobile. After attacking the officer they fled.

Ransom fired at the fleeing pair, wounding Stevens in the hand. This stopped them, and they were locked up at the Hollywood station after Stevens had received treatment at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

Prize Gold Goes to U.C.L.A.

Mrs. Mae Shumway Endeely, retiring president of the Matinee Musical Club, today will present to the University of California at Los Angeles a bag of gold totaling $150, with which to found an annual prize for the best essay on the appreciation of music. Dr. Ernest C. Moore, director of the university, will accept the gift in behalf of the institution.

The presentation will take place after the club luncheon at the Beverly-Wilshire Hotel. It is to be preceded by formal donation of the award to Mrs. Enderly in recognition by the other club members of her work during the past year. Dr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Moore will be honor guests.

Woman Killed Crossing Road

Mrs. Porfina Covanubias, 42 years of age of 1440 Tremont street, was killed last night as she attempted to cross Alhambra Road near Soto street and was struck by an automobile driven by Frank Mason of 1622 Wilcox street.

Mason was absolved of responsibility and released from custody when investigation by Detective Lieutenants Witt and Vashbill disclosed he was not to blame.

DIPLOMAS GIVEN TO CLASS TODAY

Bishop Cantwell will confer graduating honors on Immaculate Heart College graduates this evening. Twenty-one, including both sisters and lay students, will receive bachelor of arts degrees, and one, Mrs. Genevieve Moore, bachelor of music degree.

The academic procession will leave the Federated Alumni Hall at 8 p.m. and proceed by the St. Anne's Campus Drive to the entrance of the Administration Building, and thence to the auditorium. Miss Lillian Mahoney and Miss Mary Mahar will graduate with the highest scholastic honors, while Miss Mary Smith will be the recipient of the Bishop Cantwell medal for Philosophy of Religion.

Land Inspector to Investigate Malibu Tangle

Investigation of the moves of claimants to beach land on the Malibu ranch will be started here today with the arrival of Inspector Waddell, from the United States Land Office at San Francisco.

Waddell, according to advices from San Francisco, is coming here at the appeal of entrymen who, attempted to seize lots along the beach of the Rindge estate averring that it is government domain and subject to filing. They charge that they have been barred without legal hearing.

Claims of the would-be landholders under homesteaders' rights are disputed by the owners of the estate, as well as by Register Smith of the local land office.

OKLAHOMA TO PICNIC

The Oklahoma State Society will have a picnic-rally Sunday at Bixby Park, Long Beach. A program is to be followed by election of officers.

HOBO TUNES FEATURE ROUND-UP AT MISSION

Plaintive melodies of the tramps' jungles were the feature last night of the Midnight Mission's annual Hobos' Round-up. T. H. W. "Brother Tom" Liddecoat, leader of the mission, called a number of the wanderers to the platform for talks. The Hobos' Round-up is a yearly event at the mission and, according to Mr. Liddecoat, many of the guests arrange their itineraries so they will be in Los Angeles in time to appear at the function.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS DISCUSSED

Dr. Parrish Urges Parents to Observe Certain Rules and Prevent Epidemic

Declaring that the public should be informed as to the exact status of infantile paralysis in the city in order that the disease may be properly combated by the proper authorities, and to prevent the usual flood of misinformation from being broadcast, Dr. George Parrish yesterday issued a statement on the situation. He stated flatly that there is no epidemic and that, with public co-operation, there will be none.

He reports that there now are forty-nine cases in Los Angeles, of which twenty-nine have been reported so far this month. He said there is no occasion for alarm, but that it is necessary that the public should co-operate with the health department to prevent spread of the disease. He suggests the following measures:

"Parents should keep their children from running around the streets and keep them away from groups. It is as safe as can be to let them attend school. Three hundred doctors and nurses are constantly checking the children in the schools and the minute a child is discovered with any sickness whatsoever, it is sent home and kept under observation.

"Yesterday about fifteen of the leading specialists in diseases of children met in the city health department and discussed the subject thoroughly. All agreed that it is better to prevent an epidemic than to abate it after it is under way.

"Any child who is ill in any manner should be suspected of having infantile paralysis until definitely shown that it has not. When it is remembered that only one case out of every four or five is actually paralyzed, it can readily be seen just what the danger is. The four or five who walk around are the menaces and may be the means of transmitting the disease. It is, therefore, the duty of parents to keep their children home when sick and to keep their well children under observation and away from crowds."

Small Girl's "Kidnaping" Just Hookey

While Barbara Niles, 5 years of age, of 3008 Westview street, was playing happily at the home of a girl friend, every available member of the University Station police force, her frantic parents and their friends, were searching for her yesterday in fear she had been kidnaped.

As Barbara lives in the Glen Airy district, where May and Nina Martin, sisters, were kidnaped and slain six years ago, the search was anxiously pressed.

At 4:30 p.m., eight hours after Barbara had started for school and promptly forgotten to go there, she strolled back home, and into the arms of her weeping mother.

"I've been playing with Marian Kulser, at her home," she explained. Marian, 4, is Barbara's chum, and lives at 2830 South Orange Drive.

Another "kidnaping case," which had a better basis for alarm than Barbara's, was reported yesterday to Deputy Sheriffs Atkins and Keenan.

Jennie Ruth Verreau, 10, of 1821 West One Hundred and Fifth street was on the way to Woodcrest school at One Hundred and Ninth street and Normandie avenue, when a man attempted to force her into his automobile.

Search is being made for the man.

Del Rey Group Finances Fight on Oil Leasing

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, June 18. — A fund to finance a fight against any attempt on the part of the Los Angeles Playground Commission to lease for oil-drilling purposes, on a thirty-five-year term, a strip of land covered by the ocean off the south beach here was subscribed to the extent of $2000 last night, when 200 members of the Del Rey Beach Improvement Association met in the auditorium of the Dickinsin & Gillespie Building, Del Rey. More money will be pledged within a few days, members of the group predicted.

Charles S. Feeney, president of the Association, appointed a finance committee with Cliff Horn as chairman to handle the fund. Tomorrow a committee will attend the meeting of the Playground Commission in Los Angeles.

Wave in Hair Causes Suit

Miss Lois M. Day's permanent wave was entirely too permanent, she asserts in a damage suit on file yesterday, and as a result she wants $10,000 from Miss Vera Steuben, proprietor of a beauty shop. Miss Day's hair was burned on one side and she had to purchase a "transformation" to make her hair look right, she says.

In addition, the plaintiff suffered a nervous shock, she charges. Attorney William Crop filed the complaint.

King-Neely & Co. Receiver Named

Superior Judge Doran yesterday appointed George A. Morrell receiver of King-Neely & Co., corporation, at 1680 Vine street, on affidavit of W. R. Schneider and a petition to the court signed by twenty-one of the thirty employees of the corporation.

The affidavit of Schneider states that L. Milton King, president of the corporation, has disappeared, leaving an overdraft of $1900, and that the affairs are in a state of chaos, from which they can be rescued only by the appointment of a receiver.

BYRD RETURN ON AIR TODAY

New York Harbor Arrival to be Heard by Millions

KHJ and KECA Will Carry Program to Southland

Wide Variety in Offrings of Broadcasters Here

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Radio has become the new gold medal of achievement, a standard by which man may be judged. The old so-called limelight or spotlight sinks into obscurity by comparison with the tribute to be accorded Rear-Admiral Byrd this morning on his return to New York City.

The invisible channels of the air which kept this daring explorer in daily contact with his country during his stay in the Antarctic today will serve another purpose. They will be a means of tribute by the millions—the tribute of forsaking other endeavors and activities to listenin on the reception to be accorded him at the eastern port.

Both KHJ and KECA will bring the Byrd arrival and reception this morning, as noted in the radio dial.

DIAL HIGHLIGHTS TODAY

KHJ at 6 a.m. will present the reception accorded Rear-Admiral Byrd on his return to New York City from his Antarctic expedition. Ted Husing, Columbia's ace of announcers, will handle the microphone. A gala event is planned and it should be interesting. Again at 9:45 this morning a luncheon to Commander Byrd by the New York Advertising Club will be featured. For the music lover, at 7 p.m., there will be a Forest Lawn concert program with soloists, orchestra and string quartets presenting an hour of pleasing classic and semiclassic numbers. Included will be the works of Herbert, Chaminade, Friml, Romberg and Lincke. At 8 p.m. the Merrymakers promise to present Harry James, English monologist; Bobby Burns from the Fox studio, Sammy Carr and his banjo, and Jeannie Lang in her song hits from the "King of Jazz." At 9 tonight Elvia Allman, Robert Cheatham, Claire Von Nostrand and the concert orchestra will try to hold the dial. Another poem written expressly for this half-hour by Edgar Guest will be read by Lindsay MacHarrie.

RUSSIAN PROGRAM

KFI at 6 p.m., with the Radio Victor Hour, is to feature an all-Russian program by the Shilkret Orchestra with Yascha Zayde, famous violinist, as soloist. Tonight at 7:45 the Standard Symphony Hour is to have for its theme The Music of the Dance, opening with the "Dance of the Hours" and closing with Strauss's "Tales from the Vienna Woods."

KECA takes the air waves at 3 o'clock this morning with the approach and arrival of Rear-Admiral Byrd in New York Harbor. At 8:45 a.m. there will be an all-Spanish N.B.C. program from New York. At 10 a.m. the luncheon to Byrd will be broadcast. At 2:45 p.m. another resume of the British open golf tournament at Hoylake will come from London. At 9 tonight N.B.C. from San Francisco is to convey the convention of the National Electric Light Association, including compositions by the San Francisco Concert Orchestra.

BREAKFAST CLUB FROLIC

KNX at 8:15 this morning will offer the Breakfast Club Frolic in an all-Argentina morning. Molina's Argentine Orchestra and guitar trio and Cora Montes, talking-film singing star, promise a peppy Latin pro- "Show Girl in Hollywood," will present Theodore Kittay, tenor, and Eugene Egloff, 'cellist, in a repertoire of familiar tenor arias and songs. Miss Egloff will play the first movement of the Lalo concerto and Faure's "Sicilienne." At 7 p.m. a new series of programs entitled "Paramount Previews" will feature motion-picture talent, including the Ramblers Male Quartet, Fay Wray and Jean Palette. At 9:45 tonight a "thumbnail drama with music" is promised with Gertrude Ritz as guest artist.

KFWB at 8 p.m. will bring Carmelita, guest soprano, with Saldana's Castillians in thirty minutes of Spanish music and song. At 8:30 p.m. Mervyn LeRoy, director of "Show Girl in Hollywood" will present a program including the Boswell Sisters and the KFWB Concert Orchestra.

KMTR at 8:30 tonight is to feature Will Rogers's "So This Is London" premiere at the Carthay Circle Theater. For those liking opera music, artists of the Hollywood Opera company will present a program at 4 this afternoon.

INJUNCTION REFUSED IN STOCK ROW

Court Rules Law Applies to Shares Held by Brokers and Fleming Loses Plea

Laws giving the State Corporation Commissioner power to regulate the sale of stock, applies to stock owned by a broker as well as to that he sells for other persons, Superior Judge Hanby decided yesterday in denying an injunction to E. K. Fleming, a broker whose sales of stock in the Golden Ace Mining Company were stopped b Corporation Commissioner Athearn.

Counsel from the Attorney-General's office attacked the petition on the grounds that public policy demands protection for stock purchasers, no matter what technical subterfuges might be employed to evade regulation y the commissioner's office.

Attorney John S. Cooper, for the plaintiff, argued that the stock was the personal property of Fleming and that it was worth just as much to him as it was to the public, so no matter of public policy was involved.

Commissioner Athearn's order withheld Golden Ace mining stock from the market until the commissioner had ade further investigation of the value of the mine in which the stock participated.

DEAD CYCLE RIDER'S ESTATE WORTH $30,000

Frank Jacobs, champion motorcycle racer, killed in Madero last Sunday, left property worth $30,000, according to a petition for letters of administration filed by the widow in Superior Judge Stephens's court yesterday. Jacobs left no will. He leaves three children.

MISSOURI BEAUTY ARRIVES FOR STAY

Miss Pauline Strothers

Having won by 723,055 votes the coveted distinction of being the most popular girl in Kansas City, Mo., Miss Pauline Strothers arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to enjoy a week of sightseeing and entertainment in Hollywood.

Paramount and Max Factor make-up studios sponsored the popularity contest and their representatives were on hand to greet Miss Strothers. So were representatives of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, President Lang of the Missouri State Society and motion-picture stars.

She will be entertained daily during her vacation week.

NIX REPLIES IN ROW WITH DRUGGISTS

City Prosecutor Denies Responsibility for Methods Used in Recent Arrests

City Prosecutor Nix, in a letter to Frank Morton, secretary and vice-president of the Southern California Retail Druggists' Association, yesterday disavowed responsibility for the methods adopted by the police last week in arresting druggists accused of selling magazines of asserted indecent character.

Nix stated he particularly requested the druggists be not fingerprinted, and that they be given opportunity to submit themselves to "technical arrest" without "unnecessary humiliation," but that he was told by Chief of Police Steckel "no exception could be made."

The City Prosecutor's letter was in answer to a strong protest voiced by a delegation of druggists Tuesday against the "ruthless and unwarranted" manner in which the pharmacists were taken into custody, "unnecessarily thrown into jail" and "subjected to the humiliation of being fingerprinted."

"I was aware that a policy had been adopted by the police department requiring that all persons arrested on any charge of violating the State Criminal Code be fingerprinted and photographed," wrote Nix, "but I knew this was merely a policy and is not required by law."

Previously Chief of Police Steckel had told the complaining druggists responsibility lay with Nix, and that the police had to proceed on the warrants or face a charge of contempt of court.

CHAMBER'S DIRECTORS SELECTED

Junior Organization Picks Edward A. Shattuck and Karl Davis for Places

Two new members were elected to fill vacancies on the board of directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting yesterday in the Chamber of Commerce Building. Edward S. Shattuck, assistant-secretary of the State Bar Association, Los Angeles office, and Karl Davis, attorney in the offices of Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan, were selected.

The vacancies were made by the departure of Waldo Edmunds and Paul Whittier. Another appointment is that of M. E. McCreery, who will head the aviation committee.

President LeRoy Owen was selected as chairman of the 1931 Los Angeles open golf tournament. The dates for the tournament have been set as January 9-10-11. One of the features will be the importing of a foreign golfer as the guest of the junior chamber.

Harry Epstein's Hearing Put Off

Preliminary hearing of grand theft charges against Harry Epstein, 24 years of age, former president of the now defunct Beverly Hills Investment and Loan Corporation, yesterday was continued until July 28. The continuance was granted by Municipal Judge Ballard following agreement between the defense and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Coleman when it was revealed that certain documents necessary in the case are in bankruptcy court.

Epstein was arrested early this month by Deputy Sheriffs Seth and Fitzgerald, following charges that he failed to buy trust deeds with approximately $16,000 he obtained from two investors.

REALTY AGENT BEATEN BY TRIO

Mistaken Identity Suspected in Hijacking Case

Attack Laid to Bootleggers Who Had Lost Liquor

Car Driven by Assailants Owned by Woman

Exhibiting a discolored eye and bruised jaw, A. R. Taggart, a real estate agent of 1016 1-2 West Washington street, yesterday gave police the details of an attack three bootleggers made on him late Tuesday night in the mistaken belief he was a hi-jacker.

For several days, Taggart said, the men had followed him in a sedan. As he drew up before his home about midnight Tuesday, they leaped from their machine and with drawn guns demanded to know where he had hidden their liquor, threatening to take him "for a ride" unless he revealed its whereabouts. When he pleaded ignorance of the liquor, they felled and pummeled him, leaving him semiconscious on the sidewalk.

Investigating the attack, Detective Lieutenant O'Connor learned that Taggart recently sold a house at 855 Holt street to John Valey, now serving six months in the County Jail on a liquor-sale conviction. Taggart has visited the place occasionally to water the lawn. The detective's theory is that the bootleggers, therefore, are members of Valey's ring and suspected Taggart of removing a liquor cache from the premises.

The car driven by Taggart's assailants, according to police, is registered to Dorothy Oats, 1200 South Longwood avenue, but she was not at home when officers called there to question her.

CRUMP AGAIN HEADS LAW AID CLINIC

Group With Quarters at U.S.C. Has Handled 1019 Cases Since Organizing

Judge Crump, past president of the Los Angeles Bar Association, was re-elected president of the Southern California Legal Aid Clinic Association by the organization Tuesday, according to John S. Bradway, director of the clinic and secretary of the National Association of Legal Aid Societies.

Other members elected include: Harry J. Bauer and William Lacy, first and second vice-presidents; Mrs. Dora Shaw Heffner, recording secretary; Mrs. Charles H. Turner, treasurer; Mrs. C. Raymond Bradford, chairman of the finance and membership committee, and William G. Hale, new dean of the University of Southern California school of law, Roy V. Reffy, Kimpton Ellis and John W. Barnes, members of the board.

The legal-aid clinic first opened in September, 1929, in the law school building of the University of Southern California with Mr. Bradway as director.

Since its inception 1019 cases have been handled. Several part-time attorneys and ninety-five upperclass Trojan law students comprise the staff.

NEW FARM ADVISER TO BE CHOSEN

Ranches Gain in Number; Appointment Has Become Necessary, Say Officials

Another assistant to M. B. Rounds, farm adviser of Los Angeles county, making a total of six on his staff, will be added, according to an announcement yesterday of Earl Maharg, executive secretary of the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau. The appointment will be made on July 1.

The additional adviser was requested by Secretary Maharg and approved by the United States Department of Agriculture and the farm extension department of the University of California.

The request was made by Maharg in anticipation of the new census report on the number of ranches in Los Angeles county. Under the old figures Los Angeles county ranches numbered 12,042. It is expected that the new census figures will show more than 15,000 ranches.

The selection will be made by B. H. Cocheran, director of the agricultural extension service of the University of California at Berkeley.

CITY HAILED FOR LURE TO LIBRARIANS

Everett R. Perry Declares Los Angeles Fast Becomes Library Mecca

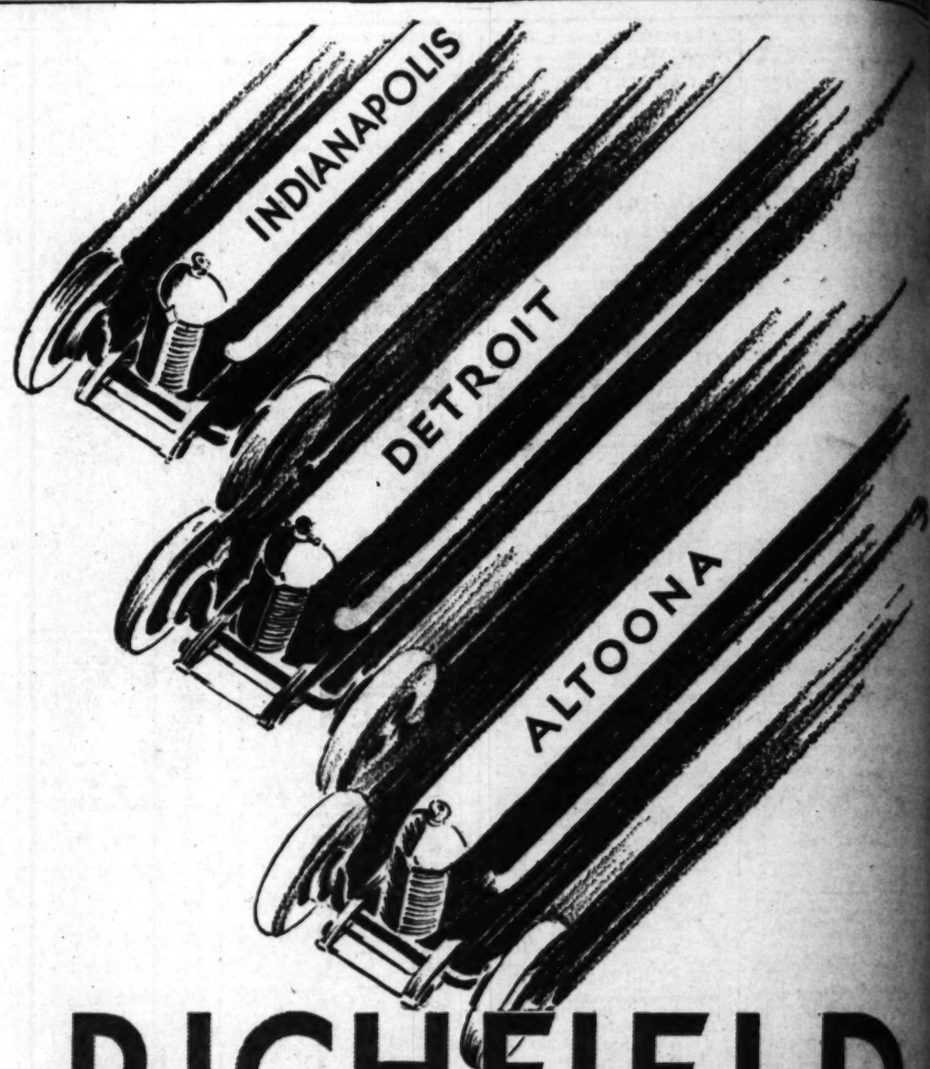
"Los Angeles is rapidly becoming one of the literary centers of the world, "Everett R. Perry, city librarian for Los Angeles, and vice-president of the American Library Association, declared yesterday. "The fact that this city was chosen by the American Library Association for its fifty-second annual convention starting next Monday and continuing through Saturday, and that the western division of the Booksellers Association held its convention here, indicates the position that this city has attained as a book market, and a book distributor."

Los Angeles will give the 2000 convention delegates an opportunity to study many types of libraries.

The delegates, representing business, college, industrial and special libraries, as well as the public systems, will attend four general sessions, and forty group meetings.



RICHFIELD WINS AGAIN — 3 MAJOR RACES OF THE YEAR

THREE smashing Richfield victories in a row—the 500-mile Indianapolis Classic on May 30th! The 100-mile Championship Dirt Track Race at Detroit on June 9th! The 200-mile Flag Day Race at Altoona on June 14th!

At Indianapolis—Billy Arnold was 1st; "Shorty" Cantlon, 2nd; Louis Schneider, 3rd; Louis Meyer, 4th; Bill Cummings, 5th. And Richfield Gasoline was in all five cars—the 8th annual Richfield triumph in the World's Greatest Racing Classic!

At Detroit—Wilbur Shaw was the winner with Russell Snowberger, 2nd and Bill Cummings, 3rd. Again Richfield Gasoline was in all the winning cars!

At Altoona—Billy Arnold was 1st; Deacon Litz, 2nd; Frank Farmer, 3rd. And for the 3rd consecutive time—in 3 major races of the year—Richfield was in every winning car!

These daring drivers—with life and limb, fame and fortune at stake—pin their faith to Richfield! They know from experience that it will not fail them—that it will deliver the extra power and speed necessary in emergencies—that it will do its part to carry them over the grueling stretch to victory.

Richfield has won more speedway victories and world's records than all other gasolines combined.

Richfield—in your own car—will give you added power and speed when you need it—and extra mileage. Why not take the choice of the champions—Richfield! You can get it at any station with the blue and gold shield.

RICHLUBE MOTOR OIL, too, played an important part in these great racing events—winning 1st and 3rd places at Indianapolis and 1st and 2nd places at Altoona.
